Israeli-Held Town Bombed by Egyptians

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Egyptian bomber dropped about 12 bombs on the oasis town of El Arish Friday night in Egypt's deepest thrust into the Israeli-occupied Sinai desert since the 1967 war.

Israeli authorities expressed belief the raider was a Soviet-built IL28 medium bomber which has not appeared before in Middle East hostilities.

The bombs—500 and 1,000 pounders—cut a swath through the town. The only casualties reported were a woman and a 17-year-old boy, both Arabs who were wounded. Four houses were damaged, two badly.

Israeli military installations escaped damage, but one bomb landed outside the Israeli military government building, bouncing away before it exploded.

The plane came in at about 300 feet in bright moonlight and made a single pass at El Arish, residents said.

The raider flew low, apparently to avoid Israeli radar then swung back toward the sea and the Egyptian coast about 90 miles to the east.

At the start of the 1967 Middle East war, Egypt was estimated to have 40 IL28s.

In ground action an Israeli army patrol killed 10 Arab commandos early today in a clash south of the Dead Sea on Jordan's border, the military command said.

A spokesman said the commandos were hit just east of Sodom and their vehicle destroyed along with a 120mm mortar and an ammunition dump.

Two Israeli soldiers were wounded later in the day when their vehicle hit a mine farther south in the Negev desert.

The Egyptian attack followed stiff Israeli jabs at the Egyptian military, including the capture of a "spy island" at the entrance of the Suez Gulf and another air attack on army installations on the outskirts of Cairo.

Israeli troops captured Shadwan Island Thursday after its defenders put up a stiff resistance. The Israelis claimed killing 70 Egyptians and taking another 62 prisoners in the initial attack, mopping up operations and the sinking of two torpedo boats in the vicinity.

The Israelis withdrew from the island Friday after holding it for 32 hours. They took out Egyptian hardware and a British-built radar station—the second radar system to fall into their hands in less than a month.

Cairo claimed the Israelis failed to remain on the island "due to stiff resistance on the land and massive air strikes." But Israeli officers said they "didn't come to stay." They said they had fulfilled their mission and were under no pressure to leave.

An American correspondent who was on Shadwan said the Israelis completely knocked out the Egyptian garrison and that "all the Egyptians on the island were either captured or killed." He also said the Israelis were under no pressure to leave.

U.S., Soviets Tentatively In Step on Treaty Timing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Soviet Union have agreed tentatively on early next month as the time for their final step in joining the treaty to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials said diplomatic efforts also are underway to secure similar action by enough other countries to bring the treaty into force at the same time.

The treaty's terms provide that it goes into effect when joined by 40 countries in addition to the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The final step in joining such an international accord is a legal procedure called deposit of the instrument of ratification. The deposit of this piece of paper officially commits a country to the treaty.

So far Britain and 25 non-nuclear states have deposited their instruments of ratification of the nonproliferation treaty. That leaves 15 to go, plus the United States and Russia, to bring the pact into force.

The treaty has been billed as one of the major arms control measures of the nuclear age. Under it, nuclear powers pledge not to supply atomic weapons to non-nuclear nations and the have-not countries agree not to acquire such arms.

The treaty was signed originally by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Unon and 53 other countries July 1,1968. Since then it has met with a series of delays.

Three Injured

Three highway accidents injured Melvin Brown, 19, Hayti, Raymond Mays, 50, Risco, and Leroy Dees 18, Campbell.

Brown, driver of a 1960 Oldsmobile, was injured in a one- car accident Friday 11 p.m. on highway 84, two miles east of Hayti.

He was treated at Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti, for cuts and bruises.

Brown told officers he attempted to pass another car, lost control, went off the road and struck a concrete embankment.

At 4:30 p.m. Friday on highway 153 in Parma, Raymond Mays, 50, Risco, drive of a 1967 Ford truck, suffered a neck injury.

A 1967 Ford, drive by Mac Rinehart, 27, Poplar Bluff, pulled into the path of the truck driven by Mays, the state patrol said.

Mays was treated by a Malden physician.

Today at 12:15 a.m. on route D, two miles north of Campbell, Leroy Dees, Campbell, driver of a 1969 Chevrolet, was hurt.

The patrol said he was speeding when he lost control, went off the road and struck a dirt embankment.

He was treated at Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett for ear cuts and face bruises.

Final Tax Petition Totals Force Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The final count of income tax referendum signatures showed Friday the necessary signatures were collected in seven of the 10 congressional districts.

James C. Kirkpatrick, Secy. of State said the petition drive failed in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd districts. But the count in the other seven was sufficient to force a referendum election on the tax hike.

Under the constitution a referendum petition campaign must produce the names of at least five per cent of the number of voters in the last gubernatorial election in at least seven of the 10 congressional districts.

Plans now are to hold the election April 7, to coincide with many school and municipal elections. That will provide an early result on the question of whether the income tax rates should be raised as Gov. Warren E. Hearnes says is necessary—or rejected as state Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, says should be done.

Blackwell, deposed last Tuesday as Senate president pro tem, started the referendum drive last fall just after Hearnes got a special session of the legislature to pass the tax boost.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth issued an opinion Friday officially declaring the legislature has authority to set the special session April 7 instead of waiting for the November general election.

A Senate committee has scheduled a hearing for Monday to consider a resolution that would put the election in April.

Kirkpatrick issued an announcement earlier, when his checkers had found enough signatures in seven districts to require the referendum election. But the counters still had many petitions to go through. The count was slow because some petitions had signatures of voters from as many as six congressional districts on a single page.

Petition results by district; required and final count:

1st 6,322, 2,830; 2nd 10,919, 9,828; 3rd 7,354, 7,206; 4th 9,064, 14,855; 5th 6,932, 9,551; 6th 9,527, 12,349; 7th 9,855, 27,060; 8th 10,296, 18,755; 9th 10,477, 17,285; 10th 7,485, 9,567.

Kirkpatrick said there were no petitions carrying only signatures from the 1st district but 2,830 of them were found scattered through other petitions.

Wife Fights Garnishment For Ex-Wife

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Boehlow of Florissant, Mo., filed a suit in St. Louis County Circuit Court Friday challenging a Missouri law under which a judge garnisheed her husband's salary for four months to pay a lawyer's fee incurred by his former wife.

Mrs. Boehlow, who gave birth to her fourth child this month, said the "first family first' law deprived her of her statutory right to support and equal protection under the law.

Her husband, Robert, a driver education teacher in University City, said he married his first wife in 1952 and was divorced the following year. He said he was ordered to pay $50 a week child support for a child of that marriage.

Boehlow said in 1961 the support payments were reduced by agreement from $50 to $10 a week. In 1968, the first Mrs. Mrs. Boehlow went to court asking for an upward adjustment, which was granted.

In addition to raising the payments to $45 weekly, the court attached Boehlow's $670-a-month salary for four months to pay a $1,910 attorney's fee, Boehlow said.

Boehlow's salary checks were taken from Oct. 15 through Jan. 15, he said.

Mrs. Boehlow said she feels her children have a right to support from their father. She said she felt she had more claim to her husband's support than the wife of the former marriage.

"When you make a good marriage and live together 13 years, you should have a little bit of priority over someone who was around about a year," Mrs. Boehlow said.

Truck Loaded With Explosives Blows up;15 Die

ELATH, ISRAEL (AP)— An explosives-laden truck blew up in this Red Sea city today killing 15 and wounding up to 35 persons.

The blast occurred at 4:30 p.m. in Elath's naval port.

It was one of the worst disasters this country has known.

Throughout the city of 13,000 people, houses shook and windows rattled.

Casualties were rushed to the town's only hospital by ambulances.

One unconfirmed account said the truck was disembarking from a transport ship which had brought back military equipment captured on Egypt's Red Sea island of Shadwan, held by the Israelis for 32 hours earlier this week.

The truck, inching off the transport vessel's open mouth, drove about six feet and hit a stone. It blew up immediately.

Senate Begins Work on Drug Control Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the year's first Saturday session, the Senate today took up a massive drug control bill intended to provide the Justice Department with new tools to crack down on the illicit narcotic traffic.

"Under this new law we will impose severe punishment for the professional criminal in the drug trade while providing more flexible penalties for the less serious drug offenders," said Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, DConn., the bill's floor manager.

Dodd urged quick passage of the administration-backed bill which is, he said, "strictly and primarily a law enforcement measure."

The bill provides for "no knock" narcotics raids by law enforcement officials, sets up categories of drugs and dangerous substances, creates a commission to study the long-term effects of marijuana and overhauls criminal penalties for those convicted of drug abuse offenses.

"The new penalties will allow the judge to use his discretion in imposing sentences for drug offenders," Dodd said. "It will allow more severe sentences in the case of pushers and traffickers in heroin and a lesser sentence of up to one year for offenders involved with the simple possession of marijuana."

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, has promised that the Labor and Public Welfare subcommittee he heads will report out by mid-April legislation dealing with the medical and scientific problems of drug abuse.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it was still uncertain whether Hughes or other senators would offer amendments to the bill that would relate to treatment and rehabilitation of drug users.

The Senate began consideration of the measure after passing Friday a bill to control organized crime.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell congratulated the Senate for its passage of the bill and urged quick House action.

"This act is one of the most imaginative and comprehensive proposals to combat organized crime ever introduced in the Congress," Mitchell said.

However, there appeared to be no prospect for early action in the House where no hearings have been scheduled.

Instead, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee has announced hearings starting Feb. 18 on federal grants to the states for beefed-up local police forces under the Safe Streets Act of 1968.

One basic thrust of the measure passed by the Senate Friday is to bring federal enforcement powers directly to bear on illegal gambling, a major source of revenues for the Mafia and other underworld cartels.

Large-scale illicit gambling enterprises would be made a federal crime. These are defined as involving five or more persons, being in operation for more than 30 days, and having a gross take of as much as $2,000 in any one day.

Bribery of local officials by gambling syndicates would be a federal offense.

Another novel part of the bill is designed to root out racketeer infiltration of business and labor unions, partially through use of anti-trust concepts like divestiture, dissolution and reorganization.

The bill also provides for extra sentences of up to 30 years' imprisonment for habitual and professional criminals and leaders of organized crime.

Other parts of the bill make substantial changes in evidence-gathering processes to strengthen government prosecutions of mobsters.

The bill, overturning a Supreme Court decision of last year, also would sharply restrict defense access to government files to determine if evidence was obtained through illegal wiretapping or other unlawful means.

Three More Iraqis Executed

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Three more Iraqis were executed at dawn today as a special court tried more persons accused of trying to overthrow the Iraqi regime, Baghdad Radio reported. Two Iraqis were acquitted.

This brought to 37 the number executed in connection with Tuesdays coup attempt. Seven other men were hanged Thursday accused of being spies for the United States.

Taha Jaxrawi, president of the special court, announced over the radio that the court ended its sessions with today's executions.

"We have nothing left to do but try the cases of those plotters who are on the run," he said. "We will hold more sessions when they are executed."

Those executed today included an army brigadier who went before a firing squad and two civilians hanged in Baghdad's central prison, the radio said.

Iraq charged that the attempted coup was backed by Iran and "Imperialism and Zionism."

Warsaw Talks Upgrading Hinted

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star said Communist China is considering whether to upgrade the Warsaw talks into a summit conference to settle the Vietnam problem and China's relations with the United States in the Far East.

The Australian edited paper quoted unidentified "China sources" as saying that the full politburo of the Chinese Communist party has discussed such a proposal.

The paper's sources said Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung took a neutral stand during the discussions and promised he would consider the proposal in the light of the progress of the Warsaw talks.

The talks conducted by U.S. and Communist Chinese envoys in the Polish capital resumed Tuesday after a two-year interruption.

The Star said Communist China is considering such a summit because of the possibility of war with the Soviet Union.

Holiday Complaint Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—A publisher has presidential assurance his complaint about special federal holidays will be considered the next time President Nixon declares one.

Dean Dorsey, publisher of the Tri-City Tribune in Cozad, Neb., wrote Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb. alleging insufficient notice was given on the declaration of last Dec. 26 as a special holiday.

He said his newspaper was published late Wednesday "with the idea that it would be delivered on Friday Dec. 26 A. M."

The holiday included postal workers so the papers remained undelivered until Monday.

Dorsey said had he had earlier notification of the special holiday he could have made arrangements.

William E. Timmons, presidenital aide, said "it is indeed unfortunate that . . . the granting of this leave caused disruption and inconvenience. You can assure Mr. Dorsey that this will be considered when such situations arise in the future."

Martin sent a copy of the letter to Dorsey.

Fire Safety Of Toddler Clothes Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering stricter standards for the manufacturing of three types of children's clothing to protect toddlers from fire.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has ordered a notice placed in the Federal Register indicating that new or revised standards of flammability may be established for children's sleepwear, underwear and dresses.

Data gathered by government agencies has shown that children under 6 years of age are injured more frequently from clothing fires than most other age groups.

Any new standards the government may propose could not become effective until late summer or early fall, however.

Stans said Friday the action on children's clothing is a followup to last year's notice by the department that new or revised flammability standards might be needed for wearing apparel generally. He said it also was the latest in a series of moves to implement the Flammable Fabrics Act of 1953. The law was amended in 1967 to give the commerce secretary authority to propose more stringent regulations than the mild standards in the 1953 act.

The secretary noted that new flammability standards for carpets and rugs were proposed recently. He said new standards for bedding and general wearing apparel also may be considered.

Food-Drink Additive Under FDA Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food and drink manufacturers have been told they will have to stop using brominated vegetable oils unless they can prove within six months that the common type of additive is being used at safe levels.

The Food and Drug Administration served the notice Friday on the basis of Canadian studies showing the food additive had caused heart damage in rats. There is no evidence the oils are harmful to man, said a spokesman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It was just three months ago that HEW Secretary Robert Finch banned cyclamates from general food and drink use after it was found the artificial sweetener caused cancer in rats.

Brominated vegetable oils are stabilizing agents used to prevent separation of ingredients in some types of citrus-flavored soft drinks, with smaller amounts in some varieties of orange juice, ice cream and bakery products, officials said Friday.

The U.S. action came one day after the Canadian government ordered an immediate tenfold reduction in approved levels of the oils in citrus-flavored drinks.

Although studies showed high levels of brominated vegetable oils damaged the heart muscles of rats and impaird blood circulation, the Canadian Ministry of Health decided the oils were not an imminent hazard to humans and there are safe levels of use.

The U.S. action is broader than the Canadian move but gives the manufacturers 180 days to come up with laboratory proof of safe levels.

If the manufacturers can't prove safe levels for the additive, HEW officials said, they will have to stop using brominated vegetable oil.

The additive had been one of 680 on a government list allowing virtually unrestricted use without any laboratory proofs of safety.

Concern over cyclamates caused the FDA to begin a review of the special list.

The People Speak

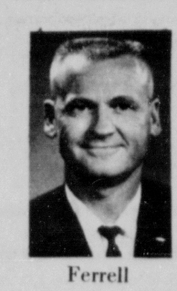
QUESTION — "What do you think of Richard Nixon's first year as President?"



Ferrell

Frank Ferrell — "I believe his law and order platform is good and he is doing a fair job on law and order. Like most presidents, he made a lot of campaign promises he won't be able to keep. I will say he is doing good for a Republican."

Steward

Fred Steward Jr. — "He's doing a terrific job. He is having difficulty with the Democrat controlled congress, and may not be moving as quickly as some would like. But, rather than tackling all problems and completing none, he is approaching them step by step, one problem at a time. He is placing more emphasis on domestic problems. The list is long, but I am particularly pleased with his attack on organized crime, which has been ignored before."

Cost to Clean Lake Michigan Rated High

CHICAGO (AP) — An expert estimated Friday that the cost of cleaning the filth from Lake Michigan would be more than $1 billion.

President Nixon pledged in his State of the Union message Thursday a $10 billion drive to combat water pollution.

The state of Illinois alone "has needs of over $1.5 billion," C. Wallace Poston, director of the Great Lakes regional office of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration said. Poston becomes commissioner of Chicago's Department of Environmental control Feb. 1.

Poston estimated the cleanup cost for Lake Michigan at "upwards of $1 billion. But this is a difficult figure to come by. I would say it's going to be a very expensive job."

Others in his organization pegged the cost at $2 billion to $10 billion.

Federal officials, together with authorities of the four states which border the lake—Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan—agreed on a cleanup plan in 1968.

By December 1972, all communities are supposed to have waste treatment facilities. Industries are required to have completed pollution control devices. Various bans on pesticides, combination sewers and storm drainage and dumping are scheduled to be enforced.

"I don't think Lake Michigan is irretreivably lost," Poston said. "There's a lot of clean water in the middle of the lake. But there are localized areas where you're giving it hell. We have to act and act fast."

Unofficial groups are not so optimistic.

Anthony D'Amato, an assistant professor of law at Northwestern University and an advisor to the Northwestern Students for a Better Environment, said it is impossible to put a dollar figure on the cost of cleaning up Lake Michigan. The current proposals, he said, are avoiding the issue.

"They're talking about municipal treatment plants while they're ringing the lake with huge atomic power plants," D'Amato said.

He said the heat and radioactive pollution from atomic plants "could kill the lake even faster than what's being done now."

"I don't feel you can use more technology to undo what technology has done." D'Amato said. "Instead of treating the wastes and dumping them back in, they should process them into organic fertilizers. And instead of building dangerous atomic power plants, they should develop new power sources."

Missouri Among States Expecting Draft Shortage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Selective Service officials in 15 states say they probably will be unable to fill their February draft quotas because of federal orders to call no one beyond lottery No. 60.

Selective Service officials in 16 states and the District of Columbia said Friday they thought they could meet their quotas; those in 15 other states and New York City said they couldn't tell at this time; authorities in 15 other states said meeting the call was unlikely; and officials in four remaining states could not be reached for comment.

The ceiling was ordered Tuesday for the second operational month of system that President Richard M. Nixon signed into law last November. Draft eligibility was determined last Dec. 1 by a lottery-by-birthday drawing in an effort to make the draft more fair.

In Washington, a Selective Service Spokesman said the point of the February ceiling was to determine whether the Pentagon's call for 19,000 men could be met under such a restriction. He said if they cannot be, the difference would be made up in a later call.

The suggested January ceiling was lottery No. 30.

Experts say the purpose of the ceiling is insure that the 366 lottery numbers are called relatively uniformly throughout the country.

Without a ceiling, they say, there could be a wide difference in lottery numbers called by local boards. One board might have a large pool of men distributed fairly evenly over the 366 numbers, while another might not.

Another reason for the ceiling, they say, is that some boards might be short on low-numbered men early in the year because of deferments set to expire later on.

States that felt it was unlikely they could meet their quotas were: Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Missouri, Georgia, Florida, Oklahoma, Illinois, Washington, New Hampshire, Maine, Michigan and New York State, excluding New York City.

Ralph E. McCain, acting Missouri Selective Service director, said Friday he does not expect to be able to fill the state's draft quota for February.

McCain said a directive limiting local boards to lottery numbers no higher than 60 will cause Missouri to fall 20 to 30 per cent short of its quota, which is 643.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

ELECTORAL REFORM HEARINGS SLATED

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has announced that his committee will hold hearings on electoral reform early next year for the first time since 1951. Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Constitutional Subcommittee, said his panel will resume hearings on proposed constitutional amendments to change the system of electing the President and Vice-President.

Senator Bayh supports a plan to abolish the Electoral College in favor of a direct vote of the people. Rep. Celler did not endorse any specific alternative to the present system.

That hearings will be held in good news; but, it is to be hoped that they will not be dominated by advocates of the direct vote at the expense of those who favor reforming but retaining the Electoral College. The direct vote would result in federally - run elections, dealing a further blow to the rights of the states. Greatly to be preferred is the District Plan, under which one presidential elector would be chosen from each congressional district and two electors - at - large from each state.

This plan would eliminate the inequitable practice of giving a state's entire electoral vote to the candidate who had a plurality of the popular vote; the electoral vote would be divided according to the way the people of the congressional districts voted. The district plan would bring the people closer to the men and women representing their chosen candidate. It would strengthen the representative form of government envisioned by the founders of our Republic.

THE GOALS OF EDUCATION

Noting the brazen attempt of a "teachers union" (the United Federation of Teachers in New York City) to indoctrinate the school children there with union prepared material directed against the General Electric Company, we are somewhat intrigued by a similar misdirected attempt by militants to "educate" our school children in the art of sex techniques. It appears to us that such proposals are far from what our school children need, and happily we find some professionals in the field who agree.

Professor Abraham H. Kalish in Washington, speaking before a meeting of parents and teachers, pointed to some alarming facts and figures. According to the U. S. Commissioner of Education, he said, one out of every four public school students have significant reading deficiencies. In a recent issue of the Bulletin of the Council for Basic Education of Washington, he declared, it was shown that although the school budgets of Chicago have nearly doubled in the last ten years, reading tests in the Chicago schools have shown a steady downward trend. The same, he said, is true in the New York schools where the school costs have doubled in the last six years. Furthermore, in the Montgomery County area adjacent to Washington, where costs have skyrocketed from $580.00 per pupil to over $1,000 per pupil since 1966, reading, writing and comprehension skills have declined.

Professor Kalish suggests that, aside from the moral questions raised, those who have been pressuring school systems to introduce courses in sex activity would be serving the cause of education better if they directed more of their concern toward serious and indeed glaring deficiencies in teaching children the techniques of reading, writing, and reasoning. We agree.

We would be willing to wager that an investigation would prove that business men who have been successful in life were reared by strict parents who spanked them when necessary. A mother's darling has the worst sort of a handicap to overcome when he has to make his own way in the world.

A POLICEMAN

"A policeman is a composition of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity. . .Less than one-half of one per cent of policemen misfit that uniform . . . He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

"But . . . If a policeman is pleasant, he's a flirt, if he's not, he's a grouch. . .

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints, and above all be sure the victim goes home without a limp - or expect to be sued . . . He must know every gun, draw on the run, and hit where it doesn't hurt.

"He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being "brutal." . . . If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully . . .

He must know where all the sin is - and not partake ... The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead end, stake out 10 nights to tag one witness who saw it happen - but refuses to remember.

"The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman ... And, of course, he'll have to be a genius - for he'll have to feed and clothe a family on a policeman's salary."

I believe compulsory unionism is un-American. Our Constitution is based on freedom of choice and I stand firmly behind this principle. The "union shop" is a denial of a freedom of choice and has no place in a nation founded upon freedom.

TREATY FAVORS SOVIET RUSSIA

It has to be counted, at least, a temporary gain that the 90th Congress adjourned without the Senate acting on the Non-Proliferation Treaty, the effect of which would disarm the West without any corresponding disarmament of the Communist world.

The treaty asks India and Japan to face Communist China without nuclear weapons and without guarantees from the United States. Their adjerence to this treaty would invite aggression by the Chinese. The treaty would promote war, not peace. In Europe, West Germany is asked to renounce its right of nuclear self-defense and to depend upon the nonexistent good will of the Soviet Union.

The Non-Proliferation Treaty, under the guise of being an instrument to promote peace, actually would line the U. S. up with Soviet Russia against our allies and associates in Japan, India and West Germany. Already our policy of unilateral disarmament has steadily reduced our defenses even as the Soviet capacity for attack against us has been expanded.

Everything seemed to be set for approval of the treaty by the U. S. Senate - but then Russia moved troops into unhappy Czechoslovakia. This had the effect of causing the Senate to pause, so the freedom side has at least gained some time. It is to be hoped that members of the Senate will use that time to gain a full knowledge of the effects the treaty would have. The treaty puts no restraint at all on the nuclear armament programs of Communist powers. It is a measure to weaken the free world.

HUNTER COLLEGE CENTENNIAL

Throughout the 19th century many, if not most, Americans of both sexes assumed that "Nature has assigned (woman) a subordinate place, as well as subordinate powers, and it is far better that she should feel this and should not arrogate the superiority of the other sex." So stated THE YOUNG LADY'S OWN BOOK published in 1838. Higher education, except for the domestic arts and the less competitive fields like music and languages, was a masculine domain where women were unwelcome and unsuited intruders.

Such was the prevailing attitude when New York City's Hunter College was founded a century ago. Originally a teachers' college for young women, Hunter escaped the dire predictions of those opposed to female education to become a well-respected college that today enrolls 18,334 students. Hunter also survived the admission of about 5,000 men, racial unrest, and the establishment of the first departments in the city university system to offer degrees in black and Puerto Rican studies.

Hunter College will celebrate its 100th birthday in February under the new leadership of Mrs. Jacqueline Grennan Wexler. Mrs. Wexler, who has been called the "Joan of Arc of Education," will become Hunter's ninth President on Thursday, Jan. 15. A former nun, she transformed Webster College in St. Louis from a religious to a secular institution and herself from its religious to its secular president -- all with the approval of the Catholic hierarchy. In September, Mrs. Wexler will implement a controversial new program which guarantees admission to anyone desiring a college education, regardless of educational qualifications. And Hunter College, once considered a conventional college for nice young ladies, can be expected to continue its educational innovations.

An Editors Outlook

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

MESSAGE FOR THE CURIOUS

THE TV set in my Washington hotel room went haywire during the Oakland Raiders - Kansas City Chiefs game so I finally got around to seeing this undress movie, "I Am Curious (Yellow)." Unlike Jackie, I figure I might as well admit it. I don't have the social position to maintain.

If they award any prizes for amateurish boredom "Curious " gets a diamond tiara, for the nudity and sex are tasteless and the conversations interminable. It is really an endless home movie in which, at long intervals, a boy and girl drop into the hay.

HOWEVER, it purports to depict the swinging youth of Sweden and it appears to be aimed at their counterparts in other countries, particularly the U. S. A. So the film says three things that are interesting:

1 -- Military service is evil, and in case you are invaded the enemy can be adequately handled by civil disobedience and sabotage.

2 -- Idealistic youth cannot stomach the murdering American aggressors in Vietnam.

3 -- Even if Communists appear to be oppressive they are only acting that way to speed a better life for the downtrodden.

THIS passive resistance bit seems to be based on the naive theory that if Gandhi's followers confounded the British with it the tactic would work with anyone. They might ask the ghosts of the millions who meekly walked into the boxcars and were chuffed away to Dachau, Auschwitz and Ravensbruck. It is a tossup whether Ivan the Terrible would have laughed louder at passive resistance than Hitler or Stalin.

The conviction by many Swedes that wars can be won without fighting them may spring from the fact that their county has managed to sit out all wars for the last 156 years. Swedish self - restraint is famous.

THEY were careful not to annoy Hitler even after he brutally invaded and terrorized their cousins, the Danes and the Norwegians. The Swedes sold the Nazis steel and eventually agreed to transport German troops on their railways. In short, der Fuehrer found them good neighbors.

But don't get the idea that the Swedes are not capable of righteous indignation. They have exploded with fury at the evil American war in Vietnam. They have welcomed our military deserters. They have raised $40 million for Hanoi. Their foreign minister has marched in a parade denouncing the United States. This forthright courage is perhaps only coincidental with the fact that the U.S.A. is far away and has no intention of bothering Sweden.

ANYWAY, "I Am Curious", etc., has quite a sequence showing clear - eyed Swedes demonstrating before the U.S. Embassy, and displaying the placard showing the Napalmed child. But much more interesting is the interview between a round - heeled heroine and a visiting Russian poet.

The girl, through a woman interpreter, asks why the Communists haven't delivered freedom of speech, assembly and general protest, and the poet patiently explains that a degree of compulsion is necessary for humanitarian reasons.

YOU SEE, he says, the ignorant and hungry masses can't wait 300 years for the slow evolution inherent in capitalism to give them a better life. They must make the grade in 30. In order to achieve this speed some regimentation is necessary. Liberties will be returned as soon as possible.

The girl in the picture says, "I guess you're right," and the character with the long sideburns sitting in front of me turned to his companion and said, "He's right," too.

MAYBE I was the only guy in the house who didn't grasp the advantages of this short - term loan of liberties for the great blessings of universal literacy and prosperity. After half a century of Russian communism, which is 20 years more than 30, I was wondering how come these liberties hadn't been handed to the Russian people and why the compulsion is tightening.

The fascinating thing about "I Am Curious (Yellow)" is that it may be quite a bit deeper than it looks. The brazen couplings are guaranteed to produce indignation and word - of - mouth advertising, and this will pack in staminate youth and particularly the college crowd.

BUT if you forget the discarded panties and distill the rest you get:

Free nations are foolish to arm themselves.

The United States policies are unspeakable.

Communism only hurts for a little while

and then it is lovely.

I wondered how many of the boys and girls sitting in that movie waiting for the next pull - down in the Swedish weeds realized that they were getting The Message.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- An astonishing $1 million worth of government food stamps, intended for the poor, have been stolen from distribution centers in 11 states in recent months by professional safecrackers.

Federal investigators are convinced the stolen coupons are being sold for cash through middlemen who operate with the cooperation of grocery store owners and, possibly, even bank officials.

Poor people use the stamps to buy food at grocery stores which can redeem them for cash at banks. The banks are then reimbursed by the government.

Although the Agriculture Department is keeping mum about the wave of thefts, this column learned that over $600,000 worth of the stamps have been stolen in West Virginia alone.

The largest single burglary occurred in Charleston, where thieves made off with $300,000 worth of food coupons after breaking into a safe in a distribution office. Two separate break - ins at a stamp office in the northern part of the state resulted in a loss of more than $150,000.

Other major heists occurred at Albuquerque, N.M., where $100,000 worth of stamps were stolen several weeks ago and at Opelousas, La., where thieves got $67,000 worth.

A confidential Agriculture Department report lists Arkansas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Washington, Iowa, Minnesota, Maryland and Illinois as the other states where stamps have been stolen.

A special investigating unit has been set up by the Agriculture Department to probe the thefts, which officials fear may increase with the rise in federal allotments for food stamp program. So far, five persons have been arrested and charged with acting as "fences" in the sale of the coupons.

A special memorandum has been sent to the state agencies responsible for distributing the stamps. It urges that only small quantities be kept at the offices where the coupons are issued.

The department has also arranged to have the stamps printed with serial numbers to make their illegal sale more difficult.

--DRAMA OF THE DEAF--

Buried in the fine print of the veto - threatened, $19.7 billion Health, Education, nd Welfare appropriations bill is some poignant human drama.

If President Nixon carries out his threat to kill the bill, he will also kill the hopes and dreams of thousand of scientists and students, of the needy and neglected who are counting on the bill for funds.

Among them are 1,000 students at Washington's Gallaudet College, the only liberal arts college in the world which exists solely to educate the deaf. They come from 38 states and 16 foreign countries to obtain an education they can get at no other institution.

For 106 years, these handicapped students have moved around their campus freely, unharmed and harming no one. But now their silent world is haunted by a terrible new fear.

The Gallaudet campus is located on 92 formerly tranquil acres in northeast Washington. But the ghetto has slowly grown up around the school, and its deaf students have become the tragic victims of rampaging crime.

They are particularly vulnerable to ghetto thugs who are well aware of their victims' debilities. For the students cannot hear approaching attackers; nor, in most cases, can they cry for help.

Over 50 robberies, assaults and other crimes have been committed against Gallaudet students since late summer. Two attempted rapes took place in one evening. On September 9, one girl was attacked in a restroom, and another was assaulted in front of her dormitory. The latter was picked up and bodily carried for 300 yards, where she was dumped behind a mound of dirt.

On another occasion, a group of deaf girl students were punched and kicked by ghetto ruffians.

Gallaudet College, therefore, is in desperate need of fences, lights and security guards to protect those who cannot protect themselves. Only seven guards now patrol the campus. School officials would like to hire at least 14 more.

For these purposes, the college has asked the federal government for $315,000 -- a small sum by today's standards. But their meager request may be lost in the $19.7 billion bill that President Nixon is threatening to veto.

And the President may not know it, but one of the defenseless students at Gallaudet who is depending on him is his own cousin -- Patricia Marshburn.

--CANDY CIGARETTE PERIL--

"Caution: Candy cigarettes may be hazardous to your children's health."

This will be the next crusade of anti - cigarette battler John F. Banzhaf, who is preparing a petition to the Federal Trade Commission on the subject.

Banzhaf's underdog fight forced the networks to carry anti - cigarette ads. Now his legal students at George Washington University are polishing the anti - candy - cigarette case.

The suit will ask the FTC to intervene with the Patent Office to kill "L & M" as a trademark. Banzhaf contends that the cigarette companies would have a coughing fit if another company stole their trademarks, but are strangely silent when candy cigarette makers imitate popular brand names and packages.

Since they wink at the candy makers to encourage children just out of teething to think of smoking as pleasant, says Banzhaf, the firms have lost their right to their trademark. The FTC, he will argue, has a duty in such cases because the health of the children is at stake.

The government should not be party to schemes to encourage cradlecough or diaper hack, Banzhaf believes.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ON THE OFFENSIVE AGAIN:

Goldwater Returns to the Wars, Charges Labor With Blame for 'Debilitating' Inflation

Washington, D.C.: Major General Barry Goldwater, author, explorer, photographer, fighter pilot and junior senator, rides again. As usual, he sits high in the saddle. As usual, he's riding hard against massed forces. As usual, the odds are against him.

Senator Goldwater has hit the circuit. His message is that Congress has no "guts" and that it fears cutting down "the powers, the liberties, the immunities, and the privileges of our large labor unions which will make the kind of progress that is needed (against inflation)."

Barry Goldwater now is laying it on the line to audiences all the way from Republican banquets to the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

He blames inflation on he "higher and higher union wage hikes. It is the problem of wrestling with unions so powerful that they can demand and obtain from management wage increases which have no relation to increased productivity. It is a problem of union privilege distorting a nation's economy. It is the problem of unions becoming so powerful that they can force management and employers to disregard all the leassons of the past and all the historic applicatof economic principles and grant wage increases far in excess of what is justified by the amount of labor performed." As usual there is an engaging ambivalence in Sen. Goldwater. We talked the other day and there was the same frank objective searching in his words which made him so many enemies during his presidential campaign -- and which, in massive retrospect, made him so many friends after he lost.

"George Meany (AFL-CIO president) is a sensible fellow," said Sen. Goldwater, much to the chagrin of the labor leader once he reads this. "But we're going to have massive unemployment if this inflation doesn't stop.

I was the happiest man in the world back in the '30s when Congress passed the Wagner Act. Labor was weak then. Now labor sits on the other side of the table with all the muscle. I don't know what changes there should be and I don't want to see labor's right to strike ever denied or compulsory arbitration. But we are at the point where we must level their power to that of the corportation."

In a recent speech Barry Goldwater said he was one of those who has been arguing "for many years against the special privileges which we have granted the large labor unions through federal law. I have time and again warned that we wouls some day reach a time of reckoning. I argued that in our great zeal to equalize the forces of capital and labor in the early '30s (correction of power balance which I believe correct and overdue) we allowed the pendulum to swing too far; that we have invested union leaders with unjustified power over the economic well - being of the nation; that management and the public were not equal partners with labor before the law in this equation."

This, says Sen. Goldwater, is what now makes for inflation -- which, he reiterates in the blunt, informal albeit triphammer fashion of his, is the nation's top priority problem. He says inflation is now more pressing a crisis than Vietnam, crime, the international arms race, campus violence, or pollution.

He also has some words for the liberals. And for Sen. Fulbright too.

The gentlemen from Arizona decries the men such as Senators Fulbright and Proxmire who denounce heavy defense spending.

"...The committees headed by Senators Proxmire and Fulbright that continually complain about the cost of staying even with our adversaries in the business of defense never get around to complaining about wastage of the tax payers' money in programs which bear the labels health, education and welfare," says Sen. Goldwater. "It almost seems that to these groups the words 'defense' or 'military' are synonymous with evil and are legitimate prey for any kind of legislative reform or financial pruning, but that programs which have a high - sounding purpose and are listed under words like 'welfare' or 'education' or 'anti - poverty' or 'housing' are automatically so noble in their intent that they are above scrutiny by the searchers for waste and certainly above suspicion in the whole field of overfunding.

Sen. Goldwater would have no difficulty proving that the anti - poverty wars are ridden with rottenness. Money which should have gone to the poor, the hungry, the dispossessed and he disadvantaged in a score of cities has been stolen in blocs of half a million dollars.

One of the land's most courageous men, Ralph Salerno, former New York City supervising detective in charge of the Police Dept's Cosa Nostra desk, has charged that the Mafia is deep in federal housing.

Street gangs, which have raided churches and synagogues, have been bought off. Youth groups which have threatened their supervisors during summer training job sessions have taken money and never did an ounce - energy of work.

In New York City about $35 million in welfare checks are stolen each decade, according to reports.

Not the least has been the purchase of pornographic books such as "The French Art of Love." The list of thefts and abuses are long and varied.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are involved -- misued or stolen.

So Barry Goldwater who, like Richard Nixon, was unhorsed, rides again. He's behind the headlines now. But like one of those movie mirror jobs, he'll come tearing through the front pages soon. It would be like the old days of the '60s -- Barry Goldwater lashing at the Kennedys, at Lyndon Johnson's spending policies which he says sired this inflation, hitting a the liberals, taking on the nation's labor leaders.

Late 20's Still Suffers From Childhood Neglect

Dear Ann landers: All through childhood, I suffered because my parents were partial to my sister. I kept telling myself I'd grow out of feeling hurt, but here I am in my late 20's and still suffering.

Since I have always been the left - out child, I am extremely sensitive to similar family situations and it is amazing how much of it I see. Just last night we were having dinner in a restaurant and I watched the little girl at the next table. The parents were catering to and fawning over the little girl while her older brother sat silent and ignored throughout the entire meal. He looked so lonely and lost it broke my heart.

I wonder how parents can be so oblivious to the damage they are doing. Not only are they being cruel to the left out child, but invariably the favored youngster grows up to be self - centered, unappreciative and grasping, -- which is a normal by - product of too much attention.

Reword this any way you see fit, Ann, but please, get the message to those who play favorites -- not only parents but grandparents, uncles, aunts and teachers. Thank you. -- Attention Please: Houston and San Antonio

Dear Att: May I add a thought? Those who are inclined to play favorites should remember that the child on whom it is easiest to lavish extra attention usually needs it least, while the one who lacks charm and magnetism needs it most.

Dear Ann Landers: My son was killed in Vietnam. On the day of the funeral, the flag that was draped over his casket was handed to his wife. It was an impressive gesture but it broke my heart. I feel the flag should have been given to me.

I will never be able to replace my son, but his wife has already replaced him. In a matter of months she remarried and seems happy as a lark. Losing that boy was a shattering blow and I will never get over it. The flag that covered his casket would mean the world to me and I don't think it would be very difficult for my ex - daughter - in - law to part with it. Should I ask her? -- A grieving Mother

Dear Mother: The flag belongs to the wife. Don't ask her for it. When the widow remarried it does not mean the memory of her first husband has no importance to her. You do not know what is in this young woman's heart.

Life is for the living and you should not resent the fact that you son's widow wasted no time in picking up the pieces and making a new life for herself.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it good manners to answer the telephone in someone else's home? My cousin was spending the weekend with me. I had to go to the drug store and was gone only fifteen minutes. When I returned my cousin said,"I'm sorry you missed Martha's call." (Martha is my daughter who lives in Grand Island.)

I was very upset because Martha had called station - to - station and had to pay for talking to a shoe - string relative whom she doesn't like very much. I say my cousin had no business answering the phone in my home. She should have known the call was for me and not for her. Am I right? -- Still Burning

Dear Still: No, you are wrong. The natural reaction to a ringing phone is to answer it. Your cousin thought she was doing you a favor. Next time you leave someone alone in your home, instruct them not to answer the phone.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do', and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Lose 10 Lbs. In 10 Days On New Grapefruit Diet

NEW YORK (Special) - This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U. S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily, long after he despaired of ever getting down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or rye. If it is followed exactly, the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden". Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rice gravies, mayonnaise, lobsters swimming in buter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first ten days, plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not form fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food list in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $3 to the

P.O. Box 6024

Unconditionally money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $3 will be refunded promptly, and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply. (Adv.)

HEMET, Calif. (AP) — Richard Morrisey, 27, met and wooed Virginia Kohl, 21, at a beer bar. He married her there Monday night.

"The idea of getting married in the bar started out as a joke," said Morrisey, a dude ranchhand and rodeo rider. "But the more we thought about it, the better the bar sounded. I don't like to do things just like everybody else."

Justice of the Peace Charles Quitman performed the ceremony in the game room of the Inn Between, a small beer bar and cafe where the couple met a month ago, spent most of their dates, and where the bride worked part- time as a bar maid.

New Arrivals Hospital Notes

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) -- Two Knoxville sisters, Mrs. James E. Rader and Mrs. Robert L. Harmon, believe in togetherness.

They became mothers for the first time Thursday in the same room, in the same hospital where they were attended by the same physician.

They entered Presbyterian Hospital at the same hour, 10:30 a.m., Thursday.

The sameness ended only with the times of birth and the fact that Mrs. Rader, 22, gave birth to a son, while Mrs. Harmon, 20, had a daughter.

"It shocked me to death," said Mrs. Rader. "I am so glad my sister could come along with me. Her baby wasn't due until February."

NORTHERN -- Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Northern are of son, John Wesley, born Jan. 17 in Big Bend, Wisc. He weighed 8 pounds 2 ounces, and is the couple's first child.

Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Mary Ida Cummins, Benton, Northern is the osn of the late John . W. Northern. Mrs. Northern is the former Karen Decker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Decker, Milwaukee, Wisc.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

The Rev. Dr. James G. Emerson Jr. for many years has served as minister to a number of Presbyterian churches in New York City suburbs. He was successful and found the life and work of a parish minister pleasant and enjoyable for himself and his family. But always in the back of his mind there was an idea that maybe he wasn't fulfilling his total potential and mission as a parish minister. His interests and dedication were to the social, economical and health problems of all people, and particularly those in the city.

This past year Dr. Emerson had the opportunity to leave the parish ministry and work in the secular world. He was offered the general directorship of the Community Service Society of New York, one of the oldest and largest private voluntary charities in the country. It serves the basic needs of the people of New York and deals with all the problems of the city today.

When the opportunity presented itself, Dr. Emerson found it took much soul searching and thought to arrive at the decision to accept the position. It took great faith to leave the accepted role of minister and go into the "market place," but that was where he thought he could serve best.

With Community Service Society of New York Dr. Emerson has the tremendous challenge of helping to find solutions to the vast problems facing the city.

When asked his concept of the "mission," Dr. Emerson said, "The 'mission' is to create the situation where a person can find himself. And the greatest fulfillment in finding oneself is in helping others."

SIKESTON'S Larry Lawrence goes high in the air over Lilbourn defender Jerome Wilderness to pump through a one-handed jump shot, just two of Larry's 25 scored against the Panthers. The Bulldogs used the Panthers visit to register their fifth straight victory cage, 74-68, at the field house last night.

Lawrence Leads Bulldog Win

By MARK ADAMS

The year 1970 seems to be a magic year for the Sikeston Bulldogs.

They racked up their fifth straight basketball victory of the new year, last night, 75-68. The win was over the Lilbourn Panthers, behind the 25-point performance of Bulldog ace Larry Lawrence.

The Dogs have knocked off Scott Central, Caruthersville, Kennett, Charleston, and now Lilbourn in succession to leave their slate at 5-3 for the season.

The Dogs opened up the game quickly, as they raced to a 16-9 opening period margin. But a determined Panther defense fought back to be only three down at the intermission. From then on the contest was just an exchange of buckets, as neither team could pull away to a large lead and manage to hold on to it. The Dogs were up by as much as ten in the third, but watched the margin slip from their grasp as the Panthers got fired up and cut the lead to one. With only 1:41 remaining in the game the Panthers wre down by only two, but then Jerome Wilderness fould out and the Dogs racked up their concluding margin. Wilderness had played an excellent defensive game, pulling down many key rebounds, while managing to tally 16 points.

The fast-break was the name of the game for the Bulldogs, as the excellant ball handling of David Hackney and Lee King got the break moving. Ed Throop did an excellent job of clearing the boards to keep the break clicking. But the decisive factor in last night's contest was Larry Lawrence, the Dogs 6'1 post man. Larry, who has had trouble in past contests finding his range in the dome, seems to be setting his sights a little better as he pumped through 25. Lee King came on strong for the victorious Dogs also, as he tallied 15 big markers. Lee was especially hot in the 2nd and 3rd, as he racked up 14 of his total in Rob Yarber and Ed Throop did an excellent job inside, as they racked up 12 and 11 respectively.

Freshman Tommy Wells connected for 22 to lead the Panthers in their upset bid. Wells will be on the circuit for a long time, and judging from last night's performance, too long for Lilbourn's opponents. Wells also did rebounding job for the Panthers, as he teamed with Jerome Wilderness to grab many key rebounds. Wilderness managed 16 before retiring in the fourth.

The Dogs will be bidding for their sixth in a row tonight, as they entertain the strong Parkway West Longhorns of St. Louis. The Longhorns wrestling team makes the trip south also, as the SHS matmen tangle with the Steers at 4:30. Junior Varsity contest begins at 7:00, with an 8:30 varsity tilt following.

Bulldog J.V. Tame Panthers

The Sikeston junior varsity basketball squad scored a big victory over the once - beaten Lilbourn Panthers last night, 57-55. Sikeston used its overzwhelming height to outrebound the Panthers on both ends of the court, which proved to be one of the main factors.

Lilbourn led throughout the whole game until the last few minutes of the game as the Dogs pulled out in front. From here on out the lead was exchanged until the final buzzer sounded with Sikeston having its fourth victory out of the last five games.

Odell Howard led the victorious Dogs as he collected 15 and teamate Garrard Hunt added 12 to the attack. Sammy Tucker reached double figures as he shot for 10. The Panthers scoring attack was built around their one-two score punch, as Grant Dambach collected 13 and pumped in 12, before he left the game with five fouls. Lenzy Washington added 10 for the Panthers.

The last minute proved to be very exciting as the Dogs looked as though they had it wrapped up but the Panthers bounced back to tie up the score at 55-55, and the Dogs called timeout to talk things over with Coach Larry Nickelle. The Dogs then came on to the court and passed the ball under to Hunt and he put the shot up for the winning points. He was fouled on the play, as Pat McClarty was trying to stop him with a charging foul, but fouled himself, which was all the insurance the JV Bullpups needed.

Both teams came out onto the court wanting to control the game as they slowed the action down. Bernie had a pretty comfortable lead at the end of the third quarter as they lead by seven, but the Cardinals started flying high as they gained five points on the subborn Mules to come two points short at the buzzer.

Finals At Gideon Tonight

By DAVID McCLARTY

The finals of the New Madrid B Team basketball tournament gets underway tonight at 8 p.m. as the Lilbourn Panthers meet the Matthews Pirates for the championship at Gideon tonight. The consolation pits New Madrid against Parma for the third place trophy at 7 p.m.

The Panthers are led by their big center, Charles Blair as he stands 6-2 and is very agile. Blair scored 22 for the Panthers in their last tournament game in only two quarters of play. The Panthers outside scoring attack is led by guards Pat McClarty and Dave Williams, as both are threats from the twenty - five foot area. Grant Damback rounds out the team with a coolness that keeps the rolling Panthers going. Also the Panthers have one of the best benches, which adds to their potential and winning. The Panthers have only lost two games this year, one to New Madrid by a point and last night to the Sikeston Bulldogs by two points.

Matthews has one of the best scoring attacks in the County with Chester Dalton leading them. They also have a good height and could give the Panthers some problems on the boards. Raymond Bledsoe was the big man against New Madrid Thursday night as he collected 20, with the speedy Dalton adding 18 and Gary McWaters collecting 14. Dalton was always keeping the crowd on its feet as he could come up with the prettiest steals and drive in for the bucket.

Top - seeded New Madrid will be going against the scrappy Parma Pirates in the consolation game. Leading the Indians is 6-0 Don Tucker as he scored 20 points for the Tribe in Thursday nights contest. Joey Sandridge led the Pirates with 18 to prove to be the powerhouse of Parma.

This is the third year in a row that the Lilbourn Panthers have reached the finals of the tournament and have claimed a championship in last year's battle against the New Madrid Indians. ## Oran, Chaffee Claim Third Place Honors

ORAN - Third place honors in the Scott - Mississippi conference basketball tournaments were decided last night as Oran defeated Kelly 65-59 in the A division and Chaffee beat Delta 54-39 in the B.

Title bouts are scheduled tonight, as Kelly battles Oran for the B championship at 7 p.m. and Chaffee goes against Delta for the A honors at 8:30 p.m.

Kelly started slow in its bid for third place honors of the A - division, as a result it trailed 17-8 in the first and was never able to overcome the deficit as the host won behind the 33 point effort of Don Evans.

Joe Davis ripped in 24 for the Hawks top effort. Robin Burger added 12.

Chaffee had a rather easy time in moving into the consolation win of the B division as it surged from a 14-8 first period lead into the victory.

Scott Thomas had 19 and Mike Dooley 12 in leading the Red Devils scoring. Boyd Richardson and Mike O'Conner had 11 each for the Bobcats.

Dynamite in Lead Mine Probed

CENTERVILLE, Mo. (AP)— Authorities are trying to determine who loaded six ore cars with more than 100 cases of dynamite and wired them to explode in the Ozark Lead Co., mine in southeast Missouri.

Sheriff Bill Scott of Reynolds County said the dynamite had been connected to a blasting cap and hooked to a detonator, but a mine employe found the explosive and disconnected the wiring Thursday.

The employe, who was not identified, apparently thought little of it, the sheriff, said, and did not report the incident.

A mine foreman— on duty with about 34 other miners — found the dynamite Friday and filed a report.

Authorities said if the dynamite had exploded the blast could have collapsed all levels of the mine.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the dynamite was discovered about 1,000 feet below the entrance to the mine, located about 25 miles from Centerville.

"We've questioned some of the miners but no real leads have turned up," the sheriff said. He added he knew of no labor problems at the lead company.

The mine uses dynamite in its operation, but the sheriff said it had not yet been determined if any explosive was missing from the mine's supply.

Officers of National Guard Reassigned

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Reassignment of seven senior officers of the Missouri National Guard, including three from Cape Girardeau and one from Charleston, was announced today in Jefferson City by Maj. Gen. L. B. Adams Jr., state adjutant general.

The reassignments, made necessary by recent reorganization and the retirement of other senior officers, will affect six units of the National Guard in St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and Jefferson City.

Brig. Gen. Narvol A. Randol of this city is reassigned from commanding general, 35th Engineer Brigade, St. Louis, to assistant adjutant general (Army) at Jefferson City. Randol is president of Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Assigned to fill the post being vacated by Gen. Randol is Col. O. T. Dalton Jr., of Charleston. He will move from the position of commanding officer, 135th Engineer Group, Cape Girardeau, to commanding general, 35th Engineer Brigade at St. Louis.

Two other Cape Girardeans being reassigned are Lt. Col. James C. Crites and Maj. Charles F. Blattner.

Col. Crites will move from commanding officer, 1140th Engineer Battalion to commanding officer, 135th Engineer Group. Both units are located here.

Maj. Blattner is assigned as commanding officer of the 1140th Engineer Battalion, replacing Col. Crites.

Other changes in assignments are:

Col. John J. Godfrey of St. Louis from executive oficer, 35th Engineer Brigade, St. Louis, to deputy commander, Missouri National Guard at Jefferson City.

Col. Walter H. Fitzgerald of St. Louis from assistant corps engineer, 35th Engineer Brigade, to executive officer of the same unit.

Lt. Col. Oliver H. Hussman of St. Louis from commanding officer, 204th Military Police Battalion, St. Louis, to assistant corps engineer, 35th Engineer Brigade in that city.

All reassignments have been approved by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who as the governor, is also commander in chief of the Missouri National Guard. They will become effective Jan. 28.

Gen. Randol, in his new post, will carry out special assignments of the adjutant general. He will also make periodic inspections of the various National Guard units throughout the state.

The general began his National Guard career in August, 1934 when he enlisted in Service Compahy of the 140th Infantry in Cape Girardeau.

He continued serving up to the time the National Guard was federalized on Dec. 23, 1940, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to Camp Robinson, Ark., for training.

He went on to serve in the European Theater during World War II and at its end was a lieutenant colonel.

After his release from active duty, he reaffiliated with the National Guard here. On June 30, 1960, he was named commanding officer of the 1st Battle Group, 140th Infantry, with the rank of colonel.

Upon reorganization of the Guard in 1963, Gen. Randol was appointed commanding officer of the 135th Engineer Group (Combat), and held this post until being assigned in December, 1967, commanding officer of the position he is now leaving. He was promoted to brigidier general in May, 1968.

Gen. Randol is a former Mayor of Cape Girardeau.

Col. Dalton took over command of the 135th Engineer Group (Combat) headquartered at the Armory here in January, 1968, on reorganization of the National Guard.

At that time, he relinquished his command of the 1st Battalion, 140th Infantry, now the 1140th Engineer Battalion (Combat).

He is a veteran of National Guard and Army Service, enlisting at Charleston as a private in the 140th Infantry on Sept. 9, 1935. He went into federal service as a technical sergeant on Dec. 23, 1940, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942. He served in the Asiatic - Pacific Theater in World War II.

Released from active duty in 1946, Col. Dalton became commander of Company D, 1st Battalion, 140th Infantry, at Charleston. He served in other command capacities including that of the 1st Infantry Battalion of the 140th before it was made an engineer group.

He holds awards for valor during the war.

As brigade commander, Col. Dalton will be in charge of all engineering components in the Missouri Army National Guard.

Col. Crites, this past March, assumed command of the 140th Engineer Battalion which includes units in Cape Girardeau, Jackson, Perryville, Sikeston, Portageville, Farmington and Fredericktown.

He saw service during World War II in France and Germany and after the war was assigned to duty in the Pacific. He has served in various capacities in the old 140th Infantry, the 35th Division and 35th Engineer Brigade.

As a civilian, he is an optometrist.

Maj. Blattner will assume the position and duties previously held by Col. Crites.

He joined the National Guard in the spring of 1949 as a private. He has attended the Infantry Officer Advance Course, Ft. Benning, Ga., and other special military schools.

He received his commission in 1954, became a first lieutenant in 1957, a captain in 1961, and received the rank of major in 1966.

Maj. Blattner has commanded Headquarters Company, 1st Battle Group, 140th Infantry; Headquarters Company, 135th Engineer Group and served as S-3, operations and training officer, of the 135th Engineer Group.

In his civilian capacity, Maj. Blattner is president of Erlbacher Materials Inc., here.

Malden Council Orders Firing Of Board Pilot

MALDEN— In an unusual and precedent setting action Monday night, the city council voted to notify members of the board of public works to relieve Ray Callanan, BPW manager, of his duties immediately and give him 30 days pay.

The motion to take this action was made by Councilman Leroy Evans of Ward II and seconded Ward I. The voter was 5-3. Voting with Evans and McCurter were Bob Jones of Ward I, John Fry of Ward III and George Anderson of Ward IV. Voting against the motion were Bill Downs of Ward II, Elsie Haywood of Ward III, and Mart Bostic of Ward IV.

This is the first time since the Board of Public Works came into existence in 1952 that a City Council has fired one of their employees. The legality of the action is questionable inasmuch as the ordinance establishing the duties of the Board of Public Works states:

(b) Said Board shall appoint the Chief Supervisor or superintendent and such subordinates it deems in its sound discretion necessary. Providing, however, that the number of employees and the compensation therefore shall be approved by the City Council and shall conform with the ordinances of the City of Malden, Missouri.

The ordinance does not make any provisions for the hiring and firing of employees by the City Council.

Callanan has been the subject of controversy for several months since he succeeded Bill Smith as manager of the municipally owned utilities. Several Council members have wanted him dismissed as long ago as last summer.

Members of the Board of Public Works, Irvin Waller, Ray Moreau, Ira Greene and Andrew Atkins, have been somewhat divided in their opinions of Callanan.

Several weeks ago (in November) Waller, Greene and Atkins met informally with Mayor Sparrel Davis and members of the City Council to discuss the status of Callanan. The Board of Public Works members said that they would like to retain the services of Callanan at least until they could work out an existing union problem with other employees.

Leroy Evans, who made the motion to have Callanan discharged, said that he did so because in his opinion that it was evident that the BPW was not going to act.

"They (BPW members) don't receive the complaints that members of the Council receive," said Evans.

Potosi Doctor Launches Bid to Unseat Blackwell

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) - Dr. Thomas Warren, 45, of Potosi, a physician, said Thursday he has filed for the Democratic nomination for state senator in the 22nd District in an attempt to unseat Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro.

Warren said his candidacy is based on strong opposition to Blackwell's drive to have voters overturn state income tax increases passed by the legislature last year.

Cotton Quotas Not in Burlison Jurisdiction

KENNETT - Congressman Bill D. Burlison said in a letter to E. H. Webb, chairman of the Pemiscot County Farmers Committee at Hayti, that the protest of the cotton projected yields for the 1970 crop year was not a matter within the jurisdiction of members of Congress. In addition, he said members of Congress do not have authority to veto or set aside action taken by the State or National ASCS offices. Instead, he said, the matter is within the jurisdiction of the president and his Secretary of Agriculture.

The statements in the letter were made in response to petitions received in his office signed by some 1,100 residents of Pemiscot County expressing their belief that that county was not reated fairly in the apportionment by the Missouri State ASCS Committee of the 1970 projected cotton yields.

The petitions point out that after the Washington office of the ASCS had computed each county's pro rata share of the national projected cotton yield, the Missouri ASCS Committee cut the yield for Pemiscot County by 15 pounds per acre while raising the yield for New Madrid County, the home of Barry Richardson of Portageville, Southeast Missouri member of the Missouri ASCS Committee, by 20 poounds.

The protest further charged the state committee singled out Pemiscot County for a cut in yields of eight pounds per acre below the county's 10-year average of actual yields - the only major cotton county in the state to be reduced below an average of actual yields.

Although Burlison stated in the letter that the matter was not in his jurisdiction, he did say that he had conveyed his interest in the matter to George Hensen, Deputy Administrator of the ASCS in Washington. Burlison said Hansen stated the apportionment was under review by the state committee and would be subsequently reviewed by the Washington office. No further word was received from Hansen.

Burlison also said that he, and Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas F. Eagleton had sent copies of the petitions to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin along with a letter asking for a report as to what actions have been taken in the matter as well as the facts on which decisions were based. The letter also asked what further right of appeal might be available to the protestants.

Malden Moves to Buy Gas System

MALDEN — The first step toward the purchase of the natural gas system owned by the Associated Natural Gas Company was taken Monday night by the city council.

An ordinance exercising the City's option to purchase the natural gas system was approved unanimously by the Council. All eight members of the Council were present.

The council then retained the services of Norval Wallen of G. H. Walker Company of Kansas City, a bounding firm, and Loren C. Kolditz, an engineer. These two companies will represent the City in their negotiations with Associated and in the hearings before the Public Service Commission.

Associated Natural Gas Company is completing the final year of a 20- year franchise with the City of Malden. Under terms of the franchise, the City of Malden has an option to purchase the gas system, lines, etc., at a price to be determined in heatings before the Public Service Commission. The City is required to give a one- year's advance notice of their intentions. This was done several weeks ago.

The purchase price at this point is speculation, but it is likely to be several million dollars. This will require a bond issue subject to a vote of the people.

The City Council has the authority to purchase the gas system, but they cannot buy it unless the voters approve the bond issue. If the bond issue fails, the gas company will be granted another franchise at a rate to be determined and they will continue to operate as a private enterprise.

Should the public approve the bond issue, the bonds would be retired over a long period of time at a rate of interest as yet undetermined. The City of Malden would then take over the operation of the natural gas system and it would likely be placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works. Any profits over and above maintenance, operation costs, payments on the bonds, and interest would then go to the City of Malden.

A proposal by Gale Bridges and Herb Preyer to level the ground in the newly acquired city park at a cost of $1,100 was approved. The new park site is located at the end of North Goldsmith Street north of Broadwater Road in the northeast section of the city.

Malden's quota of $475.66 in helping to finance the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission was approved for payment.

Bids for the purchase of a new automobile for the police department were opened. Rowe Ford Sales was the successful bidder at a price of $1991.99.

Harold Towery presented a proposal to the Council to buy a new trash and garbage truck if the city would grant him a franchise to haul the refuse. The matter was discussed and tabled.

The matter of the Jehovah Witnesses erecting a church building in the Waller Addition was discussed. A motion by Leroy Evans was approved whereby the city attorney was directed to write these people a letter advising them the City Council is opposed to their building the church on the basis of a petition signed by property owners in the Waller Addition.

Yield signs were authorized to be erected at the corner of Howard at Clinton, two signs at the intersection of Graham at Johnson, two on Clinton at East Main, two on East Main at Clinton, stop sign at Graham and East Howard, stop sign on Main at Taylor and a stop sign at Howard and Taylor.

Neal Says Cut in V.A. Budget Depriving Care To Wounded

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The president of the Disabled American Veterans said Sunday a cutback of $20 million in Veterans Administration funds is depriving servicemen wounded in Vietnam of the care they would receive in private hospitals.

"I think the V.A. is doing a fine job with facilities and staff it has," said Raymond Neal of San Francisco, "but V.A. hospitals average 1.5 employes per patient while private, civilian hospitals average three employes per patient."

Neal described rehabilitation for wounded servicemen as especially critical in that helicopter teams have rescued a high number of the wounded.

"At a Saigon hospital, I saw medics deliver a seriously wounded soldier to the operating table within a half hour of the battlefield injury," he said.

Money lopped from the V.A. budget could be used to implement needed hospital programs, Neal contended.

Six tips on how to become an unforgettable American memory.

1. Stop, look and listen. That's the easiest way to encounter a foreign visitor. (And, if you don't encounter one, what will he, she —or perhaps they—have to remember you by?)

2. Prepare to jump a hurdle. What sort of hurdle? Well, let's say you've just stopped, looked and listened in a bustling bus terminal. Your alert eye catches the tentative movement of someone who takes a quick step forward. An even quicker step back. Then stands stock still, looking lost. You've spotted one! Your foreign visitor. And he (or perhaps she) is lost, but too shy to ask directions. And you're just about to offer help. But, suddenly, you can't? You're too shy too? Then that's your hurdle. Jump it. Or simply step across

3. That's not your hurdle, but you've just run into another? Your English-speaking visitor doesn't understand your answer to his question, even though it was direct and exact? It's probably his ears. Perhaps they're long attuned to British English, or Australian English, or Irish English, and they find your rapid-fire American English difficult to catch. So repeat your answer, slowly. (And quietly, of course, since no one enjoys being conspicuously uninformed.)

4. Your foreign visitor has just come in by ear? You've overheard a question and you know the answer, but the person being asked does not? Go ahead. Plunge in. The unable-to-answer answerer will be relieved, not offended. And the visitor will discover still another American who is eager (and, this time, able) to help.

5. You've been asked about bargains, and you don't know what to suggest? Phonograph records, costume jewelry, men's shirts, and ready-made clothes are all generally cheaper here than in most places abroad. And, to many foreign visitors, an American department store or discount house is an experience in itself. (So, by the way, is a visit to an ocean liner—at 50¢ in our major ports. Such visits are impossible at any price in most countries. And a flown-over Frenchman, for example, might get a kick out of visiting The France.)

6. You're stumped, you've just been asked a question in X—a language you don't know at all? Try some other language you studied in school, on the chance that he studied it too. No luck? See if he's carrying an English-X phrasebook. Perhaps you can get him to point out the question he asks. Then you can read it in translation. Thumb through until you find an English answer, then point that out in turn. Now he can read the translated answer back.

One foreign visitor's most unforgettable American memory might easily be you.

HOW DO YOU HANDLE 500-pound bombs? Very carefully as this Marine ordnance expert in Vietnam demonstrates. The bombs were en route to a jet attack fighter.

Husband May Pay Big Charge Items

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Harold was hiving trouble keeping his nose above water in the sea of matrimony. He opened a charge account in a department store and his wife was capitalizing on it. Fortunately for Harold, however, she limited her many purchases to relatively minor items like gloves, stockings, dresses, hats, etc. But then the fateful day arrived when she went home with a $10,000 blue mink coat.

Insisting that he wasn't Fort Knox, Harold demanded to no avail that his wife take the coat back. He did the next best thing. He refused to pay for it. The result? the store ultimately sued him to collect its $10,000.

"Let them take the coat back," was Harold's position in court, "if they're brave enough to try. As far as I'm concerned, I opened the charge account for usual and ordinary purchases and not a $10,000 mink coat. Before selling such an expensive item, they should have checked with me."

"Why?" queried the attorney for the store. "There was no limitation on the charge account and Harold had authorized his wife to use it. It wasn't our problem to control her buying habits. It was his."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Harold pay for the mink?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a person who has a charge account is responsible for all purchases by those authorized to buy on the account prior to a cancellation or withdrawal of the authority. Since Harold's account had no limit, concluded the judge, and since his wife had the authority to use the account, Harold had to pay for the coat.

A Strange Tale Of Odd People

THE PARTY AT MRS PUREFOY'S. By Ward Dorrance. Delacorte. $5.95.

In this strange novel Dorrance has told a tale of surrealistic events.

The central figure is Alfred Armiger, an apple-cheeked, white-haired codger of the old school, who lives with his prissy, old maid sister Pauline, in a small Southern town of years ago.

Alfred is one of those perennial bachelors who in his youth had suffered moon-calf love for various ladies, including a rather flamboyant widow named Amelia Purefoy, who was 20 years his senior. He had met Amelia's niece Cecelia, who was nearer his own age, and had been shocked by her strange modern ways.

The narrative is keyed to a tremendous flood which threatens the whole countryside. Alfred receives a cryptic message from Cecelia about a final party at the old Purefoy place and sets forth in the midst of the flood to join it.

What he finds is a drunken orgy in the gutted shell of the old house, and Cecelia turns out to be a blowzy old harridan who gives him a very hard time.

The author has portrayed an odd set of characters in an odd setting. Part of the entertainment is the way in which he depicts their strange behavior.

Good Progress on Noranda Smelter and Power Plant

NEW MADRID — Construction progress remains good at the site of the Noranda Aluminum Reduction Plant in New Madrid's St. Jude Industrial Park, though hampered some by bad weather.

Delivery of structural steel and heavy equipment by rail is continuing. Erection of steel for the potline is about half complete, and aluminum siding is being installed.

The steel frames for two other major buildings are well along, and most of the major building foundations throughout the plant are complete. Work is continuing on remaining utilities and foundations, and erection of the two large alumina storage tanks is nearing completion.

Two of the plant's materials handling conveyors are also taking shape, including one nearly 2000 feet long which will transport alumina from the barge unloading dock on the river.

The dock itself, and a bridge to it, are also nearing completion.

The first prototype reduction cell is now being assembled in the potline, preparatory to production - line style installation of the remaining 173 cells scheduled to start in April. These cells, or "Pots," are the key to the aluminum production currently expected to start next November.

Installation of the first of the plant's heavy equipment has also started, including several electrical transformers weighing over 200,000 pounds at the reduction plant site to date over 208,000 cubic yards of earth has been excavated, over 650,000 tons of structural steel has been erected, nearly 30,000 cubic yards of concrete has been placed, and nearly four miles of utility piping has been laid.

The 600- million watt electrical power plant, being built adjacent to the smelter site for the City of New Madrid, is also progressing well. Several of the plant's warehouses and office buildings have been erected, roads and railroads are essentially complete for the time being, and excavation and pile driving for boiler foundations in the Power Plant proper are well underway.

Over 2000 concrete- filled piles will be required to support the building and its heavy equipment

At present, over 1000 construction workers are employed on the two sites.

The reduction plant is being designed and built by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland Calif. The power plant is being designed by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City, and built by Kaiser Engineers.

Sewer Plan Changed At Oran

ORAN — The board of aldermen meeting with city engineer C. R. Trotter reviewed the plans for sewer line extensions concentrating their efforts on serving the areas of Melody Lane and Pfefferkorn's Additions.

This area is known as Project I for an earlier three-part plan for modernization of the city's sewers.

In 1966 the cost of work involved in Project I was estimated at $75,000. At the meeting with engineer Trotter last Friday the board cut the cost of this project to about $40,000.

City officials said this plan would still bring sewer lines to all residents in the Melody Lane and Pfefferkorn Additions. It does not include any of the work outlined in Project II and III.

Oran voters approved three bond issues for this work in 1967 when they passed a general obligation bond for $15,000 in fire fighting equipment; a general obligation bond for $30,000 for sewer extensions; and for sewer work.

The sewer bonds have never been issued because the council has rejected two previous bids on the project as too costly.

The council now feels that the plan should include the recent revisions making the cost about $40,000. This can be paid for by some $30,000 now in the city's depreciation and surplus funds for the water and sewer department.

The remaining $10,000 needed could be financed by issuing part of the bonds already passed by the voters, a city official said.

One feature of the new plan being advanced is that the sewage would be carried to the pressure lines by forced air. This would reduce the cost of the project and still serve the same area.

A city official said work could start on the project as soon as the water level is satisfactory for earth work.

Council Votes Kennett Bond Issue Increase

KENNETT — The city council voted to add an additional $43,000 to a proposed $65,000 general obligation bond issue to be voted on by Kennett residents.

The original $65,000 will be used to provide water and sewer facilities for the newly- annexed Wilburn Heights addition. The additional $43,000 will be used to provide water and sewer facilities for the Westgate Subdivision, being developed by Register Byrd and C. L. Reagan. The subdivision includes 80 lots in the western part of Kennett.

Mayor Sol Astrachan and the council emphasized that the bond will be paid off by tax liens against the property to be improved and will in no way affect the tax rate of Kennett citizens. The property owners receiving the benefits will bear the cost.

City Counselor Harold Treasure was instructed to draw up a new ordinance, incorporating the new request. The original bond issue was scheduled to be voted on February 3. The new issue will be delayed a few weeks to allow for proper publication notices. The date for that election has not been set. A two- thirds majority is required for passage of the bond issue.

Fire Destroys Mobile Home

BLOOMFIELD — A 1969 Crimson Model Mobile home caught fire and completely burned three miles north of Bloomfield on Highway 25 at 4:20 p.m. Jan. 15.

The mobile home was being towed by a 1965 Dodge moble home tractor when the driver, Fred Burns of Cape Girardeau, noticed smoke and steam coming from the trailer. Burns pulled off the highway onto a roadside park and disconnected the tractor from the trailer.

Burns tried to summon help but no fire department was available.

The mobile home, owned by Tom Edingburg of Poplar Bluff, was in the process of being moved from Poplar Bluff to Cape Girardeau.

Included in the contest, which were all lost, were several expensive guns.

According to Gene Snell, manager of Bell Telephone in Dexter, two large cables serving citizens north of Bloomfield were burned leaving those people without telephone service for a period of 20 hours.

Also, due to the fire, traffic was held up for a period of 2-3 hours.

Witnesses and the driver of the tractor are employes of Montgomery Homes in Chaffee.

Heart Ailments Main Death Cause

This is the first of a series of three articles presented by the Missouri Heart Association to inform readers of this newspaper about progress in the fight against heart and circulatory diseases.

With diseases of the heart and blood vessels responsible for more than half of all deaths in the United States, it is obvious that an immense challenge faces medical scientists seeking to identify the precise mechanisms responsible for "hardening of the arteries" (atherosclerosis) and high blood pressure, the two leading causes of heart attack and stroke.

Until this mechanisms are fully understood, paving the way for prevention or even cures, is there anything that can be done to reduce the toll of more than 1,000,000 lives yearly?

The answer is yes. In this series of three articles, we will examine some of the presently - available methods of treatment and prevention -- advances that are saving hearts and lives as of this very moment. Virtually all of them were speeded by the Heart Fund, the first national campaign of which was conducted just 21 years ago.

Let's begin with coronary artery disease, which includes heart attack and which kills about 573,000 people yearly in this country. In this category, a heart - saving development of profound importance has been the coronary care unit, now functioning in hundreds of American hospitals but lacking in many others.

For those who survive heart attack long enough to make it to a hospital, coronary care service can literally spell the difference between life and death. In-hospital deaths following heart attacks can be reduced by about 30 per cent if patients get high - quality coronary care service rather than routine hospitalization. Some authorities believe that coronary care units have an ultimate potential of saving up to 50,000 lives yearly in this country.

In these installations, the heart's electrical activity is monitored continuously, with an alarm system bringing trained personnel within seconds if there is any change in heart rhythm or rate above or below a preset range. Some units also monitor temperature, respiration and blood pressure. Additionally, there may be an "instant replay" system to permit quick review of chantes which have occurred during the several moments which precede a crisis.

Such a crises usually occurs within 72 hours of the heart attack and most often involve an irregularly beating heart, shock or cardiac failure. Once the alarm is given, corrective measures can be applied. These include intravenous medications, electrical methods of re-starting or re-pacing the heart, mouth - to - mouth breathing, chest compression and others. Quite often fibrillating hearts -- those beating with total irregularity -- can ultimately be restored to normal function.

Heart Associations throughout the country are sponsoring coronary care training programs for physicians and nurses and are carrying forward intensive educational programs underscoring the value and essentiality of this service.

Yet another under - utilized technique -- designed to meet emergency situations on the street, or in the home, office or factory -- is external compression of the sternum combined with mouth - to - mouth air ventialation following "cardiac arrest" - a term used to describe sudden cessation of circulatory function. The idea is to keep oxygenated blood flowing to the brain until appropriate medical treatment can be applied to restore normal heart function.

To meet this need, Heart Associations throughout the country are conducting educational programs which should enable physicians and nurses, and police, firemen, utility workers and ambulance attendants as well to apply emergency measures when signs of sudden death are evident. A significant number of cardiac arrest victims can be saved if resuscitation maneuvers are started promptly - usually no later than four minutes after the arrest occurs.

Ground is just being broken in another promising area - the mobile coronary care unit. Here, ambulances or helicopters would be equipped with monitoring devices, and would be manned by persons prepared to restart or repace a heart in grave peril during the extremely critical moments between the heart attack and the patient's admittance to a coronary care unit of a hospital.

If optimal performance and equipment were available in these two additional areas -- on-the-spot resuscitation and mobile coronary care units -- the additional saving might run into the thousands and perhaps even into the tens of thousands.

As matters now stand, should you suffer a heart attack and go into cardiac arrest, you will be extremely fortunate to have at your side a trained person capable of recognizing certain symptoms and applying emergency measures. And your chances will be much improved if you obtain high quality coronary care service, rather than routine hospitalization.

Next: Reducing the risk of heart attack.

Hayti Council Slaps Lid On Liquor and Gambling

HAYTI — At a meeting of the Hayti board of aldermen on Monday night, it was agreed by members and law enforcement officers that all businesses operating on cafe licenses or without any license and who are permitting gambling and violations of liquor laws will be closed immediately.

According to Chief of Police Fritz McKay, this applies to only one place at the present time. Last week the Big Apple Cafe operated by J. B. Snow was closed after a raid by investigators of State Liquor Control Department and members of the State Patrol. On Saturday night of last week the Flat Top Cafe, operated by Charley Hardin, was closed following the fatal shooting of a customer by Officer Ed Hendrix, Chief McKay told the Board that during the investigation of the shooting six packs of beer were found in the drink box.

Chief McKay said that to his knowledge the only other place violating Liquor and Gambling Laws was operated by Pete Lannie at Lannie's Grocery on West Highway 84. When questioned as to what was in the building, Chief McKay stated that there was a Juke Box, Crap Table, chairs and tables where customers could loaf and drink. When questioned as to the action he had taken he stated that he was waiting for the action of the Board before making an arrest and closing the place.

All three of the places named were operated for Negro customers. None had either a beer or liquor license, and by common knowledge, of the citizens of Hayti, City Officials and Law Enforcement Officers have operated for many years as places where the Negro population could congregate to eat, drink and gamble. Their only source of beer and liquor have been through the (legitimate) white liquor retailers of Hayti.

Previous to the discussion concerning the closing of the Negro cafes. Alderman Boyd McCrary had brought to the attention of the Board that at a previous meeting they had voted unanimously on this issue, and the Chief of Police had been directed that said places should be closed at midnight. He said that this order had not been carried out and intimated that it had been superseded by orders from the mayor or someone else. He also said that it was his belief that someone was being paid off to allow them to operate. This statement was not clarified as whether he was referring to city officials or the law enforcement department. He also stated that he thought it was time that Hayti had a new head of the Police Deparment. This was evidently in reference to the state statute which gives the mayor authority over the police department in class 4 cities; and by charges from Chief of Police Fritz McKay that he could not perform his duties because of interference from the mayor.

Alderman George Metzger charged that Chief of Police McKay had lied in published reports in out of town newspapers that his hands were tied because of politics. He asked McKay if he had to ask anyone's permission before making an arrest for law violation and if his authority ended after the arrest was made and charges filed. Chief McKay said that he did have that authority. He was then asked by Alderman Metzger if he had made any arrests on the illegal bootlegging and gambling which had been published. He answered that he had not.

Mayor Bain told the board that if he was head of the police department, he wanted officer Ed Hendrix suspended from duty until the investigation of Saturday night's fatal shooting was completed.

This was subjected to by Alderman McCrary. Chief McKay stated that he had asked for a coroner's inquest which was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. After discussion it was agreed that officer Hendrix should be suspended until the result of the coroner's inquest is known.

Liquor Agents Charge Orton Ran Them Out

ST. LOUIS - Alabama state liquor agents twice offered evidence that Caruthersville, was the hub of a whisky bootleg operation to Pemiscot County Sheriff Clyde Orton but were run out of town for their efforts by the sheriff, the agents reported.

The agents' allegations are expected to be presented in an ouster suit against Orton that has been filed by Missouri Attorney General John C. Danforth.

The sheriff has denied running any agents out of town.

The agents reported they were staked out in Caruthersville on July 5, 1967, gathering evidence that illegal whisky was being brought and transported illegally into the dry counties of Alabama.

They said a sheriff's car and a Caruthersville police car approached them. After they identified themselves and asked for the cooperation of local law enforcement authorities, they were escorted to the ferry across the Mississippi River and told not to come back, the agents said.

The agents went upstream 12 miles to another ferry crossing and came back into Pemiscot County. To their surprise, Orton was waiting for them and this time the sheriff accompanied them to his office, they said. They reported that Orton told them there was no illegal whisky - running from his county into southern states and told them to leave. They then left and didn't come back.

The agents reported they had names of suspects, auto license numbers and names of places involved in the operation, but the sheriff refused to cooperate.

Liquor agents from Mississippi said they had been run out of the county last year under threat of being put in jail when they were in Pemiscot County checking on an illegal whisky - running operation into the dry counties of their state.

Orton has denied all of the allegations and said he is not aware of wide open, notorious liquor law violations in his county as charged in the attorney general's suit.

The ouster suit was filed last weekend after a three-month investigation by liquor agents under State Liquor Controll Supervisor Harry Wiggins and undercover agents of the attorney general's office.

Only 265 Bills Pass In First Session

There were 21,553 bills and resolutions introduced during the session which found the Senate in session 926 hours, 56 minutes and the House meeting for 747 hours, 21 minutes.

It was longer and less productive than the first session of the 90th Congress which enacted 249 public bills and 204 private bills out of 20,387 introduced in 1967.

The summary was included Tuesday in an appendix to the Congressional Record, a publication which cost slightly over $5 million to print last year.

Dexter Suit to High Court

DEXTER — An injunction filed against the City of Dexter, challenging the results of the Nov. 18 sewer bond election, has been appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court, Jefferson City.

The injunction, originally filed in mid- December, was dismissed by Circuit Judge William Billings, after the city had filed a dismissal motion.

The injunction was filed by Homer Scott and John H. Thomason, both residents of Dexter, and stemmed from a controversial bond election held in November. After that election, the first, and unofficial, returns showed that the $375,000 sewer and water propositions had failed by a very few votes. A later official canvass of the returns by city officials and election clerks disclosed, mistakes in the tabulation, and showed that the sewer proposition had passed by exactly the two- thirds majority needed.

The injunction was filed challenging the results of the election, and asking the court to stop the City from issuing the bonds and beginning work on the sewer project.

Judge Billings dismissed the injunction, with prejudice, earlier this month. "With prejudice" in legal terms meant that the injunction could not be filed in he Circuit Court again.

The appeal to the Supreme Court came this wee, filed once again by the plaintiffs, Scott and Thomason, through their attorney, Manuel Drumm, Sikeston.

Prison Term For Stealing Deputy's Motor

BLOOMFIELD - A Sikeston man was convicted in circuit court Thursday of stealing an outboard motor from the home of a Stoddard county deputy sheriff and was sentenced to five years in prison.

A 12-man jury handed down the sentence to John Walker Hunt, 29, who took a 40 horsepower outboard motor from behind the home of Deputy Sheriff Cecil Hicks in Essex, Sept. 11. Hunt was apprehended the following day.

He obtained bond. However, the agency withdrew the bond and Hunt was placed in the county jail, where he is now being kept, Prosecuting Attorney Paul McGhee said.

Hunt has until Feb. 16 to appeal the jury's verdict, at which time, he is to be imprisoned.

Bloodmobile Will Come to Charleston

CHARLESTON — The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Charleston Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. David N. Thompson, Red Cross office manager, said today there has been an unexpected response to the appeal for blood donors, and it will be necessary to have the program for two days.

She requests that all donors who do not have appointments come to the Bloodmobile on Wednesday, Jan. 28, instead of Tuesday, Jan. 27, as the blood unit is booked solid on Tuesday.

On the 27th the hours will be 11 a.m. until 4 p.m., and on Wednesday, the 28th, the hours will be 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Mrs. Thompson said it costs nothing to give blood, and the process is almost completely painless. Persons from 18 to 21 years of age must have the consent of their parents in order to donate, and persons over 65 must have a health statement from a physician.

Blood donated to the Bloodmobile is used to replace blood used by patients in hospitals throughout the United States. If a donor or members of his immediate family need blood transfusion, they receive free blood from the Red Cross program.

Reminder cards will be sent to all who have agreed to donate blood. Some donors have been scheduled for the 28th, instead of the 27th as originally agreed to, as the reminder cards should be read carefully.

Cape Girardeau police said the victim was a passenger in a car being driven north on highway 61 by her husband, James M. Christman, 17, of Dexter. Officers said he was not injured.

The accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Hayward J. Poe, 912 South Sprigg, attempted to make a left turn from highway 61 onto highway 74, police said. The Poe vehicle was struck as it crossed the northbound lane of highway 61, officers said.

Israeli-Held Town Bombed by Egyptians

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Egyptian bomber dropped about 12 bombs on the oasis town of El Arish Friday night in Egypt's deepest thrust into the Israeli-occupied Sinai desert since the 1967 war.

Israeli authorities expressed belief the raider was a Soviet-built IL28 medium bomber which has not appeared before in Middle East hostilities.

The bombs—500 and 1,000 pounders—cut a swath through the town. The only casualties reported were a woman and a 17-year-old boy, both Arabs who were wounded. Four houses were damaged, two badly.

Israeli military installations escaped damage, but one bomb landed outside the Israeli military government building, bouncing away before it exploded.

The plane came in at about 300 feet in bright moonlight and made a single pass at El Arish, residents said.

The raider flew low, apparently to avoid Israeli radar then swung back toward the sea and the Egyptian coast about 90 miles to the east.

At the start of the 1967 Middle East war, Egypt was estimated to have 40 IL28s.

In ground action an Israeli army patrol killed 10 Arab commandos early today in a clash south of the Dead Sea on Jordan's border, the military command said.

A spokesman said the commandos were hit just east of Sodom and their vehicle destroyed along with a 120mm mortar and an ammunition dump.

Two Israeli soldiers were wounded later in the day when their vehicle hit a mine farther south in the Negev desert.

The Egyptian attack followed stiff Israeli jabs at the Egyptian military, including the capture of a "spy island" at the entrance of the Suez Gulf and another air attack on army installations on the outskirts of Cairo.

Israeli troops captured Shadwan Island Thursday after its defenders put up a stiff resistance. The Israelis claimed killing 70 Egyptians and taking another 62 prisoners in the initial attack, mopping up operations and the sinking of two torpedo boats in the vicinity.

The Israelis withdrew from the island Friday after holding it for 32 hours. They took out Egyptian hardware and a British-built radar station—the second radar system to fall into their hands in less than a month.

Cairo claimed the Israelis failed to remain on the island "due to stiff resistance on the land and massive air strikes." But Israeli officers said they "didn't come to stay." They said they had fulfilled their mission and were under no pressure to leave.

An American correspondent who was on Shadwan said the Israelis completely knocked out the Egyptian garrison and that "all the Egyptians on the island were either captured or killed." He also said the Israelis were under no pressure to leave.

U.S., Soviets Tentatively In Step on Treaty Timing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Soviet Union have agreed tentatively on early next month as the time for their final step in joining the treaty to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons.

U.S. officials said diplomatic efforts also are underway to secure similar action by enough other countries to bring the treaty into force at the same time.

The treaty's terms provide that it goes into effect when joined by 40 countries in addition to the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The final step in joining such an international accord is a legal procedure called deposit of the instrument of ratification. The deposit of this piece of paper officially commits a country to the treaty.

So far Britain and 25 non-nuclear states have deposited their instruments of ratification of the nonproliferation treaty. That leaves 15 to go, plus the United States and Russia, to bring the pact into force.

The treaty has been billed as one of the major arms control measures of the nuclear age. Under it, nuclear powers pledge not to supply atomic weapons to non-nuclear nations and the have-not countries agree not to acquire such arms.

The treaty was signed originally by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Unon and 53 other countries July 1,1968. Since then it has met with a series of delays.

Three Injured

Three highway accidents injured Melvin Brown, 19, Hayti, Raymond Mays, 50, Risco, and Leroy Dees 18, Campbell.

Brown, driver of a 1960 Oldsmobile, was injured in a one- car accident Friday 11 p.m. on highway 84, two miles east of Hayti.

He was treated at Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti, for cuts and bruises.

Brown told officers he attempted to pass another car, lost control, went off the road and struck a concrete embankment.

At 4:30 p.m. Friday on highway 153 in Parma, Raymond Mays, 50, Risco, drive of a 1967 Ford truck, suffered a neck injury.

A 1967 Ford, drive by Mac Rinehart, 27, Poplar Bluff, pulled into the path of the truck driven by Mays, the state patrol said.

Mays was treated by a Malden physician.

Today at 12:15 a.m. on route D, two miles north of Campbell, Leroy Dees, Campbell, driver of a 1969 Chevrolet, was hurt.

The patrol said he was speeding when he lost control, went off the road and struck a dirt embankment.

Wife Fights Garnishment For Ex-Wife

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Boehlow of Florissant, Mo., filed a suit in St. Louis County Circuit Court Friday challenging a Missouri law under which a judge garnisheed her husband's salary for four months to pay a lawyer's fee incurred by his former wife.

Mrs. Boehlow, who gave birth to her fourth child this month, said the "first family first' law deprived her of her statutory right to support and equal protection under the law.

Her husband, Robert, a driver education teacher in University City, said he married his first wife in 1962 and was divorced the following year. He said he was ordered to pay $50 a week child support for a child of that marriage.

Boehlow said in 1961 the support payments were reduced by agreement from $50 to $10 a week. In 1968, the first Mrs. Mrs. Boehlow went to court asking for an upward adjustment, which was granted.

In addition to raising the payments to $45 weekly, the court attached Boehlow's $670-a-month salary for four months to pay a $1,910 attorney's fee, Boehlow said.

Boehlow's salary checks were taken from Oct. 15 through Jan. 15, he said.

Mrs. Boehlow said she feels her children have a right to support from their father. She said she felt she had more claim to her husband's support than the wife of the former marriage.

"When you make a good marriage and live together 13 years, you should have a little bit of priority over someone who was around about a year," Mrs. Boehlow said.

Truck Loaded With Explosives Blows up; 15 Die

ELATH, ISRAEL (AP)— An explosives-laden truck blew up in this Red Sea city today killing 15 and wounding up to 35 persons.

The blast occurred at 4:30 p.m. in Elath's naval port.

It was one of the worst disasters this country has known.

Throughout the city of 13,000 people, houses shook and windows rattled.

Casualties were rushed to the town's only hospital by ambulances.

One unconfirmed account said the truck was disembarking from a transport ship which had brought back military equipment captured on Egypt's Red Sea island of Shadwan, held by the Israelis for 32 hours earlier this week.

The truck, inching off the transport vessel's open mouth, drove about six feet and hit a stone. It blew up immediately.

Final Tax Petition Totals Force Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The final count of income tax referendum signatures showed Friday the necessary signatures were collected in seven of the 10 congressional districts.

James C. Kirkpatrick, Secy. of State said the petition drive failed in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd districts. But the count in the other seven was sufficient to force a referendum election on the tax hike.

Under the constitution a referendum petition campaign must produce the names of at least five per cent of the number of voters in the last gubernatorial election in at least seven of the 10 congressional districts.

Plans now are to hold the election April 7, to coincide with many school and municipal elections. That will provide an early result on the question of whether the income tax rates should be raised as Gov. Warren E. Hearnes says is necessary—or rejected as state Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, says should be done.

Blackwell, deposed last Tuesday as Senate president pro tem, started the referendum drive last fall just after Hearnes got a special session of the legislature to pass the tax boost.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth issued an opinion Friday officially declaring the legislature has authority to set the special session April 7 instead of waiting for the November general election.

A Senate committee has scheduled a hearing for Monday to consider a resolution that would put the election in April.

Kirkpatrick issued an announcement earlier, when his checkers had found enough signatures in seven districts to require the referendum election. But the counters still had many petitions to go through. The count was slow because some petitions had signatures of voters from as many as six congressional districts on a single page.

Petition results by district; required and final count:

1st 6,322, 2,830; 2nd 10,919, 9,828; 3rd 7,354, 7,206; 4th 9,064, 14,855; 5th 6,932, 9,551; 6th 9,527, 12,349; 7th 9,855, 27,050; 8th 10,295, 18,755; 9th 10,477, 17,225; 10th 7,485, 9,567.

Kirkpatrick said there were no petitions carrying only signatures from the 1st district but 2,830 of them were found scattered through other petitions.

Senate Begins Work on Drug Control Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the year's first Saturday session, the Senate today took up a massive drug control bill intended to provide the Justice Department with new tools to crack down on the illicit narcotic traffic.

"Under this new law we will impose severe punishment for the professional criminal in the drug trade while providing more flexible penalties for the less serious drug offenders," said Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, DConn., the bill's floor manager.

Dodd urged quick passage of the administration-backed bill which is, he said, "strictly and primarily a law enforcement measure."

The bill provides for "no knock" narcotics raids by law enforcement officials, sets up categories of drugs and dangerous substances, creates a commission to study the long-term effects of marijuana and overhauls criminal penalties for those convicted of drug abuse offenses.

"The new penalties will allow the judge to use his discretion in imposing sentences for drug offenders," Dodd said. "It will allow more severe sentences in the case of pushers and traffickers in heroin and a lesser sentence of up to one year for offenders involved with the simple possession of marijuana."

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, has promised that the Labor and Public Welfare subcommittee he heads will report out by mid-April legislation dealing with the medical and scientific problems of drug abuse.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it was still uncertain whether Hughes or other senators would offer amendments to the bill that would relate to treatment and rehabilitation of drug users.

The Senate began consideration of the measure after passing Friday a bill to control organized crime.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell congratulated the Senate for its passage of the bill and urged quick House action.

"This act is one of the most imaginative and comprehensive proposals to combat organized crime ever introduced in the Congress," Mitchell said.

However, there appeared to be no prospect for early action in the House where no hearings have been scheduled.

Instead, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee has announced hearings starting Feb. 18 on federal grants to the states for beefed-up local police forces under the Safe Streets Act of 1968.

One basic thrust of the measure passed by the Senate Friday is to bring federal enforcement powers directly to bear on illegal gambling, a major source of revenues for the Mafia and other underworld cartels.

Large-scale illicit gambling enterprises would be made a federal crime. These are defined as involving five or more persons, being in operation for more than 30 days, and having a gross take of as much as $2,000 in any one day.

Bribery of local officials by gambling syndicates would be a federal offense.

Another novel part of the bill is designed to root out racketeer infiltration of business and labor unions, partially through use of anti-trust concepts like divestiture, dissolution and reorganization.

The bill also provides for extra sentences of up to 30 years' imprisonment for habitual and professional criminals and leaders of organized crime.

Other parts of the bill make substantial changes in evidence-gathering processes to strengthen government prosecutions of mobsters.

The bill, overturning a Supreme Court decision of last year, also would sharply restrict defense access to government files to determine if evidence was obtained through illegal wiretapping or other unlawful means.

Three More Iraqis Executed

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Three more Iraqis were executed at dawn today as a special court tried more persons accused of trying to overthrow the Iraqi regime, Baghdad Radio reported. Two Iraqis were acquitted.

This brought to 37 the number executed in connection with Tuesdays coup attempt. Seven other men were hanged Thursday accused of being spies for the United States.

Taha Jaxrawi, president of the special court, announced over the radio that the court ended its sessions with today's executions.

"We have nothing left to do but try the cases of those plotters who are on the run," he said. "We will hold more sessions when they are executed."

Those executed today included an army brigadier who went before a firing squad and two civilians hanged in Baghdad's central prison, the radio said.

Iraq charged that the attempted coup was backed by Iran and "Imperialism and Zionism."

Warsaw Talks Upgrading Hinted

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star said Communist China is considering whether to upgrade the Warsaw talks into a summit conference to settle the Vietnam problem and China's relations with the United States in the Far East.

The Australian edited paper quoted unidentified "China sources" as saying that the full politburo of the Chinese Communist party has discussed such a proposal.

The paper's sources said Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung took a neutral stand during the discussions and promised he would consider the proposal in the light of the progress of the Warsaw talks.

The talks conducted by U.S. and Communist Chinese envoys in the Polish capital resumed Tuesday after a two-year interruption.

The Star said Communist China is considering such a summit because of the possibility of war with the Soviet Union.

Holiday Complaint Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—A publisher has presidential assurance his complaint about special federal holidays will be considered the next time President Nixon declares one.

Dean Dorsey, publisher of the Tri-City Tribune in Cozad, Neb., wrote Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb. alleging insufficient notice was given on the declaration of last Dec. 26 as a special holiday.

He said his newspaper was published late Wednesday "with the idea that it would be delivered on Friday Dec. 26 A. M."

The holiday included postal workers so the papers remained undelivered until Monday.

Dorsey said had he had earlier notification of the special holiday he could have made arrangements.

William E. Timmons, presidenital aide, said "it is indeed unfortunate that . . . the granting of this leave caused disruption and inconvenience. You can assure Mr. Dorsey that this will be considered when such situations arise in the future."

Martin sent a copy of the letter to Dorsey.

Fire Safety Of Toddler Clothes Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering stricter standards for the manufacturing of three types of children's clothing to protect toddlers from fire.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has ordered a notice placed in the Federal Register indicating that new or revised standards of flammability may be established for children's sleepwear, underwear and dresses.

Data gathered by government agencies has shown that children under 6 years of age are injured more frequently from clothing fires than most other age groups.

Any new standards the government may propose could not become effective until late summer or early fall, however.

Stans said Friday the action on children's clothing is a followup to last year's notice by the department that new or revised flammability standards might be needed for wearing apparel generally. He said it also was the latest in a series of moves to implement the Flammable Fabrics Act of 1953. The law was amended in 1967 to give the commerce secretary authority to propose more stringent regulations than the mild standards in the 1953 act.

The secretary noted that new flammability standards for carpets and rugs were proposed recently. He said new standards for bedding and general wearing apparel also may be considered.

Food-Drink Additive Under FDA Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food and drink manufacturers have been told they will have to stop using brominated vegetable oils unless they can prove within six months that the common type of additive is being used at safe levels.

The Food and Drug Administration served the notice Friday on the basis of Canadian studies showing the food additive had caused heart damage in rats. There is no evidence the oils are harmful to man, said a spokesman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It was just three months ago that HEW Secretary Robert Finch banned cyclamates from general food and drink use after it was found the artificial sweetener caused cancer in rats.

Brominated vegetable oils are stabilizing agents used to prevent separation of ingredients in some types of citrus-flavored soft drinks, with smaller amounts in some varieties of orange juice, ice cream and bakery products, officials said Friday.

The U.S. action came one day after the Canadian government ordered an immediate tenfold reduction in approved levels of the oils in citrus-flavored drinks.

Although studies showed high levels of brominated vegetable oils damaged the heart muscles of rats and impaird blood circulation, the Canadian Ministry of Health decided the oils were not an imminent hazard to humans and there are safe levels of use.

The U.S. action is broader than the Canadian move but gives the manufacturers 180 days to come up with laboratory proof of safe levels.

If the manufacturers can't prove safe levels for the additive, HEW officials said, they will have to stop using brominated vegetable oil.

The additive had been one of 680 on a government list allowing virtually unrestricted use without any laboratory proofs of safety.

Concern over cyclamates caused the FDA to begin a review of the special list.

The People Speak

Ferrell

Frank Ferrell — "I believe his law and order platform is good and he is doing a fair job on law and order. Like most presidents, he made a lot of campaign promises he won't be able to keep. I will say he is doing good for a Republican."

Steward

Fred Steward Jr. — "He's doing a terrific job. He is having difficulty with the Democrat controlled congress, and may not be moving as quickly as some would like. But, rather than tackling all problems and completing none, he is approaching them step by step, one problem at a time. He is placing more emphasis on domestic problems. The list is long, but I am particularly pleased with his attack on organized crime, which has been ignored before."

Cost to Clean Lake Michigan Rated High

CHICAGO (AP) — An expert estimated Friday that the cost of cleaning the filth from Lake Michigan would be more than $1 billion.

President Nixon pledged in his State of the Union message Thursday a $10 billion drive to combat water pollution.

The state of Illinois alone "has needs of over $1.5 billion," C. Wallace Poston, director of the Great Lakes regional office of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration said. Poston becomes commissioner of Chicago's Department of Environmental control Feb. 1.

Poston estimated the cleanup cost for Lake Michigan at "upwards of $1 billion. But this is a difficult figure to come by. I would say it's going to be a very expensive job."

Others in his organization pegged the cost at $2 billion to $10 billion.

Federal officials, together with authorities of the four states which border the lake—Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan—agreed on a cleanup plan in 1968.

By December 1972, all communities are supposed to have waste treatment facilities. Industries are required to have completed pollution control devices. Various bans on pesticides, combination sewers and storm drainage and dumping are scheduled to be enforced.

"I don't think Lake Michigan is irretreivably lost," Poston said. "There's a lot of clean water in the middle of the lake. But there are localized areas where you're giving it hell. We have to act and act fast."

Unofficial groups are not so optimistic.

Anthony D'Amato, an assistant professor of law at Northwestern University and an advisor to the Northwestern Students for a Better Environment, said it is impossible to put a dollar figure on the cost of cleaning up Lake Michigan. The current proposals, he said, are avoiding the issue.

"They're talking about municipal treatment plants while they're ringing the lake with huge atomic power plants," D'Amato said.

He said the heat and radioactive pollution from atomic plants "could kill the lake even faster than what's being done now."

"I don't feel you can use more technology to undo what technology has done." D'Amato said. "Instead of treating the wastes and dumping them back in, they should process them into organic fertilizers. And instead of building dangerous atomic power plants, they should develop new power sources."

Missouri Among States Expecting Draft Shortage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Selective Service officials in 15 states say they probably will be unable to fill their February draft quotas because of federal orders to call no one beyond lottery No. 60.

Selective Service officials in 16 states and the District of Columbia said Friday they thought they could meet their quotas; those in 15 other states and New York City said they couldn't tell at this time; authorities in 15 other states said meeting the call was unlikely; and officials in four remaining states could not be reached for comment.

The ceiling was ordered Tuesday for the second operational month of system that President Richard M. Nixon signed into law last November. Draft eligibility was determined last Dec. 1 by a lottery-by-birthday drawing in an effort to make the draft more fair.

In Washington, a Selective Service Spokesman said the point of the February ceiling was to determine whether the Pentagon's call for 19,000 men could be met under such a restriction. He said if they cannot be, the difference would be made up in a later call.

The suggested January ceiling was lottery No. 30.

Experts say the purpose of the ceiling is insure that the 366 lottery numbers are called relatively uniformly throughout the country.

Without a ceiling, they say, there could be a wide difference in lottery numbers called by local boards. One board might have a large pool of men distributed fairly evenly over the 366 numbers, while another might not.

Another reason for the ceiling, they say, is that some boards might be short on low-numbered men early in the year because of deferments set to expire later on.

States that felt it was unlikely they could meet their quotas were: Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Missouri, Georgia, Florida, Oklahoma, Illinois, Washington, New Hampshire, Maine, Michigan and New York State, excluding New York City.

Ralph E. McCain, acting Missouri Selective Service director, said Friday he does not expect to be able to fill the state's draft quota for February.

McCain said a directive limiting local boards to lottery numbers no higher than 60 will cause Missouri to fall 20 to 30 per cent short of its quota, which is 643.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

ELECTORAL REFORM HEARINGS SLATED

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has announced that his committee will hold hearings on electoral reform early next year for the first time since 1951. Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Constitutional Subcommittee, said his panel will resume hearings on proposed constitutional amendments to change the system of electing the President and Vice-President.

Senator Bayh supports a plan to abolish the Electoral College in favor of a direct vote of the people. Rep. Celler did not endorse any specific alternative to the present system.

That hearings will be held in good news; but, it is to be hoped that they will not be dominated by advocates of the direct vote at the expense of those who favor reforming but retaining the Electoral College. The direct vote would result in federally - run elections, dealing a further blow to the rights of the states. Greatly to be preferred is the District Plan, under which one presidential elector would be chosen from each congressional district and two electors - at - large from each state.

This plan would eliminate the inequitable practice of giving a state's entire electoral vote to the candidate who had a plurality of the popular vote; the electoral vote would be divided according to the way the people of the congressional districts voted. The district plan would bring the people closer to the men and women representing their chosen candidate. It would strengthen the representative form of government envisioned by the founders of our Republic.

THE GOALS OF EDUCATION

Noting the brazen attempt of a "teachers union" (the United Federation of Teachers in New York City) to indoctrinate the school children there with union prepared material directed against the General Electric Company, we are somewhat intrigued by a similar misdirected attempt by militants to "educate" our school children in the art of sex techniques. It appears to us that such proposals are far from what our school children need, and happily we find some professionals in the field who agree.

Professor Abraham H. Kalish in Washington, speaking before a meeting of parents and teachers, pointed to some alarming facts and figures. According to the U. S. Commissioner of Education, he said, one out of every four public school students have significant reading deficiencies. In a recent issue of the Bulletin of the Council for Basic Education of Washington, he declared, it was shown that although the school budgets of Chicago have nearly doubled in the last ten years, reading tests in the Chicago schools have shown a steady downward trend. The same, he said, is true in the New York schools where the school costs have doubled in the last six years. Furthermore, in the Montgomery County area adjacent to Washington, where costs have skyrocketed from $580.00 per pupil to over $1,000 per pupil since 1966, reading, writing and comprehension skills have declined.

Professor Kalish suggests that, aside from the moral questions raised, those who have been pressuring school systems to introduce courses in sex activity would be serving the cause of education better if they directed more of their concern toward serious and indeed glaring deficiencies in teaching children the techniques of reading, writing, and reasoning. We agree.

"A policeman is a composition of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity. . .Less than one-half of one per cent of policemen misfit that uniform . . . He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

"But . . . If a policeman is pleasant, he's a flirt, if he's not, he's a grouch. . .

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints, and above all be sure the victim goes home without a limp - or expect to be sued . . . He must know every gun, draw on the run, and hit where it doesn't hurt.

"He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being "brutal." . . . If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully . . .

He must know where all the sin is - and not partake ... The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead end, stake out 10 nights to tag one witness who saw it happen - but refuses to remember.

"The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman ... And, of course, he'll have to be a genius - for he'll have to feed and clothe a family on a policeman's salary."

TREATY FAVORS SOVIET RUSSIA

It has to be counted, at least, a temporary gain that the 90th Congress adjourned without the Senate acting on the Non-Proliferation Treaty, the effect of which would disarm the West without any corresponding disarmament of the Communist world.

The treaty asks India and Japan to face Communist China without nuclear weapons and without guarantees from the United States. Their adjerence to this treaty would invite aggression by the Chinese. The treaty would promote war, not peace. In Europe, West Germany is asked to renounce its right of nuclear self-defense and to depend upon the nonexistent good will of the Soviet Union.

The Non-Proliferation Treaty, under the guise of being an instrument to promote peace, actually would line the U. S. up with Soviet Russia against our allies and associates in Japan, India and West Germany. Already our policy of unilateral disarmament has steadily reduced our defenses even as the Soviet capacity for attack against us has been expanded.

Everything seemed to be set for approval of the treaty by the U. S. Senate - but then Russia moved troops into unhappy Czechoslovakia. This had the effect of causing the Senate to pause, so the freedom side has at least gained some time. It is to be hoped that members of the Senate will use that time to gain a full knowledge of the effects the treaty would have. The treaty puts no restraint at all on the nuclear armament programs of Communist powers. It is a measure to weaken the free world.

HUNTER COLLEGE CENTENNIAL

Throughout the 19th century many, if not most, Americans of both sexes assumed that "Nature has assigned (woman) a subordinate place, as well as subordinate powers, and it is far better that she should feel this and should not arrogate the superiority of the other sex." So stated THE YOUNG LADY'S OWN BOOK published in 1838. Higher education, except for the domestic arts and the less competitive fields like music and languages, was a masculine domain where women were unwelcome and unsuited intruders.

Such was the prevailing attitude when New York City's Hunter College was founded a century ago. Originally a teachers' college for young women, Hunter escaped the dire predictions of those opposed to female education to become a well-respected college that today enrolls 18,334 students. Hunter also survived the admission of about 5,000 men, racial unrest, and the establishment of the first departments in the city university system to offer degrees in black and Puerto Rican studies.

Hunter College will celebrate its 100th birthday in February under the new leadership of Mrs. Jacqueline Grennan Wexler. Mrs. Wexler, who has been called the "Joan of Arc of Education," will become Hunter's ninth President on Thursday, Jan. 15. A former nun, she transformed Webster College in St. Louis from a religious to a secular institution and herself from its religious to its secular president -- all with the approval of the Catholic hierarchy. In September, Mrs. Wexler will implement a controversial new program which guarantees admission to anyone desiring a college education, regardless of educational qualifications. And Hunter College, once considered a conventional college for nice young ladies, can be expected to continue its educational innovations.

MESSAGE FOR THE CURIOUS

THE TV set in my Washington hotel room went haywire during the Oakland Raiders - Kansas City Chiefs game so I finally got around to seeing this undress movie, "I Am Curious (Yellow)." Unlike Jackie, I figure I might as well admit it. I don't have the social position to maintain.

If they award any prizes for amateurish boredom "Curious " gets a diamond tiara, for the nudity and sex are tasteless and the conversations interminable. It is really an endless home movie in which, at long intervals, a boy and girl drop into the hay.

HOWEVER, it purports to depict the swinging youth of Sweden and it appears to be aimed at their counterparts in other countries, particularly the U. S. A. So the film says three things that are interesting:

1 – Military service is evil, and in case you are invaded the enemy can be adequately handled by civil disobedience and sabotage.

2 – Idealistic youth cannot stomach the murdering American aggressors in Vietnam.

3 – Even if Communists appear to be oppressive they are only acting that way to speed a better life for the downtrodden.

THIS passive resistance bit seems to be based on the naive theory that if Gandhi's followers confounded the British with it the tactic would work with anyone. They might ask the ghosts of the millions who meekly walked into the boxcars and were chuffed away to Dachau, Auschwitz and Ravensbruck. It is a tossup whether Ivan the Terrible would have laughed louder at passive resistance than Hitler or Stalin.

The conviction by many Swedes that wars can be won without fighting them may spring from the fact that their county has managed to sit out all wars for the last 156 years. Swedish self - restraint is famous.

THEY were careful not to annoy Hitler even after he brutally invaded and terrorized their cousins, the Danes and the Norwegians. The Swedes sold the Nazis steel and eventually agreed to transport German troops on their railways. In short, der Fuehrer found them good neighbors.

But don't get the idea that the Swedes are not capable of righteous indignation. They have exploded with fury at the evil American war in Vietnam. They have welcomed our military deserters. They have raised $40 million for Hanoi. Their foreign minister has marched in a parade denouncing the United States. This forthright courage is perhaps only coincidental with the fact that the U.S.A. is far away and has no intention of bothering Sweden.

ANYWAY, "I Am Curious", etc., has quite a sequence showing clear - eyed Swedes demonstrating before the U.S. Embassy, and displaying the placard showing the Napalmed child. But much more interesting is the interview between a round - heeled heroine and a visiting Russian poet.

The girl, through a woman interpreter, asks why the Communists haven't delivered freedom of speech, assembly and general protest, and the poet patiently explains that a degree of compulsion is necessary for humanitarian reasons.

YOU SEE, he says, the ignorant and hungry masses can't wait 300 years for the slow evolution inherent in capitalism to give them a better life. They must make the grade in 30. In order to achieve this speed some regimentation is necessary. Liberties will be returned as soon as possible.

The girl in the picture says, "I guess you're right," and the character with the long sideburns sitting in front of me turned to his companion and said, "He's right," too.

MAYBE I was the only guy in the house who didn't grasp the advantages of this short - term loan of liberties for the great blessings of universal literacy and prosperity. After half a century of Russian communism, which is 20 years more than 30, I was wondering how come these liberties hadn't been handed to the Russian people and why the compulsion is tightening.

The fascinating thing about "I Am Curious (Yellow)" is that it may be quite a bit deeper than it looks. The brazen couplings are guaranteed to produce indignation and word - of - mouth advertising, and this will pack in staminate youth and particularly the college crowd.

BUT if you forget the discarded pantics and distill the rest you get:

Free nations are foolish to arm themselves.

The United States policies are unspeakable.

Communism only hurts for a little while

and then it is lovely.

I wondered how many of the boys and girls sitting in that movie waiting for the next pull - down in the Swedish weeds realized that they were getting The Message.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- An astonishing $1 million worth of government food stamps, intended for the poor, have been stolen from distribution centers in 11 states in recent months by professional safecrackers.

Federal investigators are convinced the stolen coupons are being sold for cash through middlemen who operate with the cooperation of grocery store owners and, possibly, even bank officials.

Poor people use the stamps to buy food at grocery stores which can redeem them for cash at banks. The banks are then reimbursed by the government.

Although the Agriculture Department is keeping mum about the wave of thefts, this column learned that over $600,000 worth of the stamps have been stolen in West Virginia alone.

The largest single burglary occurred in Charleston, where thieves made off with $300,000 worth of food coupons after breaking into a safe in a distribution office. Two separate break - ins at a stamp office in the northern part of the state resulted in a loss of more than $150,000.

Other major heists occurred at Albuquerque, N.M., where $100,000 worth of stamps were stolen several weeks ago and at Opelousas, La., where thieves got $67,000 worth.

A confidential Agriculture Department report lists Arkansas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Washington, Iowa, Minnesota, Maryland and Illinois as the other states where stamps have been stolen.

A special investigating unit has been set up by the Agriculture Department to probe the thefts, which officials fear may increase with the rise in federal allotments for food stamp program. So far, five persons have been arrested and charged with acting as "fences" in the sale of the coupons.

A special memorandum has been sent to the state agencies responsible for distributing the stamps. It urges that only small quantities be kept at the offices where the coupons are issued.

The department has also arranged to have the stamps printed with serial numbers to make their illegal sale more difficult.

--DRAMA OF THE DEAF--

Buried in the fine print of the veto - threatened, $19.7 billion Health, Education, nd Welfare appropriations bill is some poignant human drama.

If President Nixon carries out his threat to kill the bill, he will also kill the hopes and dreams of thousand of scientists and students, of the needy and neglected who are counting on the bill for funds.

Among them are 1,000 students at Washington's Gallaudet College, the only liberal arts college in the world which exists solely to educate the deaf. They come from 38 states and 16 foreign countries to obtain an education they can get at no other institution.

For 106 years, these handicapped students have moved around their campus freely, unharmed and harming no one. But now their silent world is haunted by a terrible new fear.

The Gallaudet campus is located on 92 formerly tranquil acres in northeast Washington. But the ghetto has slowly grown up around the school, and its deaf students have become the tragic victims of rampaging crime.

They are particularly vulnerable to ghetto thugs who are well aware of their victims' debilities. For the students cannot hear approaching attackers; nor, in most cases, can they cry for help.

Over 50 robberies, assaults and other crimes have been committed against Gallaudet students since late summer. Two attempted rapes took place in one evening. On September 9, one girl was attacked in a restroom, and another was assaulted in front of her dormitory. The latter was picked up and bodily carried for 300 yards, where she was dumped behind a mound of dirt.

On another occasion, a group of deaf girl students were punched and kicked by ghetto ruffians.

Gallaudet College, therefore, is in desperate need of fences, lights and security guards to protect those who cannot protect themselves. Only seven guards now patrol the campus. School officials would like to hire at least 14 more.

For these purposes, the college has asked the federal government for $315,000 – a small sum by today's standards. But their meager request may be lost in the $19.7 billion bill that President Nixon is threatening to veto.

And the President may not know it, but one of the defenseless students at Gallaudet who is depending on him is his own cousin -- Patricia Marshburn.

--CANDY CIGARETTE PERIL--

"Caution: Candy cigarettes may be hazardous to your children's health."

This will be the next crusade of anti - cigarette battler John F. Banzhaf, who is preparing a petition to the Federal Trade Commission on the subject.

Banzhaf's underdog fight forced the networks to carry anti - cigarette ads. Now his legal students at George Washington University are polishing the anti - candy - cigarette case.

The suit will ask the FTC to intervene with the Patent Office to kill "L & M" as a trademark. Banzhaf contends that the cigarette companies would have a coughing fit if another company stole their trademarks, but are strangely silent when candy cigarette makers imitate popular brand names and packages.

Since they wink at the candy makers to encourage children just out of teething to think of smoking as pleasant, says Banzhaf, the firms have lost their right to their trademark. The FTC, he will argue, has a duty in such cases because the health of the children is at stake.

The government should not be party to schemes to encourage cradlecough or diaper hack, Banzhaf believes.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ON THE OFFENSIVE AGAIN:

Goldwater Returns to the Wars, Charges Labor With Blame for 'Debilitating' Inflation

Washington, D.C.: Major General Barry Goldwater, author, explorer, photographer, fighter pilot and junior senator, rides again. As usual, he sits high in the saddle. As usual, he's riding hard against massed forces. As usual, the odds are against him.

Senator Goldwater has hit the circuit. His message is that Congress has no "guts" and that it fears cutting down "the powers, the liberties, the immunities, and the privileges of our large labor unions which will make the kind of progress that is needed (against inflation)."

Barry Goldwater now is laying it on the line to audiences all the way from Republican banquets to the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

He blames inflation on he "higher an higher union wage hikes. It is the problem of wrestling with unions so powerful that they can demand and obtain from management wage increases which have no relation to increased productivity. It is a problem of union privilege distorting a nation's economy. It is the problem of unions becoming so powerful that they can force management and employers to disregard all the leassons of the past and all the historic applicatof economic principles and grant wage increases far in excess of what is justified by the amount of labor performed." As usual there is an engaging ambivalence in Sen. Goldwater. We talked the other day and there was the same frank objective searching in his words which made him so many enemies during his presidential campaign -- and which, in massive retrospect, made him so many friends after he lost.

"George Meany (AFL-CIO president) is a sensible fellow," said Sen. Goldwater, much to the chagrin of the labor leader once he reads this. "But we're going to have massive unemployment if this inflation doesn't stop.

I was the happiest man in the world back in the '30s when Congress passed the Wagner Act. Labor was weak then. Now labor sits on the other side of the table with all the muscle. I don't know what changes there should be and I don't want to see labor's right to strike ever denied or compulsory arbitration. But we are at the point where we must level their power to that of the corportation."

In a recent speech Barry Goldwater said he was one of those who has been arguing "for many years against the special privileges which we have granted the large labor unions through federal law. I have time and again warned that we wouls some day reach a time of reckoning. I argued that in our great zeal to equalize the forces of capital and labor in the early '30s (correction of power balance which I believe correct and overdue) we allowed the pendulum to swing too far; that we have invested union leaders with unjustified power over the economic well - being of the nation; that management and the public were not equal partners with labor before the law in this equation."

This, says Sen. Goldwater, is what now makes for inflation – which, he reiterates in the blunt, informal albeit triphammer fashion of his, is the nation's top priority problem. He says inflation is now more pressing a crisis than Vietnam, crime, the international arms race, campus violence, or pollution.

He also has some words for the liberals. And for Sen. Fulbright too.

The gentlemen from Arizona decries the men such as Senators Fulbright and Proxmire who denounce heavy defense spending.

"...The committees headed by Senators Proxmire and Fulbright that continually complain about the cost of staying even with our adversaries in the business of defense never get around to complaining about wastage of the tax payers' money in programs which bear the labels health, education and welfare," says Sen. Goldwater. "It almost seems that to these groups the words 'defense' or 'military' are synonymous with evil and are legitimate prey for any kind of legislative reform or financial pruning, but that programs which have a high - sounding purpose and are listed under words like 'welfare' or 'education' or 'anti - poverty' or 'housing' are automatically so noble in their intent that they are above scrutiny by the searchers for waste and certainly above suspicion in the whole field of overfunding.

Sen. Goldwater would have no difficulty proving that the anti - poverty wars are ridden with rottenness. Money which should have gone to the poor, the hungry, the dispossessed and he disadvantaged in a score of cities has been stolen in blocs of half a million dollars.

One of the land's most courageous men, Ralph Salerno, former New York City supervising detective in charge of the Police Dept's Cosa Nostra desk, has charged that the Mafia is deep in federal housing.

Street gangs, which have raided churches and synagogues, have been bought off. Youth groups which have threatened their supervisors during summer training job sessions have taken money and never did an ounce - energy of work.

In New York City about $35 million in welfare checks are stolen each decade, according to reports.

Not the least has been the purchase of pornographic books such as "The French Art of Love." The list of thefts and abuses are long and varied.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are involved -- misued or stolen.

So Barry Goldwater who, like Richard Nixon, was unhorsed, rides again. He's behind the headlines now. But like one of those movie mirror jobs, he'll come tearing through the front pages soon. It would be like the old days of the '60s -- Barry Goldwater lashing at the Kennedys, at Lyndon Johnson's spending policies which he says sired this inflation, hitting a the liberals, taking on the nation's labor leaders.

Late 20's Still Suffers From Childhood Neglect

Dear Ann landers: All through childhood, I suffered because my parents were partial to my sister. I kept telling myself I'd grow out of feeling hurt, but here I am in my late 20's and still suffering.

Since I have always been the left - out child, I am extremely sensitive to similar family situations and it is amazing how much of it I see. Just last night we were having dinner in a restaurant and I watched the little girl at the next table. The parents were catering to and fawning over the little girl while her older brother sat silent and ignored throughout the entire meal. He looked so lonely and lost it broke my heart.

I wonder how parents can be so oblivious to the damage they are doing. Not only are they being cruel to the left out child, but invariably the favored youngster grows up to be self - centered, unappreciative and grasping, -- which is a normal by - product of too much attention.

Reword this any way you see fit, Ann, but please, get the message to those who play favorites -- not only parents but grandparents, uncles, aunts and teachers. Thank you. -- Attention Please: Houston and San Antonio

Dear Att: May I add a thought? Those who are inclined to play favorites should remember that the child on whom it is easiest to lavish extra attention usually needs it least, while the one who lacks charm and magnetism needs it most.

Dear Ann Landers: My son was killed in Vietnam. On the day of the funeral, the flag that was draped over his casket was handed to his wife. It was an impressive gesture but it broke my heart. I feel the flag should have been given to me.

I will never be able to replace my son, but his wife has already replaced him. In a matter of months she remarried and seems happy as a lark. Losing that boy was a shattering blow and I will never get over it. The flag that covered his casket would mean the world to me and I don't think it would be very difficult for my ex - daughter - in - law to part with it. Should I ask her? -- A grieving Mother

Dear Mother: The flag belongs to the wife. Don't ask her for it. When the widow remarried it does not mean the memory of her first husband has no importance to her. You do not know what is in this young woman's heart.

Life is for the living and you should not resent the fact that you son's widow wasted no time in picking up the pieces and making a new life for herself.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it good manners to answer the telephone in someone else's home? My cousin was spending the weekend with me. I had to go to the drug store and was gone only fifteen minutes. When I returned my cousin said,"I'm sorry you missed Martha's call." (Martha is my daughter who lives in Grand Island.)

I was very upset because Martha had called station - to - station and had to pay for talking to a shoe - string relative whom she doesn't like very much. I say my cousin had no business answering the phone in my home. She should have known the call was for me and not for her. Am I right? -- Still Burning

Dear Still: No, you are wrong. The natural reaction to a ringing phone is to answer it. Your cousin thought she was doing you a favor. Next time you leave someone alone in your home, instruct them not to answer the phone.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do', and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Lose 10 Lbs. In 10 Days On New Grapefruit Diet

NEW YORK (Special) - This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U. S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily, long after he despaired of ever getting down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or rye. If it is followed exactly, the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden". Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rice gravies, mayonnaise, lobsters swimming in buter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first ten days, plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not form fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food list in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids, When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $3 to the

P.O. Box 6024

Unconditionally money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $3 will be refunded promptly, and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply. (Adv.)

DIFFERENT...REALLY DIFFERENT!

HEMET, Calif. (AP) — Richard Morrisey, 27, met and wooed Virginia Kohl, 21, at a beer bar. He married her there Monday night.

"The idea of getting married in the bar started out as a joke," said Morrisey, a dude ranchhand and rodeo rider. "But the more we thought about it, the better the bar sounded. I don't like to do things just like everybody else."

Justice of the Peace Charles Quitman performed the ceremony in the game room of the Inn Between, a small beer bar and cafe where the couple met a month ago, spent most of their dates, and where the bride worked part- time as a bar maid.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) -- Two Knoxville sisters, Mrs. James E. Rader and Mrs. Robert L. Harmon, believe in togetherness.

They became mothers for the first time Thursday in the same room, in the same hospital where they were attended by the same physician.

They entered Presbyterian Hospital at the same hour, 10:30 a.m., Thursday.

The sameness ended only with the times of birth and the fact that Mrs. Rader, 22, gave birth to a son, while Mrs. Harmon, 20, had a daughter.

"It shocked me to death," said Mrs. Rader. "I am so glad my sister could come along with me. Her baby wasn't due until February."

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

The Rev. Dr. James G. Emerson Jr. for many years has served as minister to a number of Presbyterian churches in New York City suburbs. He was successful and found the life and work of a parish minister pleasant and enjoyable for himself and his family. But always in the back of his mind there was an idea that maybe he wasn't fulfilling his total potential and mission as a parish minister. His interests and dedication were to the social, economical and health problems of all people, and particularly those in the city.

This past year Dr. Emerson had the opportunity to leave the parish ministry and work in the secular world. He was offered the general directorship of the Community Service Society of New York, one of the oldest and largest private voluntary charities in the country. It serves the basic needs of the people of New York and deals with all the problems of the city today.

When the opportunity presented itself, Dr. Emerson found it took much soul searching and thought to arrive at the decision to accept the position. It took great faith to leave the accepted role of minister and go into the "market place," but that was where he thought he could serve best.

With Community Service Society of New York Dr. Emerson has the tremendous challenge of helping to find solutions to the vast problems facing the city.

When asked his concept of the "mission," Dr. Emerson said, "The 'mission' is to create the situation where a person can find himself. And the greatest fulfillment in finding oneself is in helping others."

Lawrence Leads Bulldog Win

By MARK ADAMS

The year 1970 seems to be a magic year for the Sikeston Bulldogs.

They racked up their fifth straight basketball victory of the new year, last night, 75-68. The win was over the Lilbourn Panthers, behind the 25-point performance of Bulldog ace Larry Lawrence.

The Dogs have knocked off Scott Central, Caruthersville, Kennett, Charleston, and now Lilbourn in succession to leave their slate at 5-3 for the season.

The Dogs opened up the game quickly, as they raced to a 16-9 opening period margin. But a determined Panther defense fought back to be only three down at the intermission. From then on the contest was just an exchange of buckets, as neither team could pull away to a large lead and manage to hold on to it. The Dogs were up by as much as ten in the third, but watched the margin slip from their grasp as the Panthers got fired up and cut the lead to one. With only 1:41 remaining in the game the Panthers wre down by only two, but then Jerome Wilderness fould out and the Dogs racked up their concluding margin. Wilderness had played an excellent defensive game, pulling down many key rebounds, while managing to tally 16 points.

The fast-break was the name of the game for the Bulldogs, as the excellant ball handling of David Hackney and Lee King got the break moving. Ed Throop did an excellent job of clearing the boards to keep the break clicking. But the decisive factor in last night's contest was Larry Lawrence, the Dogs 6'1 post man. Larry, who has had trouble in past contests finding his range in the dome, seems to be setting his sights a little better as he pumped through 25. Lee King came on strong for the victorious Dogs also, as he tallied 15 big markers. Lee was especially hot in the 2nd and 3rd, as he racked up 14 of his total in Rob Yarber and Ed Throop did an excelient job inside, as they racked up 12 and 11 respectively.

Freshman Tommy Wells connected for 22 to lead the Panthers in their upset bid. Wells will be on the circuit for a long time, and judging from last night's performance, too long for Lilbourn's opponents. Wells also did rebounding job for the Panthers, as he teamed with Jerome Wilderness to grab many key rebounds. Wilderness managed 16 before retiring in the fourth.

The Dogs will be bidding for their sixth in a row tonight, as they entertain the strong Parkway West Longhorns of St. Louis. The Longhorns wrestling team makes the trip south also, as the SHS matmen tangle with the Steers at 4:30. Junior Varsity contest begins at 7:00, with an 8:30 varsity tilt following.

Bulldog J.V. Tame Panthers

The Sikeston junior varsity basketball squad scored a big victory over the once - beaten Lilbourn Panthers last night, 57-55. Sikeston used its overwhelming height to outrebound the Panthers on both ends of the court, which proved to be one of the main factors.

Lilbourn led throughout the whole game until the last few minutes of the game as the Dogs pulled out in front. From here on out the lead was exchanged until the final buzzer sounded with Sikeston having its fourth victory out of the last five games.

Odell Howard led the victorious Dogs as he collected 15 and teamate Garrard Hunt added 12 to the attack. Sammy Tucker reached double figures as he shot for 10. The Panthers scoring attack was built around their one-two score punch, as Grant Dambach collected 13 and pumped in 12, before he left the game with five fouls. Lenzy Washington added 10 for the Panthers.

The last minute proved to be very exciting as the Dogs looked as though they had it wrapped up but the Panthers bounced back to tie up the score at 55-55, and the Dogs called timeout to talk things over with Coach Larry Nickelle. The Dogs then came on to the court and passed the ball under to Hunt and he put the shot up for the winning points. He was fouled on the play, as Pat McClarty was trying to stop him with a charging foul, but fouled himself, which was all the insurance the JV Bullpups needed.

Finals At Gideon Tonight

By DAVID McCLARTY

The finals of the New Madrid B Team basketball tournament gets underway tonight at 8 p.m. as the Lilbourn Panthers meet the Matthews Pirates for the championship at Gideon tonight. The consolation pits New Madrid against Parma for the third place trophy at 7 p.m.

The Panthers are led by their big center, Charles Blair as he stands 6-2 and is very agile. Blair scored 22 for the Panthers in their last tournament game in only two quarters of play. The Panthers outside scoring attack is led by guards Pat McClarty and Dave Williams, as both are threats from the twenty - five foot area. Grant Damback rounds out the team with a coolness that keeps the rolling Panthers going. Also the Panthers have one of the best benches, which adds to their potential and winning. The Panthers have only lost two games this year, one to New Madrid by a point and last night to the Sikeston Bulldogs by two points.

Matthews has one of the best scoring attacks in the County with Chester Dalton leading them. They also have a good height and could give the Panthers some problems on the boards. Raymond Bledsoe was the big man against New Madrid Thursday night as he collected 20, with the speedy Dalton adding 18 and Gary McWaters collecting 14. Dalton was always keeping the crowd on its feet as he could come up with the prettiest steals and drive in for the bucket.

Top - seeded New Madrid will be going against the scrappy Parma Pirates in the consolation game. Leading the Indians is 6-0 Don Tucker as he scored 20 points for the Tribe in Thursday nights contest. Joey Sandridge led the Pirates with 18 to prove to be the powerhouse of Parma.

This is the third year in a row that the Lilbourn Panthers have reached the finals of the tournament and have claimed a championship in last year's battle against the New Madrid Indians. The year before that also had the Panthers and the Indians battling, it out for honors with the New Madrid coming out on top. So, this game tonight will show the best of the JV teams in the county and Lilbourn would like to make their record over the past three years shine with two championships and runner-up.

Dynamite in Lead Mine Probed

CENTERVILLE, Mo. (AP)— Authorities are trying to determine who loaded six ore cars with more than 100 cases of dynamite and wired them to explode in the Ozark Lead Co., mine in southeast Missouri.

Sheriff Bill Scott of Reynolds County said the dynamite had been connected to a blasting cap and hooked to a detonator, but a mine employe found the explosive and disconnected the wiring Thursday.

The employe, who was not identified, apparently thought little of it, the sheriff, said, and did not report the incident.

A mine foreman— on duty with about 34 other miners — found the dynamite Friday and filed a report.

Authorities said if the dynamite had exploded the blast could have collapsed all levels of the mine.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the dynamite was discovered about 1,000 feet below the entrance to the mine, located about 25 miles from Centerville.

"We've questioned some of the miners but no real leads have turned up," the sheriff said. He added he knew of no labor problems at the lead company.

The mine uses dynamite in its operation, but the sheriff said it had not yet been determined if any explosive was missing from the mine's supply.

Officers of National Guard Reassigned

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Reassignment of seven senior officers of the Missouri National Guard, including three from Cape Girardeau and one from Charleston, was announced today in Jefferson City by Maj. Gen. L. B. Adams Jr., state adjutant general.

The reassignments, made necessary by recent reorganization and the retirement of other senior officers, will affect six units of the National Guard in St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and Jefferson City.

Brig. Gen. Narvol A. Randol of this city is reassigned from commanding general, 35th Engineer Brigade, St. Louis, to assistant adjutant general (Army) at Jefferson City. Randol is president of Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Assigned to fill the post being vacated by Gen. Randol is Col. O. T. Dalton Jr., of Charleston. He will move from the position of commanding officer, 135th Engineer Group, Cape Girardeau, to commanding general, 35th Engineer Brigade at St. Louis.

Two other Cape Girardeans being reassigned are Lt. Col. James C. Crites and Maj. Charles F. Blattner.

Col. Crites will move from commanding officer, 1140th Engineer Battalion to commanding officer, 135th Engineer Group. Both units are located here.

Maj. Blattner is assigned as commanding officer of the 1140th Engineer Battalion, replacing Col. Crites.

Other changes in assignments are:

Col. John J. Godfrey of St. Louis from executive oficer, 35th Engineer Brigade, St. Louis, to deputy commander, Missouri National Guard at Jefferson City.

Col. Walter H. Fitzgerald of St. Louis from assistant corps engineer, 35th Engineer Brigade, to executive officer of the same unit.

Lt. Col. Oliver H. Hussman of St. Louis from commanding officer, 204th Military Police Battalion, St. Louis, to assistant corps engineer, 35th Engineer Brigade in that city.

All reassignments have been approved by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who as the governor, is also commander in chief of the Missouri National Guard. They will become effective Jan. 28.

Gen. Randol, in his new post, will carry out special assignments of the adjutant general. He will also make periodic inspections of the various National Guard units throughout the state.

The general began his National Guard career in August, 1934 when he enlisted in Service Compahy of the 140th Infantry in Cape Girardeau.

He continued serving up to the time the National Guard was federalized on Dec. 23, 1940, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to Camp Robinson, Ark., for training.

He went on to serve in the European Theater during World War II and at its end was a lieutenant colonel.

After his release from active duty, he reaffiliated with the National Guard here. On June 30, 1960, he was named commanding officer of the 1st Battle Group, 140th Infantry, with the rank of colonel.

Upon reorganization of the Guard in 1963, Gen. Randol was appointed commanding officer of the 135th Engineer Group (Combat), and held this post until being assigned in December, 1967, commanding officer of the position he is now leaving. He was promoted to brigidier general in May, 1968.

Gen. Randol is a former Mayor of Cape Girardeau.

Col. Dalton took over command of the 135th Engineer Group (Combat) headquartered at the Armory here in January, 1968, on reorganization of the National Guard.

At that time, he relinquished his command of the 1st Battalion, 140th Infantry, now the 1140th Engineer Battalion (Combat).

He is a veteran of National Guard and Army Service, enlisting at Charleston as a private in the 140th Infantry on Sept. 9, 1935. He went into federal service as a technical sergeant on Dec. 23, 1940, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942. He served in the Asiatic - Pacific Theater in World War II.

Released from active duty in 1946, Col. Dalton became commander of Company D, 1st Battalion, 140th Infantry, at Charleston. He served in other command capacities including that of the 1st Infantry Battalion of the 140th before it was made an engineer group.

He holds awards for valor during the war.

As brigade commander, Col. Dalton will be in charge of all engineering components in the Missouri Army National Guard.

Col. Crites, this past March, assumed command of the 140th Engineer Battalion which includes units in Cape Girardeau, Jackson, Perryville, Sikeston, Portageville, Farmington and Fredericktown.

He saw service during World War II in France and Germany and after the war was assigned to duty in the Pacific. He has served in various capacities in the old 140th Infantry, the 35th Division and 35th Engineer Brigade.

As a civilian, he is an optometrist.

Maj. Blattner will assume the position and duties previously held by Col. Crites.

He joined the National Guard in the spring of 1949 as a private. He has attended the Infantry Officer Advance Course, Ft. Benning, Ga., and other special military schools.

He received his commission in 1954, became a first lieutenant in 1957, a captain in 1961, and received the rank of major in 1966.

Maj. Blattner has commanded Headquarters Company, 1st Battle Group, 140th Infantry; Headquarters Company, 135th Engineer Group and served as S-3, operations and training officer, of the 135th Engineer Group.

In his civilian capacity, Maj. Blattner is president of Erlbacher Materials Inc., here.

Malden Moves to Buy Gas System

MALDEN — The first step toward the purchase of the natural gas system owned by the Associated Natural Gas Company was taken Monday night by the city council.

An ordinance exercising the City's option to purchase the natural gas system was approved unanimously by the Council. All eight members of the Council were present.

The council then retained the services of Norval Wallen of G. H. Walker Company of Kansas City, a bounding firm, and Loren C. Kolditz, an engineer. These two companies will represent the City in their negotiations with Associated and in the hearings before the Public Service Commission.

Associated Natural Gas Company is completing the final year of a 20- year franchise with the City of Malden. Under terms of the franchise, the City of Malden has an option to purchase the gas system, lines, etc., at a price to be determined in heatings before the Public Service Commission. The City is required to give a one- year's advance notice of their intentions. This was done several weeks ago.

The purchase price at this point is speculation, but it is likely to be several million dollars. This will require a bond issue subject to a vote of the people.

The City Council has the authority to purchase the gas system, but they cannot buy it unless the voters approve the bond issue. If the bond issue fails, the gas company will be granted another franchise at a rate to be determined and they will continue to operate as a private enterprise.

Should the public approve the bond issue, the bonds would be retired over a long period of time at a rate of interest as yet undetermined. The City of Malden would then take over the operation of the natural gas system and it would likely be placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works. Any profits over and above maintenance, operation costs, payments on the bonds, and interest would then go to the City of Malden.

A proposal by Gale Bridges and Herb Preyer to level the ground in the newly acquired city park at a cost of $1,100 was approved. The new park site is located at the end of North Goldsmith Street north of Broadwater Road in the northeast section of the city.

Malden's quota of $475.66 in helping to finance the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission was approved for payment.

Bids for the purchase of a new automobile for the police department were opened. Rowe Ford Sales was the successful bidder at a price of $1991.99.

Harold Towery presented a proposal to the Council to buy a new trash and garbage truck if the city would grant him a franchise to haul the refuse. The matter was discussed and tabled.

The matter of the Jehovah Witnesses erecting a church building in the Waller Addition was discussed. A motion by Leroy Evans was approved whereby the city attorney was directed to write these people a letter advising them the City Council is opposed to their building the church on the basis of a petition signed by property owners in the Waller Addition.

Yield signs were authorized to be erected at the corner of Howard at Clinton, two signs at the intersection of Graham at Johnson, two on Clinton at East Main, two on East Main at Clinton, stop sign at Graham and East Howard, stop sign on Main at Taylor and a stop sign at Howard and Taylor.

Malden Council Orders Firing Of Board Pilot

MALDEN— In an unusual and precedent setting action Monday night, the city council voted to notify members of the board of public works to relieve Ray Callanan, BPW manager, of his duties immediately and give him 30 days pay.

The motion to take this action was made by Councilman Leroy Evans of Ward II and seconded Ward I. The voter was 5-3. Voting with Evans and McCurter were Bob Jones of Ward I, John Fry of Ward III and George Anderson of Ward IV. Voting against the motion were Bill Downs of Ward II, Elsie Haywood of Ward III, and Mart Bostic of Ward IV.

This is the first time since the Board of Public Works came into existence in 1952 that a City Council has fired one of their employees. The legality of the action is questionable inasmuch as the ordinance establishing the duties of the Board of Public Works states:

(b) Said Board shall appoint the Chief Supervisor or superintendent and such subordinates it deems in its sound discretion necessary. Providing, however, that the number of employees and the compensation therefore shall be approved by the City Council and shall conform with the ordinances of the City of Malden, Missouri.

The ordinance does not make any provisions for the hiring and firing of employees by the City Council.

Callanan has been the subject of controversy for several months since he succeeded Bill Smith as manager of the municipally owned utilities. Several Council members have wanted him dismissed as long ago as last summer.

Members of the Board of Public Works, Irvin Waller, Ray Moreau, Ira Greene and Andrew Atkins, have been somewhat divided in their opinions of Callanan.

Several weeks ago (in November) Waller, Greene and Atkins met informally with Mayor Sparrel Davis and members of the City Council to discuss the status of Callanan. The Board of Public Works members said that they would like to retain the services of Callanan - at least until they could work out an existing union problem with other employees.

Leroy Evans, who made the motion to have Callanan discharged, said that he did so because in his opinion that it was evident that the BPW was not going to act.

"They (BPW members) don't receive the complaints that members of the Council receive," said Evans.

Potosi Doctor Launches Bid to Unseat Blackwell

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) - Dr. Thomas Warren, 45, of Potosi, a physician, said Thursday he has filed for the Democratic nomination for state senator in the 22nd District in an attempt to unseat Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro.

Warren said his candidacy is based on strong opposition to Blackwell's drive to have voters overturn state income tax increases passed by the legislature last year.

Cotton Quotas Not in Burlison Jurisdiction

KENNETT - Congressman Bill D. Burlison said in a letter to E. H. Webb, chairman of the Pemiscot County Farmers Committee at Hayti, that the protest of the cotton projected yields for the 1970 crop year was not a matter within the jurisdiction of members of Congress. In addition, he said members of Congress do not have authority to veto or set aside action taken by the State or National ASCS offices. Instead, he said, the matter is within the jurisdiction of the president and his Secretary of Agriculture.

The statements in the letter were made in response to petitions received in his office signed by some 1,100 residents of Pemiscot County expressing their belief that that county was not reated fairly in the apportionment by the Missouri State ASCS Committee of the 1970 projected cotton yields.

The petitions point out that after the Washington office of the ASCS had computed each county's pro rata share of the national projected cotton yield, the Missouri ASCS Committee cut the yield for Pemiscot County by 15 pounds per acre while raising the yield for New Madrid County, the home of Barry Richardson of Portageville, Southeast Missouri member of the Missouri ASCS Committee, by 20 poounds.

The protest further charged the state committee singled out Pemiscot County for a cut in yields of eight pounds per acre below the county's 10-year average of actual yields - the only major cotton county in the state to be reduced below an average of actual yields.

Although Burlison stated in the letter that the matter was not in his jurisdiction, he did say that he had conveyed his interest in the matter to George Hensen, Deputy Administrator of the ASCS in Washington. Burlison said Hansen stated the apportionment was under review by the state committee and would be subsequently reviewed by the Washington office. No further word was received fron Hansen.

Burlison also said that he, and Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas F. Eagleton had sent copies of the petitions to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin along with a letter asking for a report as to what actions have been taken in the matter as well as the facts on which decisions were based. The letter also asked what further right of appeal might be available to the protestants.

Neal Says Cut in V.A. Budget Depriving Care To Wounded

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The president of the Disabled American Veterans said Sunday a cutback of $20 million in Veterans Administration funds is depriving servicemen wounded in Vietnam of the care they would receive in private hospitals.

"I think the V.A. is doing a fine job with facilities and staff it has," said Raymond Neal of San Francisco, "but V.A. hospitals average 1.5 employes per patient while private, civilian hospitals average three employes per patient."

Neal described rehabilitation for wounded servicemen as especially critical in that helicopter teams have rescued a high number of the wounded.

"At a Saigon hospital, I saw medics deliver a seriously wounded soldier to the operating table within a half hour of the battlefield injury," he said.

Money lopped from the V.A. budget could be used to implement needed hospital programs, Neal contended.

Six tips on how to become an unforgettable American memory.

1. Stop, look and listen. That's the easiest way to encounter a foreign visitor. (And, if you don't encounter one, what will he, she —or perhaps they—have to remember you by?)

2. Prepare to jump a hurdle. What sort of hurdle? Well, let's say you've just stopped, looked and listened in a bustling bus terminal. Your alert eye catches the tentative movement of someone who takes a quick step forward. An even quicker step back. Then stands stock still, looking lost. You've spotted one! Your foreign visitor. And he (or perhaps she) is lost, but too shy to ask directions. And you're just about to offer help. But, suddenly, you can't? You're too shy too? Then that's your hurdle. Jump it. Or simply step across

3. That's not your hurdle, but you've just run into another? Your English-speaking visitor doesn't understand your answer to his question, even though it was direct and exact? It's probably his ears. Perhaps they're long attuned to British English, or Australian English, or Irish English, and they find your rapid-fire American English difficult to catch. So repeat your answer, slowly. (And quietly, of course, since no one enjoys being conspicuously uninformed.)

4. Your foreign visitor has just come in by ear? You've overheard a question and you know the answer, but the person being asked does not? Go ahead. Plunge in. The unable-to-answer answerer will be relieved, not offended. And the visitor will discover still another American who is eager (and, this time, able) to help.

5. You've been asked about bargains, and you don't know what to suggest? Phonograph records, costume jewelry, men's shirts, and ready-made clothes are all generally cheaper here than in most places abroad. And, to many foreign visitors, an American department store or discount house is an experience in itself. (So, by the way, is a visit to an ocean liner—at 50¢ in our major ports. Such visits are impossible at any price in most countries. And a flown-over Frenchman, for example, might get a kick out of visiting The France.)

6. You're stumped, you've just been asked a question in X — a language you don't know at all? Try some other language you studied in school, on the chance that he studied it too. No luck? See if he's carrying an English-X phrasebook. Perhaps you can get him to point out the question he asks. Then you can read it in translation. Thumb through until you find an English answer, then point that out in turn. Now he can read the translated answer back.

One foreign visitor's most unforgettable American memory might easily be you.

If You Were the Judge

Husband May Pay Big Charge Items

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Harold was hiving trouble keeping his nose above water in the sea of matrimony. He opened a charge account in a department store and his wife was capitalizing on it. Fortunately for Harold, however, she limited her many purchases to relatively minor items like gloves, stockings, dresses, hats, etc. But then the fateful day arrived when she went home with a $10,000 blue mink coat.

Insisting that he wasn't Fort Knox, Harold demanded to no avail that his wife take the coat back. He did the next best thing. He refused to pay for it. The result? the store ultimately sued him to collect its $10,000.

"Let them take the coat back," was Harold's position in court, "if they're brave enough to try. As far as I'm concerned, I opened the charge account for usual and ordinary purchases and not a $10,000 mink coat. Before selling such an expensive item, they should have checked with me."

"Why?" queried the attorney for the store. "There was no limitation on the charge account and Harold had authorized his wife to use it. It wasn't our problem to control her buying habits. It was his."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Harold pay for the mink?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a person who has a charge account is responsible for all purchases by those authorized to buy on the account prior to a cancellation or withdrawal of the authority. Since Harold's account had no limit, concluded the judge, and since his wife had the authority to use the account, Harold had to pay for the coat.

(Based upon a 1955 Illinois Appellate Court Decision)

Good Progress on Noranda Smelter and Power Plant

NEW MADRID Construction progress remains good at the site of the Noranda Aluminum Reduction Plant in New Madrid's St. Jude Industrial Park, though hampered some by bad weather.

Delivery of structural steel and heavy equipment by rail is continuing. Erection of steel for the potline is about half complete, and aluminum siding is being installed.

The steel frames for two other major buildings are well along, and most of the major building foundations throughout the plant are complete. Work is continuing on remaining utilities and foundations, and erection of the two large alumina storage tanks is nearing completion.

Two of the plant's materials handling conveyors are also taking shape, including one nearly 2000 feet long which will transport alumina from the barge unloading dock on the river.

The dock itself, and a bridge to it, are also nearing completion.

The first prototype reduction cell is now being assembled in the potline, preparatory to production - line style installation of the remaining 173 cells scheduled to start in April. These cells, or "Pots," are the key to the aluminum production currently expected to start next November.

Installation of the first of the plant's heavy equipment has also started, including several electrical transformers weighing over 200,000 pounds at the reduction plant site to date over 208,000 cubic yards of earth has been excavated, over 650,000 tons of structural steel has been erected, nearly 30,000 cubic yards of concrete has been placed, and nearly four miles of utility piping has been laid.

The 600- million watt electrical power plant, being built adjacent to the smelter site for the City of New Madrid, is also progressing well. Several of the plant's warehouses and office buildings have been erected, roads and railroads are essentially complete for the time being, and excavation and pile driving for boiler foundations in the Power Plant proper are well underway.

Over 2000 concrete- filled piles will be required to support the building and its heavy equipment

At present, over 1000 construction workers are employed on the two sites.

The reduction plant is being designed and built by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland Calif. The power plant is being designed by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City, and built by Kaiser Engineers.

Sewer Plan Changed At Oran

ORAN The board of aldermen meeting with city engineer C. R. Trotter reviewed the plans for sewer line extensions concentrating their efforts on serving the areas of Melody Lane and Pfefferkorn's Additions.

This area is known as Project I for an earlier three-part plan for modernization of the city's sewers.

In 1966 the cost of work involved in Project I was estimated at $75,000. At the meeting with engineer Trotter last Friday the board cut the cost of this project to about $40,000.

City officials said this plan would still bring sewer lines to all residents in the Melody Lane and Pfefferkorn Additions. It does not include any of the work outlined in Project II and III.

Oran voters approved three bond issues for this work in 1967 when they passed a general obligation bond for $15,000 in fire fighting equipment; a general obligation bond for $30,000 for sewer extensions; and for sewer work.

The sewer bonds have never been issued because the council has rejected two previous bids on the project as too costly.

The council now feels that the plan should include the recent revisions making the cost about $40,000. This can be paid for by some $30,000 now in the city's depreciation and surplus funds for the water and sewer department.

The remaining $10,000 needed could be financed by issuing part of the bonds already passed by the voters, a city official said.

One feature of the new plan being advanced is that the sewage would be carried to the pressure lines by forced air. This would reduce the cost of the project and still serve the same area.

A city official said work could start on the project as soon as the water level is satisfactory for earth work.

Council Votes Kennett Bond Issue Increase

KENNETT — The city council voted to add an additional $43,000 to a proposed $65,000 general obligation bond issue to be voted on by Kennett residents.

The original $65,000 will be used to provide water and sewer facilities for the newly- annexed Wilburn Heights addition. The additional $43,000 will be used to provide water and sewer facilities for the Westgate Subdivision, being developed by Register Byrd and C. L. Reagan. The subdivision includes 80 lots in the western part of Kennett.

Mayor Sol Astrachan and the council emphasized that the bond will be paid off by tax liens against the property to be improved and will in no way affect the tax rate of Kennett citizens. The property owners receiving the benefits will bear the cost.

City Counselor Harold Treasure was instructed to draw up a new ordinance, incorporating the new request. The original bond issue was scheduled to be voted on February 3. The new issue will be delayed a few weeks to allow for proper publication notices. The date for that election has not been set. A two- thirds majority is required for passage of the bond issue.

A Strange Tale Of Odd People

THE PARTY AT MRS PUREFOY'S. By Ward Dorrance. Delacorte. $5.95.

In this strange novel Dorrance has told a tale of surrealistic events.

The central figure is Alfred Armiger, an apple-cheeked, white-haired codger of the old school, who lives with his prissy, old maid sister Pauline, in a small Southern town of years ago.

Alfred is one of those perennial bachelors who in his youth had suffered moon-calf love for various ladies, including a rather flamboyant widow named Amelia Purefoy, who was 20 years his senior. He had met Amelia's niece Cecelia, who was nearer his own age, and had been shocked by her strange modern ways.

The narrative is keyed to a tremendous flood which threatens the whole countryside. Alfred receives a cryptic message from Cecelia about a final party at the old Purefoy place and sets forth in the midst of the flood to join it.

What he finds is a drunken orgy in the gutted shell of the old house, and Cecelia turns out to be a blowzy old harridan who gives him a very hard time.

The author has portrayed an odd set of characters in an odd setting. Part of the entertainment is the way in which he depicts their strange behavior.

Fire Destroys Mobile Home

BLOOMFIELD — A 1969 Crimson Model Mobile home caught fire and completely burned three miles north of Bloomfield on Highway 25 at 4:20 p.m. Jan. 15.

The mobile home was being towed by a 1965 Dodge moble home tractor when the driver, Fred Burns of Cape Girardeau, noticed smoke and steam coming from the trailer. Burns pulled off the highway onto a roadside park and disconnected the tractor from the trailer.

Burns tried to summon help but no fire department was available.

The mobile home, owned by Tom Edingburg of Poplar Bluff, was in the process of being moved from Poplar Bluff to Cape Girardeau.

Included in the contest, which were all lost, were several expensive guns.

According to Gene Snell, manager of Bell Telephone in Dexter, two large cables serving citizens north of Bloomfield were burned leaving those people without telephone service for a period of 20 hours.

Also, due to the fire, traffic was held up for a period of 2-3 hours.

Heart Ailments Main Death Cause

This is the first of a series of three articles presented by the Missouri Heart Association to inform readers of this newspaper about progress in the fight against heart and circulatory diseases.

With diseases of the heart and blood vessels responsible for more than half of all deaths in the United States, it is obvious that an immense challenge faces medical scientists seeking to identify the precise mechanisms responsible for "hardening of the arteries" (atherosclerosis) and high blood pressure, the two leading causes of heart attack and stroke.

Until this mechanisms are fully understood, paving the way for prevention or even cures, is there anything that can be done to reduce the toll of more than 1,000,000 lives yearly?

The answer is yes. In this series of three articles, we will examine some of the presently - available methods of treatment and prevention -- advances that are saving hearts and lives as of this very moment. Virtually all of them were speeded by the Heart Fund, the first national campaign of which was conducted just 21 years ago.

Let's begin with coronary artery disease, which includes heart attack and which kills about 573,000 people yearly in this country. In this category, a heart - saving development of profound importance has been the coronary care unit, now functioning in hundreds of American hospitals but lacking in many others.

For those who survive heart attack long enough to make it to a hospital, coronary care service can literally spell the difference between life and death. In-hospital deaths following heart attacks can be reduced by about 30 per cent if patients get high - quality coronary care service rather than routine hospitalization. Some authorities believe that coronary care units have an ultimate potential of saving up to 50,000 lives yearly in this country.

In these installations, the heart's electrical activity is monitored continuously, with an alarm system bringing trained personnel within seconds if there is any change in heart rhythm or rate above or below a preset range. Some units also monitor temperature, respiration and blood pressure. Additionally, there may be an "instant replay" system to permit quick review of chantes which have occurred during the several moments which precede a crisis.

Such a crises usually occurs within 72 hours of the heart attack and most often involve an irregularly beating heart, shock or cardiac failure. Once the alarm is given, corrective measures can be applied. These include intravenous medications, electrical methods of re-starting or re-pacing the heart, mouth - to - mouth breathing, chest compression and others. Quite often fibrillating hearts -- those beating with total irregularity -- can ultimately be restored to normal function.

Heart Associations throughout the country are sponsoring coronary care training programs for physicians and nurses and are carrying forward intensive educational programs underscoring the value and essentiality of this service.

Yet another under - utilized technique -- designed to meet emergency situations on the street, or in the home, office or factory -- is external compression of the sternum combined with mouth - to - mouth air ventialation following "cardiac arrest" - a term used to describe sudden cessation of circulatory function. The idea is to keep oxygenated blood flowing to the brain until appropriate medical treatment can be applied to restore normal heart function.

To meet this need, Heart Associations throughout the country are conducting educational programs which should enable physicians and nurses, and police, firemen, utility workers and ambulance attendants as well to apply emergency measures when signs of sudden death are evident. A significant number of cardiac arrest victims can be saved if resuscitation maneuvers are started promptly - usually no later than four minutes after the arrest occurs.

Ground is just being broken in another promising area - the mobile coronary care unit. Here, ambulances or helicopters would be equipped with monitoring devices, and would be manned by persons prepared to restart or repace a heart in grave peril during the extremely critical moments between the heart attack and the patient's admittance to a coronary care unit of a hospital.

If optimal performance and equipment were available in these two additional areas -- on-the-spot resuscitation and mobile coronary care units -- the additional saving might run into the thousands and perhaps even into the tens of thousands.

As matters now stand, should you suffer a heart attack and go into cardiac arrest, you will be extremely fortunate to have at your side a trained person capable of recognizing certain symptoms and applying emergency measures. And your chances will be much improved if you obtain high quality coronary care service, rather than than routine hospitalization.

Next: Reducing the risk of heart attack.

Hayti Council Slaps Lid On Liquor and Gambling

HAYTI — At a meeting of the Hayti board of aldermen on Monday night, it was agreed by members and law enforcement officers that all businesses operating on cafe licenses or without any license and who are permitting gambling and violations of liquor laws will be closed immediately.

According to Chief of Police Fritz McKay, this applies to only one place at the present time. Last week the Big Apple Cafe operated by J. B. Snow was closed after a raid by investigators of State Liquor Control Department and members of the State Patrol. On Saturday night of last week the Flat Top Cafe, operated by Charley Hardin, was closed following the fatal shooting of a customer by Officer Ed Hendrix, Chief McKay told the Board that during the investigation of the shooting six packs of beer were found in the drink box.

Chief McKay said that to his knowledge the only other place violating Liquor and Gambling Laws was operated by Pete Lannie at Lannie's Grocery on West Highway 84. When questioned as to what was in the building, Chief McKay stated that there was a Juke Box, Crap Table, chairs and tables where customers could loaf and drink. When questioned as to the action he had taken he stated that he was waiting for the action of the Board before making an arrest and closing the place.

All three of the places named were operated for Negro customers. None had either a beer or liquor license, and by common knowledge, of the citizens of Hayti, City Officials and Law Enforcement Officers have operated for many years as places where the Negro population could congregate to eat, drink and gamble. Their only source of beer and liquor have been through the (legitimate) white liquor retailers of Hayti.

Previous to the discussion concerning the closing of the Negro cafes. Alderman Boyd McCrary had brought to the attention of the Board that at a previous meeting they had voted unanimously on this issue, and the Chief of Police had been directed that said places should be closed at midnight. He said that this order had not been carried out and intimated that it had been superseded by orders from the mayor or someone else. He also said that it was his belief that someone was being paid off to allow them to operate. This statement was not clarified as whether he was referring to city officials or the law enforcement department. He also stated that he thought it was time that Hayti had a new head of the Police Deparment. This was evidently in reference to the state statute which gives the mayor authority over the police department in class 4 cities; and by charges from Chief of Police Fritz McKay that he could not perform his duties because of interference from the mayor.

Alderman George Metzger charged that Chief of Police McKay had lied in published reports in out of town newspapers that his hands were tied because of politics. He asked McKay if he had to ask anyone's permission before making an arrest for law violation and if his authority ended after the arrest was made and charges filed. Chief McKay said that he did have that authority. He was then asked by Alderman Metzger if he had made any arrests on the illegal bootlegging and gambling which had been published. He answered that he had not.

Mayor Bain told the board that if he was head of the police department, he wanted officer Ed Hendrix suspended from duty until the investigation of Saturday night's fatal shooting was completed.

This was subjected to by Alderman McCrary. Chief McKay stated that he had asked for a coroner's inquest which was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. After discussion it was agreed that officer Hendrix should be suspended until the result of the coroner's inquest is known.

Liquor Agents Charge Orton Ran Them Out

ST. LOUIS - Alabama state liquor agents twice offered evidence that Caruthersville, was the hub of a whisky bootleg operation to Pemiscot County Sheriff Clyde Orton but were run out of town for their efforts by the sheriff, the agents reported.

The agents' allegations are expected to be presented in an ouster suit against Orton that has been filed by Missouri Attorney General John C. Danforth.

The sheriff has denied running any agents out of town.

The agents reported they were staked out in Caruthersville on July 5, 1967, gathering evidence that illegal whisky was being brought and transported illegally into the dry counties of Alabama.

They said a sheriff's car and a Caruthersville police car approached them. After they identified themselves and asked for the cooperation of local law enforcement authorities, they were escorted to the ferry across the Mississippi River and told not to come back, the agents said.

The agents went upstream 12 miles to another ferry crossing and came back into Pemiscot County. To their surprise, Orton was waiting for them and this time the sheriff accompanied them to his office, they said. They reported that Orton told them there was no illegal whisky - running from his county into southern states and told them to leave. They then left and didn't come back.

The agents reported they had names of suspects, auto license numbers and names of places involved in the operation, but the sheriff refused to cooperate.

Liquor agents from Mississippi said they had been run out of the county last year under threat of being put in jail when they were in Pemiscot County checking on an illegal whisky - running operation into the dry counties of their state.

Orton has denied all of the allegations and said he is not aware of wide open, notorious liquor law violations in his county as charged in the attorney general's suit.

The ouster suit was filed last weekend after a three-month investigation by liquor agents under State Liquor Controll Supervisor Harry Wiggins and undercover agents of the attorney general's office.

Only 265 Bills Pass In First Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only 190 public bills and 75 private relief bills were enacted into law by the lengthy first sesscon of the 91st Congress which ended Dec. 23.

There were 21,553 bills and resolutions introduced during the session which found the Senate in session 926 hours, 56 minutes and the House meeting for 747 hours, 21 minutes.

It was longer and less productive than the first session of the 90th Congress which enacted 249 public bills and 204 private bills out of 20,387 introduced in 1967.

The summary was included Tuesday in an appendix to the Congressional Record, a publication which cost slightly over $5 million to print last year.

Dexter Suit to High Court

DEXTER — An injunction filed against the City of Dexter, challenging the results of the Nov. 18 sewer bond election, has been appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court, Jefferson City.

The injunction, originally filed in mid- December, was dismissed by Circuit Judge William Billings, after the city had filed a dismissal motion.

The injunction was filed by Homer Scott and John H. Thomason, both residents of Dexter, and stemmed from a controversial bond election held in November. After that election, the first, and unofficial, returns showed that the $375,000 sewer and water propositions had failed by a very few votes. A later official canvass of the returns by city officials and election clerks disclosed, mistakes in the tabulation, and showed that the sewer proposition had passed by exactly the two- thirds majority needed.

The injunction was filed challenging the results of the election, and asking the court to stop the City from issuing the bonds and beginning work on the sewer project.

Judge Billings dismissed the injunction, with prejudice, earlier this month. "With prejudice" in legal terms meant that the injunction could not be filed in he Circuit Court again.

The appeal to the Supreme Court came this wee, filed once again by the plaintiffs, Scott and Thomason, through their attorney, Manuel Drumm, Sikeston.

Prison Term For Stealing Deputy's Motor

BLOOMFIELD - A Sikeston man was convicted in circuit court Thursday of stealing an outboard motor from the home of a Stoddard county deputy sheriff and was sentenced to five years in prison.

A 12-man jury handed down the sentence to John Walker Hunt, 29, who took a 40 horsepower outboard motor from behind the home of Deputy Sheriff Cecil Hicks in Essex, Sept. 11. Hunt was apprehended the following day.

He obtained bond. However, the agency withdrew the bond and Hunt was placed in the county jail, where he is now being kept, Prosecuting Attorney Paul McGhee said.

Hunt has until Feb. 16 to appeal the jury's verdict, at which time, he is to be imprisoned.

Bloodmobile Will Come to Charleston

CHARLESTON — The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Charleston Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. David N. Thompson, Red Cross office manager, said today there has been an unexpected response to the appeal for blood donors, and it will be necessary to have the program for two days.

She requests that all donors who do not have appointments come to the Bloodmobile on Wednesday, Jan. 28, instead of Tuesday, Jan. 27, as the blood unit is booked solid on Tuesday.

On the 27th the hours will be 11 a.m. until 4 p.m., and on Wednesday, the 28th, the hours will be 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Mrs. Thompson said it costs nothing to give blood, and the process is almost completely painless. Persons from 18 to 21 years of age must have the consent of their parents in order to donate, and persons over 65 must have a health statement from a physician.

Blood donated to the Bloodmobile is used to replace blood used by patients in hospitals throughout the United States. If a donor or members of his immediate family need blood transfusion, they receive free blood from the Red Cross program.

Reminder cards will be sent to all who have agreed to donate blood. Some donors have been scheduled for the 28th, instead of the 27th as originally agreed to, as the reminder cards should be read carefully.

Cape Girardeau police said the victim was a passenger in a car being driven north on highway 61 by her husband, James M. Christman, 17, of Dexter. Officers said he was not injured.

The accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Hayward J. Poe, 912 South Sprigg, attempted to make a left turn from highway 61 onto highway 74, police said. The Poe vehicle was struck as it crossed the northbound lane of highway 61, officers said.

Boy Accused Of Assault In Blytheville

BLYTHEVILLE — A 17-year - old Blytheville Negro youth has been charged with assault with intent to rob an 18-year- old Kennett girl here. He is accused of attacking the Kennett teenager at a service station in Blytheville Wednesday night.

Officers said the victim, Vickie Elaine Rhodes, a college student at Cape Girardeau who is on semester break, was returning to her home in Kennett Wednesday night after shopping in Memphis.

Officers said Miss Rhodes pulled into a service station at South 61 and McHaney Road about 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Moments later as she came out of the station's rest room, the suspect jumped from hiding and allegedly grabbed Miss Rhodes by the throat, pushing her back inside.

She told officers her assailant warned her not to scream and said all he wanted was her money.

During the struggle, officers said she broke free twice and screamed for help. Her cries brought assistance from the station attendant and two customers.

When the three went to Miss Rhodes' aid, police said two of the men caught and detained the suspect briefly, but he escaped and ran across Highway 61.

A search was begun shortly afterwards when police arrived, and authorities arrested the youth - whose name was not given due to juvenile laws- at the home of a relative two hours late.

Officers said Miss Rhodes was not injured, but added, "she was pretty scared, as you can imagine."

The suspect was arraigned Thursday morning in Blytheville court. Officers said he will be bound over for trial during the spring term of Circuit Court.

Vickie is the daughter of Mrs. Elma Rhodes of 203 West Fifth in Kennett.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
CONSERVATION AND FREE ENTERPRISE

Over the past few decades, the American alligator has been facing the danger of extinction. We think that the end of any species of wildlife is a tragic loss and should be prevented at all cost.

There has been much talk, but little done to preserve the natural abundance of our nation. Today there is some hope for the whooping crane. With some luck the bald eagle - symbol of our country - will also be saved. We can be thankful that the bison is thriving under the protection of conservationists.

But, unfortunately, the lowly alligator doesn't lend himself to the eye of the amateur naturalist. He isn't graceful as is the crane. He doesn't soar majestically above the mountaintops as does the eagle. And he doesn't share the historic drama of the chase across the plains like the bison. To be candid, his profile - to use a public relations term - is not good. His only apparent worth is the posthumous use of his hide.

Although technically "protected", some 15,000 black market gator pelts escape the scrutiny of game wardens each year. All efforts to stop this ravaging has failed. Vanity must be served, and just as humans continue to purchase coats made of the fur of vanishing animal species, despite please to stop, so continues the sale of gator shoes, bags and wallets.

The State of Florida Indian Affairs Commission has now come forth with a plan which we think is a stroke of genius. They propose to grant permission to two Florida Indian tribes, the Seminoles and the Miccosukees, to raise gators. The plan would not only eventually restock the swamps, but the Indians would also have the right, as well as the responsibility, to police the swamps in defense of the reptiles. And since the gator herds would be their own income - producing private property, it is our guess that when it comes to extinction, that fate would fall to would - be poachers and not to the alligators.

The free enterprise system has been harnessed to produce all sorts of good things, and we congratulate the Florida Indian Affairs Commission for using the profit motive to save, rather than to destroy, the noble alligator.

Let us all remember: To be born free is an accident. To live free is a responsibility and to die free is an obligation.

CANADIAN CENTENNIALS

When it became a part of Canada 100 years ago, Manitoba was a forest and clear - water wilderness. Into it traders carried gunpowder, firewater, priests and civilization. Out of it they brought furs from the Hudson's Bay Company.

The Canadian Pacific Railway was punched westward through Manitoba in 1885 and it revolutionized the province north of North Dakota and Minnesota, making it one of Canada's great wheat - producing areas. The Northwest Territories also became a part of Canada in 1870, but there was nothing on the scale of a railroad or Manitoba's graineries to mitigate the arctic wind.

Observance of the centennials gets off to a low-key start on Tuesday, Jan. 27, when Canada's Post Office will issue two commemorative stamps. Centerpiece of the 1970 celebrations will be the visit next July of Queen Elizabeth to the province and the territory. The fanfare masks serious problems in the territories currently confronting Canadian lawmakers.

While inflation and French Canadian nationalism in Quebec are undoubtedly Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's chief concerns, he must also wrestle with how to dispose of an enormous backlog of unsold wheat bursting the grain elevators in Manitoba and other prairie provinces. Up north, and through most parts of Canada, the government must find ways to bring the native populations into the wider affluence of the Canadian people -- a problem as long - standing and intractable in Canada as it is in the United States.

State Republican Chairman Elenier E. Smith vows full-scale effort to unseat U. S. Representative Bill Burlison.

We wonder where he is going to come with a stronger candidate that they had in the last election.

It is a good thing for the Democrats in Missouri that Clarence Smith has little enough sense to think that he can produce a winner who will retire Bill Burlison.

TEACHER POWER

Teachers of the nation unite -- if not to lose your chains, at least to present a united front when requesting government funds, needed school reforms, and higher salaries. So goes the argument for unification of the two major teacher associations. If, during the week of Jan. 19, the Los Angeles affiliates of the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers vote to merge, the two organizations will become the United Teachers - Los Angeles on Sunday Feb. 1.

In the past, relations between the two organizations often have been bitter. N.E.A., with over 1 million members, has been conservative, professional, wealthy, and state-oriented. The A.F.L. - C.I.O. - affiliated A.F.T., whose 175,000 members are centered in large northern cities, has long advocated collective bargaining and has sanctioned the strike weapon.

Since 1967, when N.E.A. rescinded its strike prohibition and demanded integration of its all-white chapters, cooperation between the two groups has grown. In September, both joined in a one-day teachers' strike in Los Angeles. In October, the first merger took place in Flint, Mich. Recently the two groups formed a powerful lobby for a costlier Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill.

The A.F.T. favors immediate unification at the national level and N.E.A. prefers a piecemeal approach. But both predict that within ten years there will be one unified organization representing classroom teachers. This merger would give teachers the largest union in the world and an influential voice in the political process.

FIGHTING AND TALKING

The French have a phrase for it -- dialogue de shourds -- a dialogue of the deaf. This is what appears to be going on in Paris where expanded peace talks between the United States, South Viet Nam, North Viet Nam and the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) began one year ago -- on Jan. 18, 1969 -- with a fanfare of hope. But a year later they are deadlocked. Meantime, 9.053 more Americans have died in Viet Nam -- almost one-fourth of the 40,040 killed since Jan. 1, 1961.

Repetitious invective and propaganda, every word of it duly translated into English, French and Vietnamese, fills most of the meetings. "What is watched for is not a new fact," writes Ward Just in the Atlantic Monthly, "but a change in tone by Hanoi ..." In recent weeks, one side or the other has boycotted the talks. The North sat out the 49th session which began the 1970 round on Jan. 8.

Who is to blame for the deadlock? Both sides accuse the other of intransigence and being uninterested in a negotiated settlement. Stepping down as chief U. S. negotiator last December after eleven months, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said: "The only concrete progress here is agreement on the shape of the table." Xuan Thuy, head of the Hanoi delegation has accused the United States of "sabotage" and "downgrading" the talks.

Preliminary negotiations in Paris began on May 10, 1968, following President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election and the partial bombing halt of North Viet Nam. To the suprise of few persons familiar with Communist negotiating methods, the talks immediately bogged down over the shape of the table to be set up in the International Conference Center, once the elegant Hotel Majestic. Washington's decision to order a complete bombing halt on Oct. 31, 1968, paved the way to expanded talks early in 1969.

Four days before his inauguration, President Nixon said his administration would pursue the expanded peace talks with "energy and purpose." But within a few weeks they had again reached an impasse.

On May 14, the President unveiled an 8-point peace plan calling for a phased, mutual withdrawal of all non-South Vietnamese forces from South Viet Nam and the holding of free elections in the South "as soon as possible" under international supervision. Just a few days before, the North Vietnamese had put forward their own 10-point plan calling for unilateral withdrawal of American troops and participation of the NLF in the governing of the South before the elections.

In this speech, Mr. Nixon outlined his policy for ending the war: assumption of more of the burden of fighting by the South Vietnamese, progress at the peace table and a lessening of enemy activity. But as 1969 drew to a close, it appeared less emphasis was being placed on the Paris talks. In a televised report to the nation last Nov. 3, the President disclosed that all peace initiatives taken by the United States, including private talks among the negotiators and a personal letter to Ho Chi Minh, had not produced progress.

A few days later Ambassador Lodge announced his resignation. He was replaced by Philip C. Habib, a career diplomat. As he left for home, a weary Henry Cabot Lodge summed up the view held by many observers: that the war might end without a negotiated settlement at Paris. If such a settlement is unobtainable, he said, "and you can get a de facto arrangement where people don't kill each other any more, that's really the important thing, isn't it?"

AFRICAN ART

"Through art we express our conception of what nature is not," said Pablo Picasso. The quote applies at the National Gallery of Art in Washington where an important showing of African sculpture will open on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

Douglas Lewis, curator of sculpture at the National Gallery, says African art does not mirror the visible world but attempts to portray gods and spirits operating powerfully just beyond the pale of physical reality. Picasso was heavily influenced by the idea and form of Negro sculpture. The inspiration he found in it led directly to Cubism.

That African sculpture is a precursor of modern abstract art provides justification for this show. A more basic raison d'etre, however, lies in the phrase "Black is beautiful." While not denying the obvious implications for the Afro - American heritage, spokesmen at the National Gallery say the show stands firmly on artistic rather than racial feet. Lewis says the subtlety in many of the 200 pieces "proves that a society can lack the material values of our own and still be sophisticated in such matters as religion, philosophy and art."

"Passing another vehicle is a potentially dangerous maneuver," it was noted today by Colonel E.I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"Whenever you pass another vehicle on a two - land highway, you occupy for several seconds the same lane as approaching traffic," Hockaday pointed out. "A miscalculation or a moment of inattention on your part, and you can be involved in a head - on collision. Drivers must therefore know and practice all safe passing techniques as they travel the highways."

The Patrol Superintendent listed the following pointers on the art of making successful passes: 1. Watch for traffic signs and pavement lines and markings. A solid yellow line in your lane next to the center line means it is unsafe to pass because of some vision obstruction on the highway. Certain traffic signs also advise when not to pass. 2. Check your rearview mirrors and glance over your left shoulder before leaving your lane to pass another vehicle. Use your signals to indicate you are leaving or returning to the right lane. 3. Sound your horn before passing, and at night also approach with your lights on low beam. 4. Once you have started to pass another vehicle, don't delay. After you have passed, return to the right lane when you see the front of the other vehicle in your mirror. 5. Try not to pass more than one vehicle at a time on two - lane roads. 6. Don't overtake a slowly moving vehicle too rapidly; the driver may be about to make a left turn.

"The passing maneuver is not difficult," Colonel Hockaday continued, "but it does require a driver to make quick and accurate decisions. I urge you to use common sense and practice safe passing techniques when you contemplate overtaking another vehicle."

People buy something everyday. Take a worker who receives a check of $100 on Friday, by the next Friday he has very little left. Yes, this money is spent on everyday needs, and someone is in business for every need of this person. Every businessman wants this customer to walk into his store or to be called for services. A 66 PCT.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY

It is somehow comforting to learn that with all the awesome precision with which they go about their business, space men can still slip up on minor - and, fortunately, harmless - matters, such as candles.

Moon walker Neil Armstrong, we have all been informed, celebrated his 39th birthday the other day. But since candles was one item someone had forgotten to stock for the astronauts' Houston quarantine, he had to make do with 26, all the chef could scrape together.

The incident certainly didn't upset Armstrong or shake the space program, but it just might possibly have considerable impact in other quarters. If a little oversight like this isn't enough to give American women serious thoughts about cracking one of the last and at the same time newest male- only preserves, space flight, we don't know what is.

H.L. Hunt Says

THE POWER OF
THE BUREAUCRACY

The day to day policies of the government often do not seem to change significantly when there is a change of administrations in Washington. The primary reason is that significant personnel chages are not made throughout the many echelons of the bureaucracy, and thus many of the same individuals continue to make and carry out policy.

These bureaucrats make reports, choose what information cabinet officers and other appointed and elected officials will see, and implement decisions made by higher authorities, often choosing whether to implement them well or poorly in accordance with their own ideology.

There are many recent examples of the way in which bureaucrats can in effect make policy for the countrv. At a meeting in Colorado, lawyers working in he legal aid division of the Office of Economic Opportunity demaded "iron clad assurances" that they would be allowed to follow their "aggressive advocacy in behalf of the poor."

These "aggressive" actions have often helped to stir up violence and disrupt whole communities, yet these lawyers wanted assurance that they that they could continue these policies without any restraint by those who have the nominal policy - making authority.

The State Department bureaucracy, desperately in need of housecleaning, had demanded even more control over personnel practicis than it already has. Recently John Hemenway, who worked at the Berlin desk in the State Department and was a confirmed anti - communits, lost his job because of pressure from other bureaucrats.

If the pro - freedom policies which the people of our county desire are ever to be implemented, there must be a vast shake - up in the bureaucracy. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The respected name of House GOP leader Gerald Ford has been up in the investigation of fixer Nathan Voloshen and House aide Martin Sweig.

The two wheeler - dealers have been indicted by a New York grand jury for using Speaker John McCormack's office for influence peddling. This column has now learned that a third member of their fixit team, Robert Winterberger, operated occasionally out of Ford's office.

Winterberger has avoided prosecurion by cooperating with the grand jury. He is expected to appear as a government witness against Voloshen and Sweig at their trial.

Early in the investigation, Assistant Attorney General Will Wilson, who runs the Justice Department's Criminal Division, paid a secret call upon Ford to question him about Winterberger.

The GOP leader, who will succeed Speaker John McCormack if the Republicans should win control of the House in November, acknowledged to this column that Winterberger had dropped by his office occasionally but denied any knowledge of wrongdoing.

Ford said he had turned Winterberger over to his administrative assistnat, Frnak Meyer, who had made some "routin" inquiries such as "any congressional office would have done" for him.

Ford also recalled that Winterberger had come to his office "well recommended," but couldn't remember who had recommended him.

No one who knows Jerry Ford believes he would allow his name to be used by an influence - peddling ring. But in the back - slapping, back - scratching, favor - swapping environment on Capitol Hill, it is easy for a con man to take advantage of a Congressman's potent name.

Note: Winterberger was involved with Voloshen in a few alleged fixes, including the skillful shakedown of convicted embezzler Eddie Gilbert. Federal authorities told this column that Winterberger had been "moderatley helpful" in building the case against Voloshen nd Sweig.

-UNLIKELY REMBRANT-

Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, hotshot big game hunter and investment banker, is now trying to become the Rembrandt to the Nixon cabinet. To the distress of artists at the Commerce Department, he has personally redesigned all of the department's publications.

For years, Commerce's art work had all the flare of a second mortgage. Then, in the Kennedy years, outside consultants were brought in.

With their encouragement, Commerce's own artists began turning out books and pamplets from the Weather, Census, and other prosaic offices that oftern have the smart dash of fine magazine covers.

Recently, however, Stans sat down with a couple sheets of yellow foolscap and decided to improve upon his trained artists, so that everyone would know the publications came from Commerce.

Everyone will. The artists dutifully laid out about 30 variations of Stans's vasic humdrum scheme, and Stans, with a keen eye for the ordinary, has selected one of them. With its dull verticals and horizontals, it reflects his accounting backgroud bu not much artistic talent.

Nevertheless, the Secretary in an internal memorandum decreed that his "format applies to all priented materials," thus confining his artists to his rigid decor.

-MESSAGE FROM VIETNAM-

On the eve of another Tet, North Vietnam again is gearing up its military machine in the South.

The infiltration rate down he Ho Chi Minh network of trails from North to South Vietnam is carefully monitored by electronic sensors planted along the trails, reconnaissance planes loaded with sophisticated surveillance equipment, and behing - the - lines observation teams. known as the "gray ghosts."

Last month, close to 15,000 trucks were counted moving war supplies southward. The North Vietnamese have also installed anti - aircraft guns along the infiltration routes to fight off American bombers. Thus, while the bombing of the supply columns has been intensified, the North Vietnamese have been able to keep the supplies moving down the trails, both day and night.

The enemy build - up has been greatest at the two ends of South Vietnam -- in the rain forests of the North and the Mekong delta in South.

Most intelligence experts doubt that the communists intend to launch another Tet offensive. One theory is that the communists merely are building up their capability for bargaining purposes at the Paris truce table. The majority opinion, however, is that the enemy will strike hard to inflict heavy losses on the South Vietnamese, thereby disrupting President Nixon's Vietnamization of the war and impressing upon the American people that the war will continue until the U.S. pulls out.

-ASTRONAUTS' MORAL LOW-

The cutbacks in the space program have caused a serious morale problem among astronauts. Because of the expected budget cuts, no more manned flights are scheduled after 1974.

his means there are now more astronauts than can possibly be crowded into the available spaceships. And astronauts, who have gone through the intense training for space flight, are worried that they may never get a chance to fly in space.

Turkey Season Set

MISSOURI TURKEY hunters will have two days longer this year, April 22-28, to pursue their wary prey. Gobblers only are legal. There will be three new counties this season -- Miller, Monroe and Sullivan -- to make a total of 41 open for turkey hunting. (Department of Conservation photo).

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri turkey hunters will have more time to zero in on their bronze - feathered trophies this spring with the addition of two days to the 1970 season.

The Conservation Commission has set April 22-28 as the season and has added three counties, Monroe, Miller and Sullivan, to make 41 open counties.

Turkey biologist John Lewis says the liberalized season has several reasons behind it. "First, all indications are that we had a good hatch in 1969. The bulk of the kill each spring is two- year old gobblers, so the bulk of the last hatch won't be reflected until next year, but there still will be more juvenile gobblers in the 1970 bag.

"Then, we feel the additional season length will provide additional hunting opportunity in case there is bad weather for part of the season. And finally we hope to spread out both the hunting and the hunters. Turkey hunters don't want a lot of other hunters in the woods with them."

Weather is a prime factor in the spring turkey season, for that is what triggers gobbling activity and response to hunter calls. Wet or cold weather chills turkey passion and results in fewer gobblers brought to bag.

The turkey regulation hasn't been changed much from the 1969 season. One addition is that hunters legally may take birds with visible beards. Every year, there are some bearded hens taken by hunters who believe they are gobblers (since gobblers normally are the only birds with beards).

Hunters must use shotguns with shotshells or longbows-- and can't use dogs or recorded calls. Shooting hours will be 5 A.M. to noon, Central Standard Time.

Open counties include: Adair, Barry, Bollinger, Butler, Callaway, Camden, Carter, Cedar, Crawford, Dent, Douglas, Franklin, Gasconade, Hickroy, Howell, Iron, Jefferson, Madison, McDonald, Miller, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, New Madrid, Osage, Ozark, Perry, Phelps, Pulaski, Reynolds, Shannon, St. Clair, Ste. Kansas State, rated a darkhorse before the 1970 Big Eight basketball race opened, may find itself in the somewhat stunning position of being the team to beat by the end of this week.

The Wildcats, conference champions two years ago who surrendered the title to Colorado, picked up their second critical road victory Monday night, dispatching Oklahoma State, 71-60, at Stillwater. They stand 4-0.

Now, the Cats prepare to take on Missouri's second- place Tigers, 3-1, Saturday afternoon in a regionally - televised game at Manhattan, Kan. A home court victory would shove the Wildcats into a 5-0 start in quest of another Big Eight crown.

Waves, Jays Win At Poplar Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF – Malden and Charleston, the first and fourth seeded teams, took first round wins of the 18th annual Poplar Bluff invitational basketball tournament last night.

Coach Vivan Reed's Green Waves breezed to their 17th straight beating Twin Rivers of Fisk, 85-57.

Charleston fought off Neelyville for a 76-71 win and a semi - final berth Thursday, when it goes against the unbeaten Waves.

Final first round action will be played tonight, with Poplar Bluff and Doniphan getting the action started at 7 p.m. and Sikeston and Kennett ending it with an 8:30 p.m battle.

High scoring Malden ripped to a 28-6 first quarter lead and then played along with Twin Rivers squad to move into the semi - finals.

Carl Holloway and Willie Wilson maintained their 20 point plus scoring averages in leading the Waves scoring, netting 27 and 23 points respectively. Tom Burke had 23 for Rivers top effort.

Charleston built up a gradual lead and fought off numerous Tiger bids to win 76-71.

The Bluejays had four players scoring in double figures, with Phil Clemons heading the group with 19 points.

Coach Charles Moffitt got high game scoring from Larry Wills and Bill McKinley, who netted 27 and 26 points respectively, but had only one other player get in double figures, that being Owen Jenkins who hit 11.

No Change In Poll

The game of musical chairs that the members of the Daily Standard basketball poll has played all season, ended over the weekend when the 14- member coaches panel selected the same ratings as last week.

This marked the first time this season that a team hasn't moved up or fallen down in the ratings, and the first time in eight weeks that a new team hadn't been selected.

Changes have been made in the number of points gathered by the members as a number of tight races seem to be developing as the season's end draws nearer with every battle.

After regaining the number one spot last week, the mighty New Madrid Indians, solidified its hold a little this week as it picked up another first place vote and widened its lead over the Malden Green Waves.

Delta, Chaffee and Delta C-7 of Deering are the only members of the top ten who are not entered in one of the area's three tournaments this week. Delta and Chaffee had their tournament battles last week, with the Bobcats claiming the Scott-Mississippi title over the Red Devils.

Malden and Poplar Bluff compete in the Mules invitational this week, seeded one- two respectively and are set on a battle course for Friday night, barring any upsets.

New Madrid and Parma are the favorites to made it to the finals of the New Madrid county tournament at Parma this week, according to seedings by coaches of the league. They will battle Friday evening barring any upsets.

The Stoddard County tournament has Dexter, Advance and Richland vieing for its title this week, which will be decided Saturday evening. They are seeded one, two and three respectively by the coaches of the tournament.

This week's tournament action will be the last for most teams of the poll until the regionals in February roll around.

The poll, with first place votes in parenthesis, record and total points at right.

Bradshaw Expected To Be Top Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a last- minute deal, the Pittsburgh Steelers were expected to make Terry Bradshaw, a rifle- armed quarterback from little Louisiana Tech, the No. 1 pick in today's pro football draft.

But further trading remained a possibility as the 26 teams sought to move as high as possible in the picking process. Some heavy wheeling and dealing went on Monday as the Cleveland Browns sent ace wide receiver Paul Warfield to Miami for the Dolphins' first- round pick- No. 3 over- all - and the Los Angeles Rams traded place- kicker Bruce Gossett to San Francisco for defensive back Kermit Alexander and the 49ers' second- round selection.

The Steelers, who have been deluged with trade offers for their precious top pick, were looking for help at running back on the offensive line. But they apparently decided that Bradshaw's qualifications were too good to overlook.

The 6- foot- 3, 215- pounds, who has been called the best quarterback prospect since Joe Namath, passed for 2,314 yards last season and impressed in post- season and all- star action.

The Green Bay Packers, who obtained the No. 2 pick last week from Chicago for three players, were rumored to be after defensive tackles Mike Reid of Penn State and Mike McCoy of Notre Dame or defensive end Phil Olsen of Utah State.

The Browns were after a quarterback to back up Bill Nelsen. They could choose from among Mike Phipps of Purdue, Dennis Shaw of San Diego State, Bill Cappleman of Florida State and Steve Ramsey of North Texas State.

The Boston Patriots, looking for defensive line help, had the fourth pick, followed in the first round by Buffalo, Philadelphia Cincinnati, St. Louis, San Francisco, New Orleans, Denver, Atlanta, New York Giants, Houston, San Diego, Green Bay their own pick, SanFrancisco again obtained from Washington for tackle Walter Rock, Baltimore, Detroit, New York Jets, Cleveland their own pick, Los Angeles, Dallas, Oakland, Minnesota and Kansas City's Super Bowl champions.

Other high picks were expected to include Steve Owens, Oklahoma running back and the Heisman Trophy winner; Bob Anderson, Colorado running back; Kenny Burroughs, Texas Southern wide receiver; Steve Zabel, Oklahoma tight end, and John Small, linebacker from The Citadel.

The 26 teams were to draft some 442 players through 17 rounds with the draft lasting at least two days.

$121,000 Budget for Riverside Library

JACKSON — The Library is now in its 15th year. Looking back over these years, the library has grown and increased its services.

The library's budget is $121,000, which provides for the operational cost of the Central library, the four branches at Illmo, Benton, Perryville, and Altenburg, and the services to the operating libraries, Sikeston and Chaffee public libraries.

Of the branch libraries, Perryville is the larges; 34,446 books were lent from this branch and the library was used for 251 meetings. The central branch circulated 51,088 books in addition to services supplementing the branches, and 270 groups used the library for meetings. Altenburg and Benton showed an increase in circulation and service.

The greatest expansion or increase in services for the year was in the film service. Films used, -- 16 mm., 1969 was 2,283, which is slightly more than double the number of 1968. The addition of 130 new films to the library's film collection accounts for this growth.

New books available at the library:

Your Federal Income Tax, issued by Treasury Dept. - 1969 Edition for Individual Tax Returns.

Your Income Tax, by J. K. Lasser, for preparing 1969 Tax Return.

Estimated Cotton Yields to Stand

CAPE GIRARDEAU - News dispatches from Springfield, Ill., reported changes in estimated annual cotton yields in Missouri's Bootheel, subject of protest from Pemiscot and Dunklin County growers, will stand without alteration.

Top officials from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Washington were in Springfield Tuesday for a training conference for Illinois ASCS personnel.

Howard Waters of Washington, the Midwest area director, said the Missouri state committee was within its rights in making adjustments in estimated cotton yields and the changes will not be altered.

"What was done for the best interests of cotton producers in the Bootheel," he told a reporter. "The three-man committee was only doing what it was supposed to do."

Another ASCS official, George V. Hansen, deputy administrator for state and county operations, commented, "This matter was thoroughly reviewed by specialists from Washington. They found nothing to fault the Missouri committee."

He explained it was a matter of judgment and that it was necessary for the program to be reviewed periodically.

"For instance," Hansen said, "it came to our attention that the highest estimated yield in Pemiscot County certainly wasn't given to a farm with the best land."

The officials' comment stemmed from protests launched by the Pemiscot County Farmers Committee, headed by Ellis Webb of Hayti. Petitions signed by approximately 2,000 growers in Dunklin and Pemiscot Counties were lodged against the adjustments.

Webb and the committee alleged the adjustments were rigged to favor of New Madrid County growers at the expense Dunklin Counties.

In protesting to Rep. Bill D. Burlison they asked these questions:

. Why were 1970 projected yields in Pemiscot and Dunklin Counties below Washington - computed levels?

. Why was the yield of New Madrid County increased above that computed in Washington?

. Why was Pemiscot County the only major cotton county in Missouri with projected yields set below its 10-year average of actual yields?

. Center of the Pemiscot - Dunklin growers' complaints is Barry Richardson of Portageville, whose office is in Marston, one of the three members of the Missouri State ASCS Committee.

Growers asked Rep. Burlison to determine if Richardson personally benefitted from the increase in proposed yield for New Madrid County at the expense of decreases in other counties and from reductions in some townships in New Madrid County to the benefit of other townships in the county.

Politics also is charged. Mr. Webb said many farmers believe Mr. Richardson is seeking revenge against their support of T. A. ("Doc") Haggard of Steele for the post Richardson now holds.

More Gifts In Support Of University

COLUMBIA — Through its Development Fund, the University of Missouri received approximately 50 per cent more gifts in the calender year 1969 than in 1968.

John W. Sweeney, director of the UMC Development Fund, says that more than 12,400 gifts were presented to UMC in 1969, compared to 8,500 in 1968. The 12,400 gifts came to $1,371,000.

Sweeney says it's significant that the increase has come during the past year when the Development Fund Board of Directors was established in 1969. Chaired by Dutton Brookfield, president of Unitog Company, Kansas City, the 37-man board advises the UMC Development Fund on fund - raising policy, and it reviews and approves programs and procedures for the development of UMC in the area of private giving.

The board is composed of 27 high- level alumni and friends, eight faculty and staff members and two UMC students.

UMC Chancellor John W. Schwada says, "I am very gratified with the work the Development Fund has done in increasing the number of gifts to the Columbia campus. It is occurring at a very critical time when state appropriations and federal funds are becoming very restricted."

The gifts raised through the Development Fund come from alumni, foundations, organizations, corporations and UMC friends. Projects supported by these gifts include scholarships, loans, research, facilities, lectureships and professorships – which are not financed by state funds.

Attorney Asks Nixon to Present Plaque to Chiefs

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP) — An attorney said Monday he has asked President Nixon to present a plaque to the Kansas City Chiefs honoring them as the nation's No. 1 professional football team.

Attorney Ike Skelton asked Nixon to make the presentation at a dinner in Kansas City Jan. 21 in honor of the Chiefs, the American Football League champions who defeated the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League 23-7 in the Super Bowl Sunday.

"Having already presented a plague to the University of Texas as the nation's No. 1 collegiate team, we Missourians think it only fair that you honor the Kansas City Chiefs as the No. 1 professional team," Skelton said in his telegram.

Malden School District To Vote on Bond Issue

MALDEN - A $199,000 bond issue to erect ten new classrooms for the Malden school system will be presented to the voters of Malden R-1 District Feb. 24.

In the regular meeting on Jan. 12, the board of education decided to ask the voters of R-1 District to approve a bond issue for the construction of six classrooms and a library attached to the present science and math buildings; and erecting a building with four classrooms and a general purpose room for the kindergarten department. The kindergarten building would be erected on the site of the old Little League ball diamond.

Dr. Wayne Croom, president of the Board of Education, and Alva DaVault, superintendent of schools, say that the additional classroom space is urgently needed due to a steadily growing enrollment. Present enrollment is 1795, an increase of 182 over one year ago. The projected enrollment by 1970 is expected to be at least 2131 an increase of more than 300.

The proposed bond issue if approved will cost the taxpayers of the R-1 District an additional 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The present tax levy is $3.80. The additional 50 cents levy will make it $4.30.

DaVault said that the increased enrollment in the Malden school system is due primarily to the industrial growth and expansion within the community.

In 1960 when the Air Base closed school enrollment was 1606 and dropped to a low of 1369 for the 1962-63 school year. It then reversed and started climbing. Enrollment has increased by 314 over the past five years. Classrooms are built for an average of 30 students,if the enrollment increases at its present rate an additional ten rooms will be needed within the next five years.

DaVault said that industry was attracted to Malden because they liked the town and appreciated the willingness of the people to provide educational opportunities for their children. "If Malden fails to provide these opportunities we not only will have difficulty acquiring more industry, but we stand a chance of losing some that we already have," he said.

DaVault added that the Board of Education has been studying the problem of Malden's school population explosion for some time. The Board was informed in September of 1969 that it would require an additional two to five classrooms a year just to keep class enrollment down to a teachable size. He said that three solutions were proposed:

(1). The Board could do nothing and have classes of 38 to 42 children which would not only lower educational standards, but would make it difficult to acquire and retain good teachers.

(2). The Board could reactivate and renovate the old elementary building. The cost has been estimated at about $75,000.

(3). The Board could submit a bond issue to the voters for the purpose of erecting new additional classrooms.

After months of consideration the Board came to the conclusion that the best of three alternatives was to build new classrooms. This requires a bond issue and an additional tax levy.

Members of the Board of Education are: Dr. D. W. Croom, Floyd Lee, Otto Green, Raymond Santie, James Darnell and Wilbur Thornton.

BLYTHEVILLE AFB, ARK. -- On Jan. 1, 1970, the Air Force initiated a new physical training program for all airmen under the age of 50, according to BAFB officials.

Officially known as the USAF Aerobics Physical Fitness Program, it was developed as a replacement for the current program which was borrowed from the Canadians some years back. The new program is a result of research by the Air Force into the benefits of exercises designed to increase the reserve capacity of the heart and lungs. Aerobics exercises include, but are not limited to, running, swimming, basketball, handball and fast walking. An 18-week field study of the program was conducted by Air Training Command at five different bases. Test bases were chosen to reflect various missions and a variety of climatic and geographic conditions. Following the tests, the program received approval of the Air Force Chief of Staff in March 1969.

The Aerobics program is the product of Lt. Col. Kenneth H. Cooper, staff member of the Air Force Systems Command's Aerospace Medical Laboratory at Wilford Hall Medical Center, Lackland AFB, Texas. Col Cooper is working on a similar program for Women in the Air Force. Until this is completed, WAF will continue to be tested semiannually in accordance with the program currently in effect.

Consumers Warned About Unscrupulous Septic Tank Cleaners

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- An assistant attorney general in charge of the consumer protection division urged Missouri suburbanites today to beware of unscrupulous gangs of septic tank cleaners.

He said one such traveling gang in southwestern Missouri recently bilked customers by telling homeowners they were officials of the Division of Health and a state law required that septic tanks be cleaned every six months.

Christopher S. Bond, the division's chief counsel, said in one case the homeowner was billed $240 for a job that took less than an hour. Reputable firms, he said, charge much less unless there are unusual difficulties.

He urged householders who need such services to get an estimate in writing and if the price seems high get bids from one or more established companies.

Hard-up Town Borrows Water Pipe and Pumps

KAHOKA, MO. (AP) -- This northeastern Missouri community of 2,250 residents hopes to solve its water shortage by next Wednesday. It is trucking in three miles of pipe and two pumps from a stockpile of the General Services Administration.

The pipe has been in storage at Savannah, Ill., 300 miles away and Kahoka Mayor Gene Daniels figures it will take 10 tractor-trailer loads, plus up to $2,600 financing to get the pipe and pumps here. GSA is making no charge for the loan of equipment.

Six of the city's employes and volunteer workers from the crews of construction firms will lay the pipe between a stone quarry lake and the municipal water plant.

The reason for the emergency action is the failure or near failure of the city's six deep wells. Three of them are completely out of service and the other three are going so hard sand is choking the well points, cutting down their efficiency.

A cheese plant has been cut off the municipal water supply and car wash firms and laundromats have been shut down.

The pipe and pumps are to be used, Daniels says, only until more permanent water supplies can be found, probably a municipal lake. He figures it will cost about $1 million to build a lake and re-design the municipal water plant.

But Daniels doesn't believe the voters will turn down a bond issue.

"When the teachers and the kids have to carry buckets of water to flush the stools in the schools," he said, "it's bound to bring out the vote."

New Signing Standards For Maintenance Operations Approved By Highway Commission

New state-wide standards for the placing of official signs used to warn travelers of maintenance operations have been approved by the Missouri State Highway Commission.

The new signing program has been designed to afford uniformity and to insure added safety to both the driving public and Highway Department maintenance crews, according to Joseph A. Mickes, assistant division engineer for traffic.

Standards of usage have been established to cover the number, spacing and appearance of signs to be used adjacent to work areas.

In addition to warnings to motorists, the signs will give specific information as to driving instructions nd the type of work being performed.

"Few of the signs are actually new," said Mickes. "Under the new regulations their use in specific situations is spelled out in detail and all signing will be uniform throughout the state."

The uniform procedures will cover moving maintenance operations, stationary operations, centerstriping, edgelining and mowing.

The guidelines call for specific signs and regulate their spacing on the route, determined by the type of operation being performed.

In most operations both a truck with a flasher and a flagman will be used. Generally, signs will be placed at 200- foot intervals on urban roads; 300 to 500 feet intervals on rural roads; and at from 500 to 1500 foot intervals on multi- lane divided highways. More large directional arrows mounted on the back of trucks will also be used.

The biggest change will be in the closing of a center lane on three or four lane roadways. Signs indicating road work ahead, left or right lane closed, and flagmen will be placed at least 3500 feet ahead of the work area, to give traffic time to adjust well in advance.

High level flags may be used more and signs for overnight operations will be mounted on steel posts approximately 4 feet above the edge of the pavement.

Finally, a new sign reading "Mowers Ahead" will be used during all summertime mowing operations.

Manuals containing the new signing procedures have been distributed to all 10 of the Department's districts, and thy new policy should be in effect throughout the state by the time the heavy summer maintenance season arrives.

The Commission emphasized that the new regulations represent minimum standards and that the program might be modified if experience indicates improvements.

$3,500 Stolen in Home Burglary

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The home of Clyde Foeste, was burglarized of about $3,500 in cash, are coins and bills, and other items Sunday night while he and his wife were away for an hour and a half.

Several other homes and businesses were burglarized over the weekend, adding to a long list of burglaries which occurred in the city Friday night.

Foeste said he and his wife left their house about 6:30 p.m. Sunday. He said, upon their return, they found the house had been ransacked. Police said the thieves gained entrance by prying open a door to the house from the garage with a screwdriver.

Foeste said the burglars took $300 to $400 worth of $2 bills, $100 worth of nickles, $900 in assorted bills and change, a rare $5 bill, a rare $10 bill valued at $150, a rare 15- cent bill valued at $200, a .22 caliber pistol, about $1,200 in assorted jewelry, four watches, a wedding band, and a $600 mink stole.

Foeste said he believes he may have frightened the intruders off when he and his wife returned to the house. He said every room except one bedroom was ransacked.

Police said burglars also entered the home of Charles Hoppe, in the same neighborhood, later in the night. Officers said the thieves took 15 silver dollars, a wrist watch, three rings, and some costume jewelry from the house, which also was completely ransacked.

The thieves gained entry to the Hoppe house by using a screwdriver to pry open the front door, officers said. Mr. Hoppe set the value of the missing items at about $85.

Merit Plan Cuts Algoa Escape Rate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- A program of allowing extra merit time when there are no escapes has paid off for Algoa Intermediate Reformatory near Jefferson City.

Ray F. French, superintendent, reported Saturday there was only one escape last year, a record for the institution. Two inmates got away Sept. 28 but were recaptured.

The most escapes in any one year was 110 in 1947.

If there are no escapes for a month, every one of the 400 or so inmates gets three extra days of merit time. If the record remains good for two months, they get two bonus days or five days "good time" in two months.

Last year, eight months went by without an escape. That meant 40 days cut off of every man's sentence.

French says he meets with the inmates once a month to talk about the merit plan, the educational and work program and the advantages of not piling up a bigger sentence by escaping. Usually a conviction for escape means two extra years.

The institution's educational program also is forging ahead with 17 teachers now able to reduce classes to 12 men each. The men go to school a half day and work the rest of the day, a combined work- study program.

Last year 38 inmates completed their education through the third grade, 83 got through the sixth grade, 49 through the eighth grade and 23 received high school diplomas from their home schools. Another 17 received vocational automobile training certificates.

The institution houses men from 16 to 25 years old, except for a few 16- year- olds transferred from the state Training School for Boys at Boonville. Last year, 36 Boonville incorrigibles were transferred to Algoa. As of Dec. 31 Algoa had 397 inmates.

During the year 37 trusties were transferred to the Renz Prison Farm and 27 to the Church Prison Farm, both near Jefferson City, and 17 to the Fordland Honor Camp in Webster County.

Jury Holds McClure Death Accidental

NEW MADRID -- Accidental death by gunshot was the verdict rendered by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of T.H. "Tommy" McClure, 43, farmer and landowner of Sikeston.

McClure was found dead Sunday at 9:30 a.m. on a farm he owned one mile south and one quarter mile west of the Kewanee highway 61 intersection.

McClure was reported to have been hunting starlings alone.

Servicers were today at 10 a.m. in the Welsh Funeral Chapel in Sikeston.

At the coronor's inquest at 2 p.m. Monday, only two witnesses were heard by the jury Joe Allan Sizemore, who lives on the farm, and Sheriff W. L. Ramsey, Jr.

Sizemore stated he received a call from McClure's wife at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. She asked if he had seen her husband. Sizemore said he looked down in the field and saw McClure's parked vehicle near an abandoned farm dwelling. He went to the dwelling and found McClure's body on the porch of the house, his shotgun beside him.

He then called the sheriff's office.

Sheriff W.L. Ramsey testified that Deputy Flip Dees received the call, picked him up and they went to the scene. Ramsey said he found the body in the position described by Sizemore. He said that he examined the vehicle owned by McClure and found shotgun shells which had been fired, and some shells not fired. He said a spent sheil, a .20 gauge number nine shot, was found in the chamber of the shotgun.

It was the sheriff's opinion that the shell was a reload for the reason had not been ejected from the automatic shotgun.

Sizemore and Ramsey both said the porch of the farm house had deteriorated and that McClure apparently fell through the porch and the gun discharged.

The inquest took 30 minutes. The jury gave its verdict five minutes after testimony was complete.

Mail Box

Editor:

It seems as if that God always prepares a man to proclaim his word at particular time in history. When the fulness of time came for Christ to come into the world, then he sent John the Baptist to be his forerunner. When the world needed to hear the message of Christ, then God sent Billy Graham. Also when America needed to give equal right and opportunities to the Negro, God sent forth Martin Luther King, Jr.

On January 15th some will honor and some will curse the birthdate of Martin King, Jr. I'm sure that the majority of people in Southeast Missouri will curse his birthdate, but I want it to be known that I will honor his birthdate.

One of the saddest chapters in American History has been the white's exploitation of the Negro. In the Twentieth Century the Negro was going to affirm his right as an American citizen. The Civil Right's Movement was coming to America. We as Americans ought to get down on our knees and thank God that he sent Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. to be the leader of the movement.

Many Negroes became aware of their treatment and some of these called for violence. Some Negroes, being human, decided that since the white culture had exploited the Negro culture, then the Negro people should use violence to exploit the white man. But Rev. King, being influenced by his saviour Jesus Christ and by the example of Ghandi, called for the Negro to demand his rights, but to make the demands in love and non-violence. Not many white people are aware of the fact that Martin Luther King, Jr. was a pacifast. He believed that truth would always conquer, and that truth and righteousness did not have to be defended by violence.

Dr. King had learned the great truth of the scripture, "Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness's sake, for their's is the kingdom of heaven. It amazes me to think about this man who was hated by so many, and yet he never had one word of hatred for anyone. He prayed for those who despitefully used him. Even though he was not welcome among some Christian groups, yet he never turned against Christ. He did not judge Christ by the shallowness of Christians.

Some will ask, why did he have to demonstrate. How else could he have brought to the conscience of the nation the problems of racial discrimination. Some will say then why was there violence at his demonstrations. Dr. King influenced 90% of the Negroes, but there were always the few who would take advantage of the situation. Beside the violence was caused not by the demonstrations, but by the racial prejudice which percipitated the demonstration.

To the Whites, let me challenge you to think about one of Dr. King's goals. He stated that his good was not just to bring equal rights to the Negro, but his purpose was also to save the white man. He wanted to save the white man, from his false sense of superiority, his hatred, and guilt.

To the Negroes, let me challenge you to continue your struggle. But continue your struggle with love in your hearts and non- violence as your method. Remember what Dr. King said, on the night before he was killed. "I have seen the promised land. I will not get there with you, but you will get there. For I have been on the mountain top and I have seen the glory of the Lord. His dream will come true if you will continue your struggle with the faith and love which he possessed.

I honor this man with a new commitment to our saviour Jesus Christ, and to the principles of brotherhood, non-violence, peace, and love.

To the Editor:

I think Curt Flood is being very ungrateful to a profession and a sport when he goes on nationwide tv and says he is being treated as a slave.

In what country and in what other profession could a man with his limited education make $90,000 a year?

Most other people answer to their employer on a take it or leave it basis. I believe the price of a ticket to get in and see him play is high enough.

DAILY SIKESTON STANDARD

Dear Sir:

On October 15 demonstrations occurred in certain parts of the country demanding an immediate end to the war in Vietnam. At the same time, but almost without publicity, many citizens demonstrated their support for our servicemen and for freedom for the South Vietnamese. Constructive criticism of the moratorium counteracts the effect of the pro-Hanoi demonstrators better than negative verbal attacks. Examples of constructive action are apparent in the actions of the Boy Scouts of Franklin, Kentucky, who placed small American flags on parking meters signifying their belief in Republic U.S.A. In Roxborough, Pennsylvania, 50 women brought homemade cakes to a veteran's hospital as a gesture of appreciation for our servicemen. The Mayor of Beallsville, Ohio, at ceremonies in honor of six residents killed in Vietnam, declared: "We gave the lives of six boys. We think we should back the boys now in Vietnam the same as we back the others."

Constructively,

Pharris Ridge – Several farmers in this community are butchering hogs this week.

A terrible scourge of influenza seems to be sweeping this country again, and in some of the larger cities the number of deaths are assuming large proportions. So far there are only a few cases reported in Sikeston. Superintendent Thomas says that no school children are out of school on account of the "flu," and that only one teacher is ill.

Joseph F. Watkins died at Diehlstadt last Friday as a result of burns received two weeks ago when his home was destroyed by fire. He was a former sheriff of Scott county.

The fire boys made short work of a small "hay fire" in the loft of the L.B. Adams Veterinary Hospital on North Kingshighway Thursday morning. Dr. Adams stated that the "hospital" boasted of only one patient at the time, a mule and it was removed from the building.

This Monday morning is one of the sort that you are sorry to see. It has been drizzling rain for 24 hours which has made it most disagreeable. However, we mortals here below have nothing to say about the why and wherefore.

The Sikeston grade school building which, according to records presented to the school board Wednesday night, is wholly inadequate to care for the present enrollment of 746 students. Rooms with a maximum capacity of 36 have as many as 46 children crowded together. "Either build or go to the basement" is the keynote of Supt. Roy V. Ellise.

Profane Word in Class Okay for Seniors

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Professor Hoople, teaching English to high school seniors, gave his class a copy of a highly reputable magazine that contained an article using a higly unreputable word. Specifically, it was a vulgar term for, pardon the expression, an incestuous son, whereupon, the professor proceeded to explain the origin of the shady word and why the author had used it. Why the professor had used it, however, soon became the big issue and he was dismissed, finally for having pronounced aloud and for having discussed so vulgar a term.

Indignant, Professor Hoople fought his dismissal in court.

"The use of the word and the dicsussion with regard to it, " he insisted, "was absolutely appropriate in an English class. Besides, I teach seniors. They've heard the word before."

"A teacher has a choice in selecting his material," responded the school officials. "He doesn't have to choose material containing bad words and then spout them all over the classroom. Because he did it, we had a right to fire him. The proof was in the prof."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you revoke the dismissal?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the propriety or impropriety of language is dependant on the circumstances of the utterance. Although some measure of public regulation of classroom speech is inherent in every provision of public education, the application of such regulation to the present case, concluded the judge, demeans nay proper concept of education. What's more, he noted, a high school senior is not devoid of all discrimination or resistance when it comes to words. (Based upon a 1969 United State Court of Appeals Decision)

Yorty May Join Governor's Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty says he may run for governor of California.

"You can say it is a distinct possibility I will challenge (Jesse) Unruh for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination," the mayor said in a statement Wednesday.

Yorty said he will decide in about 60 days, after he has conducted a survey, but was "satisified" he could defeat Unruh in the June primary. Unruh, Democratic leader of the State Assembly, has announced his candidacy.

"I am sure I would give incumbent Reagan a tougher fight than Unruh in the general election," Yorty added.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to seek a second term.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Four nude models—two male, two female—postured before the coeducational sociology class of 250.

Amplifiers blared records by the Beatles and from the rock musical "Hair."

Two hours after the class ended Monday California State College suspended its teachers, Marion Steele, 31, and Dr. Donald Robertson, 29, for 30 days with pay. Further action was threatened.

"This produces hangups and keeps millions from enjoying genuine sexual pleasure and makes our entire world obscene," Robertson told the class.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

"When you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites; for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and at the street corners, that they may be seen by men. Truly, I say to you, they have their reward." (Matthew 6:5, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, teach us to understand prayer, not as a requirement, but as a great privilege so that we may always approach it in joyous anticipation. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Utilities Officials Tell Of Gas Shortage

DEXTER - The curtailment of natural gas service to some users in the Dexter - Bloomfield - Essex area was not the result of economics, but the actual shortage of natural gas available to Missouri Utilities Company, Ray Call, President, and Frank Walsh, Vice-President of the utility firm told the board of directors of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce Friday morning.

"When such a situation develops we have no choice other than to notify our interruptable contract users to curtail service", the two men told the C of C board.

When asked if natural gas would have been available, but at a higher cost to Missouri Utilities Company, the answer was a flat "no".

The two top officials of the firm met with the C of C Board of Directors at the request of the board. They met for more than an hour in the City Administration Building and answered numerous questions regarding rates, service, the terms of the interruptable contract users throughout the area.

Call and Wash also pointed out that the Missouri Utilities Company has asked the Federal Power Commission for more natural gas than they were granted.

Such a situation arises only when there is a severe cold wave, not only in this area, but throughout the eastern part of the United States -- all at the same time. Such a condition existed for a few days recently.

Regarding the public schools, both Call and Walsh promised school officials that there would never be an order issued in the future to close school in the middle of a day. Once a school day has started, then the schools will be permitted to continue to operate for the rest of that day. Interruption of service in the middle of a day creates problems and hardships for the schools, it was pointed out.

Interruptable contracts are common with industrial firms and other large gas users throughout the United States, the two men pointed out of the C of C Board. Under the terms of these contracts, the users are offered a much lower gas rate, but may, in turn, have their service interrupted in emergencies. But the natural gas rate under such contracts is low enough to permit the industry to install a stand-by system. Most large industries throughout the country have such arrangements, they pointed out.

"The closing of the Dexter, Richland and Bloomfield schools in the middle of a day was due to a misunderstanding and will not happen again", the two men said.

But they pointed out that the schools are under an interruptable contract and service can be curtailed after due notice is given.

The C of C Board of Directors recently asked the two utility officials to come to Dexter and explain the natural gas situation. Attending, in addition to the Board of Directors, were Loren Coffey, President of the Dexter Board of Education; Bob Robins, local utilities manager, and Jim Smith assistant gas superintendent for the utility firm.

East Prairie Enters Clean-Up Competition

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- The headquarters of the 1969 National Clean-Up Contest has announced the arrival of the entry from East Prairie, Mo.

Sponsored annually by the National Clean Up-Paint Up -Fix up Bureau, the National Clean-Up Contest is the oldest and largest competition of its kind in the United States. Since 1929 it has been honoring and giving national recognition to the voluntary civic improvement and beautification efforts of cities and towns across the country.

Bureau Director R. H. Hackendahl said, "The outstanding achievements of East Prairie and its civic minded people are to be heartily commended. Their work toward community betterment is dramatic proof of their dedicated service and acceptance of the civic improvement challenge".

The Contest entry is in scrapbook form to show graphically each aspect of the clean-up activities undertaken during 1969. It will be placed in competition with entries of other cities and towns of the same size based on the following categories representing the total number of people covered by the program: Under 25,000 Between 25,000 and 250,000; and Over 250,000.

A panel of seven judges will rate each scrapbook entry individually on the degree of achievement the community attained in relation to five major areas -- (1) Community - wide Beautification, (2) Property Improvements, (3) Youth Activities, (4) Voluntary Participation, and (5) Miscellaneous Activities. Each area will be graded on a point basis of 0 to 20 for a total of 100 points.

Judging will take place in late January, and the results will be announced at that time. In the final judging, the ten best entries in each population category are chosen to be trophy winners. From these 30, one city, regardless of size, will be selected by the judges as having the most effective, far-reaching program exemplifying the principles of community betterment. This city will receive the Trigg Trophy, the highest award possible in the Contest. From the remaining entries, Distinguished Achievement Award winners and entries deserving of Honorable Mention will be decided upon the basis of their total point scores.

The presentation of all awards will take place Feb. 24 in Washington, D. C. climaxing the 1970 National Congress on Beautification which is also sponsored by the Clean - Up Bureau.

Dunklin Farmers Join Cotton Yield Protest

KENNETT — Approximately 1,000 Dnklin county famers have joined in a protest to the Missouri Agricultural Conservation and Stablization Service committee over what they consider discriminatory treatment in the setting of their 1970 projected cotton yields. The petition was mailed to the Missouri ASCS Committee 10 days ago, according to Dr. George Dunmire, chairman of the Dunklin County Republican Central Committee.

The Dunklin County protest follows the recent protest by neighboring Pemiscot County farmers, who received cuts of 15 pounds per acre. Dunklin County received a cut of five pounds per acre.

The protest points out that the yield cuts suffered by Dunklin County and others were not apparent in New Madrid County, where the yield was raised by 20 pounds per acre. New Madrid County is the home of Barry Richardson of Portageville, Southeast Missouri's member of the state ASCS Committee.

The collar loss to Dunklin County with a five- pound reduction under the recommended yield would mean a loss of $43,183.40, officials estimated.

Petitions were circulated in various townships by individual farmers and forwarded to Dr. Dunmire, who mailed the petitions to the State ASCS Committee.

Statewide, the projected yield cut for the coming crop year was a reduction of 49 pounds of lint per acre. The state committee then allocated the cuts among the counties. Each of the seven major cotton-producing counties have received cuts ranging from 48 to 59 pounds per acre, with the exception of Richardson's home county, New Madrid, which took only a 34- pound cut, according to local protesting farmers.

Richardson, target of the Dunklin and Pemiscot protests, is one of three state ASCS committeemen.

Today a spokesman for the county farmers said no reply had been received on the petition protest.

To the Editor:

This is in response to your editorial concerning the apportionment of funds to complete I-44 before I-55.

Have you ever traveled on U. S. Route 61 between Festus and Cape Girardeau, especially on a weekend? Probably not if you value your life.

I'm sure I-44 in St. Louis and St. Louis County would carry a large volume of traffic if completed. However, look at the many other arteries you have out of the city.

The only ways south out of the St. Louis area are U. S. Routes 61 or 67, both of which are mainly two-lane highways. Likewise, they both contain many hills and curves limiting passing and thus a delay in travel.

If any highways are obsolete, these two certainly are. The need for a quick completion of I-55 south may save many lives, including mine.

Petition in Support of Sheriff Orton

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A petition expressing support for Sheriff Clyde Orton of Pemiscot County is being circulated in Caruthersville, the county seat.

Atty. Gen. John Danforth has asked the Missouri Supreme Court to remove Orton from office on charges of "willful and fraudulent violation and neglect of his official duties" in connection with alleged widespread violations of liquor and gambling laws in the county. Orton has denied the accusations.

The petition was started over the weekend by Morris Bailey, a Caruthersville salesman. Bailey said he did so because "I know Clyde Orton is a good man."

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Other excuses have been pretty well exhausted when people attribute the error of their ways to hypnotic influence someone is exerting over them.

WELCOME, DR. BURNS * * *

At the recent 32nd Annual dinner of the Tax Foundation, Inc., Dr. Arthur F. Burns was presented with the Foundation's "Award For Distinguished Public Service." Since Dr. Burns has just been appointed to the extremely sensitive job as Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, we find his brief remarks on that occasion most interesting.

It is not surprising that the speaker should note the fantastic escalation of our national budget ... which, in the last nine years, has doubled the amount reached in the two previous centuries of our country; from $100 billion in 1962, to a threatened $200 billion - mark for the fiscal year 1971.

It is significant, however, that Chairman Burns took pains to point out that the huge increases in federal spending are not due to defense and war costs - a charge constantly implied by the Doves, Peaceniks, and anti-Vietnam demonstrators. Rather, Dr. Burns pointed out, our defense costs account for only $23 billion of the $74 billion increase in the Federal budget since 1964. Going back to the end of the Korean War in 1953, he said, our defense outlays have accounted for only one- sixth of the vast increases in local, state, and federal expenditures.

"This fiscal year, programs for education, manpower, health, income security, housing, community development and crime prevention will cost over $80 billion - a sum that exceeds all spending by the Federal government in the peak year of the Korean War," Dr. Burns declared. Contradicting the anguished cries by some lobbyists that "we are not doing enough for the poor", Dr. Burns said that Federal aid to the poor alone will cost $27 billion this year, in contrast to $12 billion in 1964, and that grants in aid to states and localities will cost about $25 billion, in contrast to $15 billion in 1967, $10 billion in 1964, and $5 billion in 1958.

Chairman Burns conclusion: "It seems hardly prudent to contemplate any further increase in the level of taxation."

Good for Dr. Burns. Now how about our congressmen and senators, who have the power to increase - or decrease- our tax load? Have you written to one of them recently?

THE RUGGED REALISM OF WINTER

Winter's art is a thing of line and form, without ornamentation. It is bare branches against the sky, shrubs and tall grasses rising in graceful shapes or dark masses, carpets of leaves and grass drained of color, and bare, weathered earth awaiting the spring.

The low limbs of the American elm reach out horizontally across the law, as if groping for the hand of a friend. Poplars, standing in formal line, lift thin arms toward heaven. The irregular branching of redbuds and ginkgos seems uncertain in which direction it wishes to grow. Those gnarled patriarchs, the red oaks, show knotty muscles. Mimosa and paradise trees, without their long compound leaves, are grotesque shapes, hard and unyielding against winter's winds. The willow, in contrast, bends long and graceful branches toward the soil which supports it.

Instead of bundling against the winter, trees and shrubs discard the leaves which will serve them no more, but which can blanket roots and enrich the soil. Winter is, in nature, a time of facing realities and waiting for better days.

The scene is spare, like a traditional Japanese drawing; a composition of line and form. As an artistic expression, it has much in common with the haiku, the 17- syllable Japanese poem, also thin and spare and cast in a traditional pattern.

Spring will bring ornamentation and color, with leaves and flowers. But these will grow on the framework prepared in the past, as the painter adds color to forms previously sketched (unless he is one of those who "paints" by throwing pigments on a canvas and spreading them with tennis shoes and bicycle tires).

It has been said that color is in the eye of the beholder; and so it is, scientifically as well as emotionally. But form and line are specifics; they are underlying realities. And because of this, they are the appropriate art of winter.

Winter is a time of facing up to realities, to the basic challenges in life. For most human beings it is less so today than it was in the past, when families stood on their own resources against cold and snow, and depended on themselves for food when gardens and orchards and fields were bare. Still, winter has enough of illness and other difficulties to test us, even today.

And we all have our own times of trial, our winters of discontent. These may not be connected to nature's seasons, but they call for the same sort of response that the world of nature makes to physical winter -a pulling in to basic resources, to cope with basic realities.

LAW AND (DIS)ORDER

As with many other areas in the United States, the Nation's Capital has experienced a shocking rise in crime. Many suburban area residents avoid going into the District at night for fear of their personal safety. Bank robberies and murder are commonplace. Many small businessmen have closed their doors after being "hit" by not one, but continual holdups. Rapes and other serious crimes have been committed in broad daylight.

Serious efforts are now being made by law enforcement officials and concerned citizens to crack down on crime. The drive has the active support of all sorts of groups - civic, social, church, and business. One Washington commercial radio station has been strongly backing pending legislation calling for a mandatory prison sentence for anyone using a gun in the commission of a crime. An Episcopal minister has called for sterilization of convicted rapists.

Strangely, however, strong resistance to these and other anti-crime proposals has been coming from so-called "liberals," in Congress and out. "Gun control" advocates who want to restrict or remove firearms from everyone, have failed to support measures to remove guns from criminals.

Recently, an ad- hoc citizen's group to combat crime invited the District police chief and a representative from the U.S. Attorney General's office to address a meeting called to discuss the crime problem. The meeting was disrupted by a screaming band of "ladies" calling themselves the "WITCHES" - the Women's International Terrorist Conspiracy from Hell. Dressed in weird costumes, they proceeded to attack the speakers with catcalls and epithets, sprinkled with a generous portion of foul and unprintable language. "Facists pigs" was one of their milder outcries. It is noteworthy that one of the shouted slogans of the invaders as "Stop prosecuting the Chicago Eight." The "eight," of course, are the extremist "new left" radicals now on trial for allegedly conspiring to riot against the democratic convention in 1968.

The "liberals" have also leaped, with moral and financial support, to the defense of the "Black Panthers" whose members are currently on trial in courts across the land, charged with any number of violent crimes.

But, since the "liberals" have in the past supported the criminal acts of Stalin, Ho Chi Minh, Vo Giap and others, and have similarly supported the Communist criminal invasion and prosecution of such lands as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and South Vietnam, it logically follows that these self- same "liberals" should come to the defense of criminal elements in the United States today.

ANTI-HERO BRODY

The really amazing thing about the bizarre Michael Brody Jr. affair is that so many people actually believed he was going to give away his fortune.

Brody admitted he got the idea when he was "tripped out on drugs."

Crowds flocked around Brody, pleading for his money and then called him names when he didn't shower them with bills. It served their money-hungry hearts right that some of the checks Brody wrote are still bouncing around the East Coast somewhere.

Brody reportedly met his wife - to - be when she came to his rented $80,000 house in Scarsdale to sell him some hashish. She confided that she and Michael have been taking hashish, LSD and amphetamines for several years.

We're not really sure why this story got so much coverage but it seems that the dopier and more insane a person behaves these days the more quotable he becomes.

Perhaps this is another manifestation of the seemingly endless search today for "antiheroes." These modern-day "sad sacks" usually are taking dope, and like Brody they are trying (without much success) to stop.

It is pretty anti-heroic stuff - enough to nauseate just about anyone.

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you had an identity crisis lately?

Well, if not then you don't belong with the real swinging set.

An identity crisis occurs when someone who knew for sure, or thought he did, who or what he was suddenly becomes a stranger to himself. The affliction has become as common in these confusing times as the common cold.

When you are gripped by an identity crisis, you become pitifully indecisive.

In the morning you stare in the mirror at the face you are shaving and question, "Is that really me, or some imposter who has stolen inside the real me?"

Although undergoing an identity crisis is personally unnerving, it is somewhat like having a baby: it gains you a lot of respect from others. They feel that if a dullard such as you can have an identity crisis surely a smart person such as they can have an even bigger and better one.

If you become bored with your identity crisis, you can always find out who you are by a process of eliminating other possibilities.

Such as:

You couldn't be a porcupine, because you're not that touchy.

You couldn't be a cat, because you've never had kittens.

You couldn't be a lion, because nobody runs when you roar.

You couldn't be a bird, because you have a striking lack of feathers.

You couldn't be a tree, because you've never worn a nest of robins in your hair.

You couldn't be spinach, because too many people like you.

You couldn't be a jet plane, a bus, or a train, because nobody rides you except your boss.

You couldn't be money, because you are not a medium of exchange and a measure of value.

You couldn't be a member of Congress, because it's your wife who makes all the speeches and you who do all the listening.

You couldn't be a television performer, because you are not repeatedly interrupted by commercials.

Step by step as you find out who you couldn't possibly be, you become excitingly closer to the discovery of who you must be.

Your identity crisis is finally over when you look at your bank statement. It says there very clearly who you are. You are number Z12-0034-615—that's who you are.

Good old Z12-0034-615! The digits ring in your ears happily as you repeat them over and over. You wonder how a guy identified Z12-0034-615 could ever have forgotten who he was. Who would really want to be anyone else in the world?

Before he could stop himself, the nervous young man blurted out, "I guess I'm a rat, sir - I did it last night!"

There was a time when critics of the competitive system of distribution pointed to advertising as an economic waste. Very few such critics remain today.

It is readily apparent even to the layman that the larger advertisers move goods from the factory to the consumer at less expense. The quick demand created by advertising reduces costs at every stage of distribution. The proof can be found in the accounting of manufacturers and retailers.

A more recent clue to the economic value of advertising can be seen in new attitudes in socialist countries such as Russia and Poland. The socialist economists belatedly concluded that the worst waste of all was non- consumption. The result has been the birth of competitive promotion among stated owned factories.

While the Russians have decided that it is socially desirable to cause people to want better things, some of our critics still question the social effects of advertising. But an opposite view seems sound:

C. W. Cook, Chairman of General Foods Corporation, has stated that "it is natural for Americans to want to live better than their grandfathers, just as people all over the world would like to do."

Mr. Cook believes that the benefits of advertising are social as well as economic: "Advertising not only makes people want, it also helps them get.

"The products and services promoted by advertising are a driving force which motivates us to work and to seek advancement in order to enjoy more and more of them. The attractive goods and services made known to us by advertising help to make us productive servants of our modern society.

Figures released by the Military Traffic Management Service show a total fiscal 1968 bill of $599.1 million for commodities shipped in the U.S. on Department of Defense bills of lading.

Of this total, $296.9 million went for rail shipments, $249.3 million for motor - carrier shipments and $14.4 million for air shipments. Corresponding figures for 1967 were $254.6 million for rails, $226.1 million for motor carriers and $14.2 million for air.

LONGSHOREMEN VS. COMMUNISTS

Recently, Thomas Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, and John Bowers, executive vice president of the same association, were called to the State Department for a meeting with Emory Swank, deputy to the Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs.

The purpose of the meeting was to convince the longshoremen to load and unload Soviet passenger ships which would dock in New York City if they could get assurances that the longshoremen would cooperate.

The association had steadfastly refused to handle Soviet ships. When ex - premier Nikita Khrushchev visited the United States, his ship had to use improvised piers because the longshoremen picketed in tugboats.

If the longshoremen agreed, the way would be opened for Soviet entry into all harbors along the Atlantic and Gulf Coast. This would be of great benefit to the communists and would lead to expanded East - West trade.

Bowers told Mr. Swank: "If you want to move our people, get the Soviets to break down that wall in Berlin, or have them use their influence to convince the Hanoi government to begin releasing American prisoners of war... otherwise you're just wasting your time."

Bowers later spelled out a specific formula: For each Soviet ship to be unloaded, Hanoi would have to release at least five prisoners of war. Without some such concessions by the communists, the longshoremen intend to stand firm in their refusal to aid our sworn enemy.

If their example were only followed by those who make our foreign policy, the United States would be a truly effective champion of freedom in the world today. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

WASHINGTON -- A bombshell report, held back by the American Public Health Association, accuses federal and local authorities alike of practicing "health brutality" against the poor.

This column has obtained a copy of the unreleased report, whose grim findings should be read by every concerned citizen.

"We are shocked and still reeling," begins the report by the association's president and immediate past president, Paul Cornely and Lester Breslow, both famed public health physicians.

In Houston, the space age city with renowned heart transplant facilities, the Cornely - Breslow team found neither space nor heart for Mexican - Americans.

The Houston authorities, in anticipation of the team's visit to the worst slum area, attempted a hasty clean - up and even ordered a rare garbage pick - up. But they could not hide the stooped, 59 - year - old grandmother who had lost four of 12 children to malnutrition - induced diarrhea. Nor could they drive away the snakes and rats which prey on babies there.

--POISONING PEOPLE --

In Tulare County, Calif., poor whites and Mexican - Americans, too proud to go on relief, told of staggering in the fields as spray planes illegally spewed pesticides on their heads. Some 200 workers are felled or sickened each year despite laws against spraying DDT and other poisons where people are working.

"I took the number of the plane and told the foreman. Nothing happened," said one worker. Another added wearily: "What's the use? They don't stop spraying."

Washington, D.C., with its shaded avenues and curving shorelines, is the nation's pride. But in the serene Potomac River, which gently washes Washington's shores, the doctors found "dead fish, floating sewage, rotting plant life...more than 400 million gallons of partially treated or raw sewage a day."

Untreated defecation, deadly salmonella and other disease debris are eaten by fish that swim up and down the Potomac and far beyond. Indeed, Dr. Werner Janssen, a scientist at the Chemical Biological Warfare Center of Ft. Detrick, Md., warned the team that the fish were like secret time bombs spreading "the human disease - producing organisms...to areas thought to be safe."

The report blames federal and local governments, along with land developers, for despoiling and poisoning such rivers as the Potomac.

In Chicago, Mayor Richard Daley's health commissioner snubbed the two distinguished presidents of the American Public Health Association. But they went down into the city's ghettos anyway.

--ROT IN CHICAGO--

There they found, a few minutes from the mulit - million dollar towers of the Windy City, "an unforgettable profile of destitution, deprivation...children amid rotting garbage and trash."

A Negro woman could not get repair of her abdominal surgery because she couldn't repay 11 pints of blood to a Cook County hospital. Another watched her baby die an angonized death for three hours while waiting treatment in the emergency room. Of every 1,000 children born, 45 die as babies in one area.

The most embittering chapter in the lengthy report dealth with the truly "forgotten man"-- the Indian who leaves the reservation to make his way on the outside but who winds up in a redman's ghetto.

In Great Falls, Mont., the doctors discovered "Hill 57" -- so named because there are "57 varieties" of tincans and junk on its side. There, 15 large families have a single water faucet.

Across town, 12 Indian families live on a hill used as a trash pile by local residents. One World War II veteran supports his wife and six children by scavanging for auto parts in the hillside junk. He earns $2 on a good day.

Nine years ago, a major cancer operation opened his bowles. He has no time for the surgery to close the, because of his family's pressing needs. The family's sole "utility" is a privy 50 feet from his shack.

A nearby industry refuses to let the impoverished Indians use its water line, so water must be delivered at a high cost to the residents when the old cistern is broken.

Of all the cities the doctors visited, Atlanta seemed to be trying the hardest. Even there, they found a four - by eight cell without ventilation, for the treatment of alcoholics. Its sole occupant was an alcoholic epileptic picked up as he tried to make it to a hospital.

--POLITICIANS, DOCTORS BLAMED --

The two doctors, seasoned men who have seen many horrors in their lives, end their report with almost a shreik of anguish: "Who is to blame in this degradation of life and health?"

They draw their answer from a community doctor, who replied fiercely: "First, the political structure and city hall. Second, organized medicine with its platitudes. And third, the health care system.

"If any should think that we present an exaggerated picture," declare the doctors, "let him spend as we did a few full days actually looking, listening and smelling...Health care for the poor has broken down. The crisis is not coming, it is here."

Their recommendations: revamping medicaid, establishing poverty clinics, letting young physicians work with the poor as an alternative to military duty -- and, of course, federal outlays.

Ironically, President Nixon is now seeking to trim down the $19.7 billion appropriation for Health, Education, and Welfare. Some of the money would go into just such efforts as the report seeks.

FAKED FIGURES?

Cost of Living Index Hiked With Cost Of Maids, New Cars, Whiskey, Boats, Cigars, Steaks.

New York: — The cost of candor may be brickbats and blasphemy but it's about time someone talked candidly of the driving cost of living -- otherwise known as the cost- of- living index.

I do believe a good deal of it is spurious, fallacious and facetious. Officially it is called the Consumer Price Index. It should be called the consumer appetite index. This index is far more than a measuring device. It is the arbitrary creation of some old New Dealers who got into the U.S. Labor Dept. when it was difficult to find work anywhere else.

It doesn't measure. It stimulates. It is artifically ballooned. Then it is used as the basis for wage negotiations and to pump up costs and then prices.

Now it is even being used by a powerful New York City teamsters union of garbage collectors to smash the whole system of labor- management contracts.

We'll get back to this new teamsters offensive, but first should come to the first x-raying of the mysterious Consumer Price Index. It does not measure the increasing cost of necessities. It does not measure merely the cost of living comfortably. It measures the cost of living fairly high on the hog. It measures what any objective analyst must call the cost of luxuries.

So it goes higher and higher as it also measures the cost of buying more than is necessary, meaning quantity; and the cost of buying more than traditionally staple items, meaning quality.

Into the so- called cost- of - living index now go the following: New cars, whiskey, wines, fillets, porterhouse steaks, TV- radio- hi- fi combinations, tape recorders, sports equipment, recreation including indoor movies, bowling, music lessons, comic books, hunting licenses, boats, photographic equipment, good used cars, restaurant meals, taxis, steamships, planes, hotels, motels, cigars, parking and garage rents.

There are cost lines, for example, not only or doctors, but for psychiatrists.

Not only legal services are averaged, which could be a necessity, but also banking services.

There are listings for vegetables, bread and milk, but why include between- meal snacks?

And then there are the "housekeeping services." Note this: Include in the cost- of - living index are maids and baby- sitters. This is an era of millions of young marriages. So one can understand including the cost of baby- sitters. But why maids? In my proletarian days my mother handed me a mop and a wet rag and we could eat off the floor (when we had the food) by the time we finished cleaning.

And then there are the autos. These go into the cost of living. Well, everybody is entitled to a car, maybe two cars. But why include this in the consumer price index? And why include super models? Why include foreign models?

And so it goes, up and up. The cost- of- living index is worked into union contracts through a cost- of- living clause which says that employes shall receive extra pay when the index rises above a certain percentage in a fixed period. In the auto industry this means scores of millions of dollars. Thus the cost of cars goes up and this in turn tugs at the index which goes up and around and around we go.

Now along comes the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Assn. led by the imaginative, pipe- smoking John J. DeLury, and says that it wants to reopen its contract with the city. The contract does not have a reopening clause. And the contract has no cost- of- living clause. But, says Mr. DeLury, the cost of living has gone up and we want more money to watch it, contract or no contract, 1972 termination date or no termination date. As muscle, the men are threatening to refuse to work overtime which would leave the city laden with garbage.

New Yorkers and the nation, labor leaders and businessmen, and even sophisticated observers are overlooking the potential for national chaos if the garbage collectors here succeed.

They are using the cost- of- living index, supposedly a rise of 8.7 per cent since they signed their pact, as an excuse for seeking to break it. This always has an emotional appeal. It sounds as though bread and milk were among the missing on kitchen tables. But if this cost- of - consumer appetites can be used to smash open a contract which still has a year to run, such contracts are useless. Fire fighters could insist on reopenings with a demand for special pay for rolling out on false alarms, or in a bid for new equipment. Police could demand special anti- riot pay.

The Sanitation men's union itself has a word for arduous work -- "strenuosity." They could shout for reopenings to use this "strenuosity." If they win on this, they can move on any other items. So around and around this would go. Not only with fire fighters and police but with teachers and other city employes who have no cost- of - living clause in their contracts.

The obvious implications are there. In New York City the cost of an 8.7 per cent cost- of - living increase for 65,000 teachers would run some $90 million.

Thus there could really be no such thing as a contract with fixed costs. There would be no termination date. No definite working conditions which could not be changed at the first outcry.

No city or business could budget itself. This is the time for candor before a lot more than the cost of living gets out of hand.

SHS Upset At Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF — Defending tournament champions, the Sikeston Bulldogs, were the first upset victom of the 18th annual Poplar Bluff invitational basketball tournament last night as Kennett eased past the third-seeded Dogs, 48-46 on a last second goal.

The defeat was the second straight for SHS and its fifth in 10 games this season.

Poplar Bluff lived up to its second seed as it rolled over Doniphan 62-49 and will meet the Indians Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. in a semi- final round bout which will be preceeded by the match between Malden and Charleston.

Sikeston's offense sputtered after an 18-6 first quarter lead and was never able to regain its first period form while Kennett's scoring improved and gradually turned in the win.

Coach N. P. McDaniel's squad, which had a five game win streak ended Saturday night as the hands of Parkway West, led by 10 to 12 points through most of the first half but couldn't hold it as its shooting accuracy was off and Kennett made its bid to avenge an earlier loss to the Dogs.

Kennett tied the score at 30-30, from where both teams exchanged the lead until Sikeston picked up a 46-40 lead with 30 seconds left but lost as Kennett's Doug Gilmer hit the tying points and Larry Robinson notched the winning bucket as the final buzzer sounded.

Robinson led Kennett to a 17-5 third period advantage, scoring 11 points, and ended the game with high honors of 22. Gilmer added 12.

Larry Lawrence was Sikeston's big gun, netting 18 points.

Bluff snapped a two game losing streak behind Gene Hansborough's 17 point leadership and John Lawson's and Hosie Moss' 13 and 11 point assistance as the Mules moved into the semi- finals of its own tournament. Gary Prince had 16 for Doniphan's high.

NEW MADRID COUNTY big boys, James Tucker (42) of New Madrid and Jerome Wildnerness of Lilbourn during opening round action of the New Madrid county basketball tournament at Parma last night. Wilderness led Panther scoring with 14 points and Tucker was the big Indian rebounder as New Madrid advanced into the semi-finals of the league tournament with a 79-61 win.

Big Four In Semi-Finals

PARMA - New Madrid County's big Four cage powers remain to battle it out for the league tournament title after New Madrid, Parma and Matthews posted first round wins last night and Portageville moved into the semi-finals with a bye.

The tournaments and district's top rated New Madrid Indians eliminated neighboring Lilbourn 79-61, Parma sqyeezed by Gideon 67-66 and Matthews out-battled Risco 88-67.

All but one of the big four have placed in one of district's invitational tournaments this season, Parma being the lone cage unit. New Madrid is the Bernie titlest, Portageville the Cape Holiday champ and Matthews the runner-up in the Bloomfield classic.

Thursday's semi-finals pit New Madrid against Portageville at 7 p.m. and Parma and Matthews at 8:30 p.m.

Matthews shoots for its fourth straight league tournament title, coming into this season's meet seeded third behind New Madrid and Parma.

New Madrid's aggressive play and full court press was too much for coach Ted Mauck's Panthers to handle last night as the Indians teamed behind the 22 point performance of little George Ross to move into the semi-finals.

The Indians of coach Carroll Compton struggled to hold the lead in the first half but handled the Panthers with ease in the second half, rolling into a 61-45 lead going into the final period, out-scoring the Lilbourn quintet 22-12 in the third quarter.

Joe Walker added 19 points to the Indians total and James Tucker 12 while Jerome Wilderness scored 14 for Lilbourn's top effort, supported by Tom Wells' 12.

Host Parma led only six seconds in its game with Gideon last night, leading 1-0 in the first three seconds of the game and 67-66 in the final three seconds for the win.

Parma got assistance in its win from a Gideon cager who tipped in a third quarter bucket for the Pirates who trailed by 10 points most of the battle.

Gideon rattled the host with a half court zone press, ripping out to a commanding 10-1 lead at the start of the game.

Dick Burnett was the star of the Pirates as he sank a free throw with six-seconds left to give the home towners the win.

Joe White paced coach David Sharp's Parma quintet in scoring, netting 21 while brother Allen added 17 and David Williamson 15. Ron Buchanan had 21 for the Bulldogs top effort that was supported by Gerald Murphy's 17 and Mike Walker's 14.

Andrew Richardson and Clarence Brooks teamed for 54 points in leading Matthews past Risco, scoring 29 and 25 points respectively for coach Jim Hart's Pirates, who had two others score in double figures.

Risco's Larry Calvert dumped in 29 for the Tigers big effort and tied Richardson for high game scoring honors on the night.

Film Rating System Changes Announced

NEW YORK CITY — The motion picture industry's voluntary film - rating system is being strengthened with clarifying and improving amendments.

This announcement, based on a survey and re- evaluation by theater owners, was made in behalf of the three organizations sponsoring the system: Eugene Picker, president, National Association of Theatre Owners; Munio Podhorzer, member, governing board, International Film Importers and Distributors of America; and Jack Valenti, president, Motion Picture Association of America.

Their joint statement said:

"When the system went into effect on November 1, 1968, we said we would keep it constantly under review and would make a re- examination at the end of a year's trial period.

"We said we would not hesitate to make changes if they would improve the program. We have now made such revisions and we have acted in the light of facts developed in a national public survey and a nationwide exhibitor survey.

"The essence of the system remains unchanged. The purpose is to rate films for children, to furnish guides to parents to decide on the movie- going of their children. The system does not rate for adults, nor does it pass on the quality or artistry of a film.

"There are two principal revisions. First: The M rating is changed to GP. The rating GP means All Ages Admitted. Parental Guidance suggested.

"This was done because the M category was found to be the least understood by the public in a nation- wide survey of 2600 people (2000 over 18 years and 600 from ages 12 to 17) conducted for MPAA by Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N.J. The survey reported that fewer than one in 13 persons had accurate knowledge of the specific admissions policy for M films. Public confusion and misunderstanding over the word "mature" tended to result. The GP rating seeks to bridge the knowledge gap by making it unmistakable that the theater will admit persons of all ages, but parents may still choose to obtain more information on the movie to guide the attendance of their younger children.

"Second: The age limit for the R category is raised from 16 to 17. This obviously also necessitated designating the same age for the category.

"Again, the purpose is to strengthen the rating program.

"The movie ratings under the program now read:

G - All Ages admitted. General audiences.

GP All ages admitted. Parental guidance suggested.

X No one under 17 admitted. (Age limit may vary in certain areas)

"The Code and Rating Administration will immediately start using the revised ratings and the entire program will become effective on a nation- wide scale on March 1, 1970. As in the past, the ratings will be carried in advertisements and will be posted at all participating theaters.

"A survey conducted by Young NATO, a group of younger executives within the National Association of Theatre Owners, reported, on the basis of returns from 3,164 theaters throughout the country, that 89% "always" or "usually" use the rating symbols in their advertising.

"There can be no doubt that the program is a gratifying success when it attracts such support on the part of theaters," said the three industry representatives in the joint statement. "The theater stands and speaks for the industry in the local community and it speaks in a reassuring voice in behalf of the rating system."

"The public's attitude toward the ratings was reported in the Opinion Research Corporation Survey.

"Fifty- eight per cent of the movie- going public said the program was "very useful" to "fairly useful" as a guide for deciding what movies children should see. The favorable attitude rose to 70% among movie- going teenagers age 12 to 17, who are themselves most directly affected by the ratings.

"It is our sincere determination," they concluded in their joint statement, "to assure that the symbols will not contribute in a greater degree to clarity and will foster a more rapid rise in public knowledge of the purpose, meanings and operations of the rating system. It is on this expanded knowledge that we shall seek with all energy to develop the widest possible public and industry support for the ratings."

CANADIANS ARE WORLDLY MEN

Curator Support for Suspension of MU Fraternities Voiced

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The University of Missouri Board of Curators fully supports Chancellor John W. Schwada in his suspension of 19 fraternities for violating rules on the Columbia campus, the board president said Sunday.

William H. Billings said he wanted to clear up any misunderstanding about the board's refusal to pass a resolution to suspend the fraternities Friday for allowing women students to visit in men's rooms.

The board, Billings explained, simply wanted the administration to handle the matter.

Schwada announced the suspension Saturday.

"While the rules of the board will not permit any disclosures of individual student personnel or disciplinary matters," Billings said, "I feel the students, the faculty and the public should know that the action of the chancellor with concurrence of the university president has not been taken without good and substantial justification."

THEY'RE READING UGARITIC

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — The Claremont Colleges' Institute for Antiquity and Christianity is translating Ugaritic.

The writings are on clay tablets being dug out of a mound that once was the City of Ugarit, cultural center of the eastern Mediterranean world before the time of Moses.

After flourishing at least 300 years, Ugarit was overrun in about 1200 B.C. It was abandoned and never lived in again. Forty years ago a farmer's plough ripped open a tomb there and started one of the great historic finds.

Scholars believe that Ugaritic was the first language to use an alphabet. They found that Ugaritic writings had many parallels with the later Hebrew culture.

The Claremont Colleges' project is analyzing the parallels, funded by a $5,333.50 gift from Mrs. James L. Bruce and Mrs. N. Jordan Nathason, both of Altadena, Calif., which was matched by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Linkletter Busy Waging Personal War on Drugs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Since his daughter plunged to her death last Oct. 4—the victim, he said, of LSD—Art Linkletter has been engaged in a personal war against dangerous drugs.

He has had an evening's discussion in the White House with President and Mrs. Nixon, addressed the nation's governors, appeared before Congressional committees, and spoken to youth groups in colleges and elsewhere.

He serves on a county drug commission and books all the speaking engagements a busy television career will permit.

What can one man do to stop the drug flood?

"Just a little," Linkletter says. "No one ever knows. But if I can save one kid's life, anything I do is worth it."

His next target will be the nation's schoolteachers.

Through a film aimed specifically at them, the entertainer says, he will try "to educate teachers in how to look for the danger signals, how to handle the drug problem in school."

Diane, 20, the youngest of his five children, fell to her death from her sixth-floor apartment. "It wasn't suicide," Linkletter said then, "because she wasn't herself. She was murdered by the people who manufacture and sell LSD."

Diane's death has brought him 55,000 letters of sympathy.

Linkletter advises the parent of a suspected drug user to have "a frank and honest talk—not an uptight, panicky, demonstrative, emotional talk but just as you might talk with your child if he were going on a cross-country hike over mountains where you knew the dangers and he didn't."

JAMES BEAIRD, executive vice president of the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association, looks over a site where his company will build a new office.

Federal Savings to Build New Office

James Beaird, executive vice president of the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association, announced today plans for construction of an office building on highway 61 north south of the Medical Arts building.

The office has been at 124 East Center in downtown Sikeston since August of 1957, when the association was founded. There are seven employes.

"The increased accomodations will allow for better service and projected growth," Beaird said. "Sikeston is growing. We want to be a part of this growth."

The building will cover about 6,000 square feet and will be on more than three acres of land. Construction is expected to begin in 1971.

Initial plans call for private offices for Beaird and assistant Vice President Jim F. Smith in addition to space for accounting, records, tellers office, lobby, vestibule, receptionist area, drive - in window, covered walkways and a full basement.

Parking facilities will be on the north, east and south sides. The front next to the highway will be landscaped. Cost of the project was not announced.

Beaird said plans call for the association to adapt to computerized techniques following the move. Donnellan and Porterfield, a Poplar Bluff firm, has been retained to design the building.

122 Color TV Models Above Fire Norm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Product Safety says 122 models of color television sets have been exploding or catching fire at an above-average rate.

The commission's decision Monday to identify the models brought an accusation from the Electronics Industries Association that the commission was creating an unfair competitive advantage for some manufacturers.

The commission said the nation's 22 million color sets have been catching fire at the rate of 12 per 100,000. It said the sets it identified were igniting at the rate of 30 per 100,000.

Olympic television sets manufactured by Lear Siegler Corp. averaged the highest rate in the industry, the commission said. It said nine of the firm's models were identified as potential hazards.

The other firms identified as exceeding the industry average were, in descending order: Packard Bell, Magnavox, Sylvania, Philco-Ford, and RCA.

Five firms were identified as having an incidence rate below the industry average, although some models caught fire at the 30-per-100,000 rate. The firms, in descending order, were: General Electric, Admiral, Motorola, Emerson, and Warwick (Sears).

The commission, which has been conferring with the industry for three months on the issue, sent letters asking the manufacturers to recall, repair or replace faulty sets.

Commission chairman Arnold B. Elkind said some sets on the list might not be fire hazards but he added the information should be furnished to the public "rather than risk the consequences of fires in color television receivers."

In attacking the commission's action, Jack Wyman, staff vice president of the electronics association, said the report "will result in unduly alarming the public about the relatively limited problem." He said the problem of fires is small compared with the number of sets in American homes. "Television sets are safe products," he said.

ARMED FORCES

Army s/Sgt. James C. Hahs, 22, Sikeston, has been awarded a bronze star in Vietnam.

Hahs, who married Diane Dickerson, received the medal following action Nov. 9 when he distinguished himself by heroism in ground operations against hostile forces. His platoon size ambush unit encountered a company size enemy force.

His citation reads:

"Throughout the battle he retained complete control over his men. He continually exposed himself to the intense enemy fire in order to better direct his men and return fire, and he advanced to a forward position to effectively call in artillery fire.

Hahs is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hahs, 731 North Ranney.

He graduated from Sikeston High school in 1965 and attended Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau. He has been in service one and one half years.

Workshop At Kentucky Park Feb. 13-15

GOLDEN POND, Ky. — A Visit With the Eagles is a special weekend program to be offered to the public February 13-15, at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park on Kentucky Lake. This is the sixth in a series of field naturalist workshops sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks under the supervision of Jim Butler, Chief Naturalist for the department.

The highlight of the weekend program at Kentucky Dam will be guided field trips to Land Between the Lakes to observe the bald and golden eagles that winter in the area. These majestic birds migrate to Land Between the Lakes in the fall and can often be seen along the quiet coves of Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley until late March when they return to their northern nesting grounds. Land Between the Lakes is TVA's big 170,000- acre outdoor recreation area between Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley. Barkley Canal, the northern gateway to Land Between the Lakes, is only four miles north of Kentucky Dam Village. Canada Geese, a variety of ducks, white- tailed and fallow deer, and wild turkey are other interesting species of wildlife that are found in this heavily wooded area.

Feature speakers for the weekend will be Karl Maslowski, one of the top wildlife photographers in America, who will narrate one of his wildlife films; Robert M. Howes, Director of Land Between the Lakes, who will present an illustrated program on the area; and Dr. Clell Petersen from Murray State University, who will give a review of the wildlife in the region.

Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park is one of Kentucky's finest resort parks and has luxurious lodge rooms overlooking Kentucky Lake and a variety of completely furnished housekeeping cottages. The parks department has announced that they will limit the weekend program at Kentucky Dam to a maximum of 200 persons in order to achieve the best quality field trips and offer the most satisfactory program. The weekend programs in the parks have been extremely popular in the past. Everyone interested in an exciting "Visit With the Eagles" is urged to make reservations at the earliest opportunity. Registration will close January 30.

For reservations, brochures,and additional information on rates and program activities write or call Jim Butler, Chief Naturalist, Kentucky Department of Parks, State Office Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, phone 502-564- 3006. Brochures with registration forms can also be picked up in Land Between the Lakes at the information office near the former site of Golden Pond.

Behind Scenes Workers Important at College

CAPE GIRARDEAU — What with all the student unrest in this country, everyone knows that a college wouldn't be a college without a faculty or an administration.

Probably stop to think of the other people behind the scenes whose work enables the faculty and administration to continue doing their jobs.

At Southeast Missouri State College, for example, there are more than 100 of these "other people" who are employed full-time. They havy such job titles as custodian, maid, plumber, electrician, air conditioning mechanic, fireman, operator, automobile mechanic, carpenter, laborer, bus driver, grounds keeper, and painter.

All of them, plus 40 or more student workers, are employed in the department headed by John T. Ruester, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the college. Others on the campus may have fancier titles, but few have as much responsibility in as many areas as Ruester does.

Ruester is responsible for such diverse undertakings as landscaping, building maintenance and repair, the power plant, minor to fairly - elaboate remodeling projects, custodial services, the campus security force, and the maintenance of the college's vehicle fleet of cars, buses, and heavy equipment.

"The campus is really a town within a town," says Ruester. "And we are a service department. Unlike a small school district, we don't call in an outside contractor when we have problems. There are very few problems we can't handle ourselves."

Ruester says the success of his operation is directly attributable to the men under him. "We have top-notch, hand-picked personnel," he says, naming his three top assistants as Harold Davis, in the power plant; Vince Seyer, in maintenance; and Archie Sprengle, in the custodial area.

A member of the college staff for just over 10 years. Reuster succeeded to the superintendent's post when Vernon Chapman retired in 1968. Chapman spent 53 years on the campus and now, though retired, still comes up to the campus for several hours each day.

The young superintendent — he graduated in mechanical engineering from the University of Missouri - Rolla in 1959 — says he is frequently called out at odd hours of the night because of some problem. "You gotta like it or you wouldn't do it," he says. Then he explains why he likes it:

"I enjoy people. The students keep you young, the faculty are very interesting, and the employees provide a lot of friendship. We're all sort of working together to keep this place tied down. If you didn't enjoy people, you couldn't stay in the job very long. I also like the variety which the job entails. It seems that nothing is ever duplicated."

Ruester says "the things that excite us most" are power outages and sewer stoppages.

His job is most difficult, he says, during cold snowy periods such as Cape Girardeau has experienced recently. Such times put a strain on the power plant, call for more maintenance of the grounds, bring on the possibility of frozen water lines and, in general, just cause a lot of little irritating problems, says Ruester.

"For some reason we seem to have more sewer stoppages during these times than in other periods," he adds.

Ruester, originally from Marissa, Ill., says the most rewarding thing he has done in the past year has been getting ready for a huge power plant addition on which construction is about to get under way.

Most of the contracts have now been let for the $2½ million addition. It will be constructed on the east side of the present facility and will double the capacity of the plant.

The contractors were about to begin the site excavation when the snowy weather set in, said Ruester in a somewhat disappointed tone.

Miserly Comment Ruled Defamatory

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Charley had a great financial brain. After 20 years, he couldn't have made more money had he been a counterfeiter. He had all kinds of possessions and a home that resembled a department store. What he didn't have after 20 years, however, was a wife. At the end of that period of time, she just packed up and left and sued Charley for a separation.

"The reason she left," commented a friend, "was because Charley had more of a passion for money than for her. In making his bundle, he neglected her."

When Charley heard of the comment, he sued his "friend" for defamation of character.

"You see," responded the friend, "Charley's got such a keen desire to make money that he's even resorted to this lawsuit to do it. The fact is he knows that I didn't defame his character.

"He sure did," was Charley's answer. "He said I loved money more than I loved my wife. Obviously, that type of comment does not enhance a person's reputation."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you put Charley's net worth by making the friend pay Charley damages for defamation of character?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that one of the meanest of all vices is the mere love of money and, when a man is accused of being affected by the vice so far as to lose sight of the duty he owes his wife and family, he is made at once contemptible. Consequently, the statement made by Charley's friend was defamatory.

(Based upon a 1904 New York Supreme Court Decision)

Corner of Questions

By PASTOR DON WILSON

QUESTION: WHY OPPOSE TODAY'S ENGLISH VERSION ENTITLED "GOOD NEWS FOR MODERN MAN?"

ANSWER: Comparing all modern translations, the King James Version remains superior in accuracy, clarity, and literary greatness. God's Word requires spiritual discernment for understanding, not modern English. "The natural man receiveth not the things of God: they are foolishness unto him neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." Whenever translators twist the text to accomodate "ecumenicity," they should be refuted.

The second edition of TODAY'S ENGLISH VERSION removes VIRGIN from most references. The TEV in Luke 1:27 says: "He had a message for a girl." All young females are girls, however, few are virgins. The TEV destroys the text and classifies Jesus a bastard.

Regarding Christ's BLOOD, in Colossians 1:14 the KJV reads "In whom we have redemption through His blood, even the forgiveness of sins." The TEV removes the blood saying: "By whom we are set free and our sins forgiven." The TEV also removes the blood from Revelation 1:5 which reads in the KJV: "Unto Him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in His own blood." The blood is removed from the TEV at least 16 times. God says: "Without shedding of blood is no remission."

By suggesting that Joseph is the father of Jesus, the TEV attacks Christ's deity. In Luke 2:43, the KJV says: "Joseph and His mother," while the TEV says: "His parents." The TEV leaves "only begotten" out of John 3:16 where the KJV reads: "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

The perversions of Today's English Version defames Christ and damns souls. God commands: "Ye shall not add unto the World which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it;" therefore, Bible-believers reject this translation.

Credit Age Implications Beyond Many

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the fact that the law now requires interest rates on consumer loans to be stated as clearly as possible, the suspicion exists that many buyers still are unaware of the implications of the credit age.

Clearly, credit as a way of life is not only firmly established but growing relentlessly, both in total amount and as a percentage of disposable income. Close to $120 billion is outstanding, not including home mortgages.

A proper understanding of credit may not be developing simultaneously, however, and the failing seems to be shared by both borrower and lender.

A survey by the Federal Reserve Board in July 1969 showed considerable confusion among heads of households about the interest rates they paid on automobile loans, department store credit and even home mortgages.

Since then the Truth-In-Lending Law has gone into effect, requiring that lenders state the dollar amount of finance charges and the interest as a percentage. But can anyone easily understand the charges on installment credit?

Compounding the confusion is the sometimes incredible state of credit bookkeeping. Holders of some credit cards find it almost impossible to get errors corrected. And in some stores the situation is as poor.

Consider, for example, the problem involved in a payment made but not recorded promptly by the creditor. The creditor includes the amount on the next bill, along with an interest charge.

One month later the creditor does make note of the payment and deducts it from the balance. But does the interest charge also come off? Not always, and not many borrowers are likely to spot the error either.

Some users of credit suspect that the much touted efficiencies of credit are not so real as advertised. They prefer instead to pay cash, seek a discount and keep their own records.

In Montebello, Calif., the editor of "Western Milk — Ice Cream," a Mr. Henry Adam Morse, complains:

"Establishments accept credit cards willingly, waiting 30 days for their money less part of their profit, but when one offers cash and asks for a discount it produces a financial crisis that requires calling the manager."

Several years ago Morse printed up some "Discount-For-Cash" cards and sent them to friends. Soon he was getting orders from all over the country for cards at three for $1, although they cost him only one cent to print.

So heavy were the orders, he says, that "for awhile I thought I had discovered perpetual motion."
